The Aesthetics of Culture in Buffy the Vampire Slayer Matthew Pateman, 2006-02-01 On the TV screen as elsewhere there is often more than meets the eye For decades television has offered not just entertainment but observations subtle and otherwise on society This book examines the cultural commentary contained in Buffy the Vampire Slayer a show that ran for seven seasons 1997 2003 and 144 episodes On the surface Buffy is the marriage of a high school drama to gothic horror This somewhat unusual vehicle is used to present via the character of Buffy fairly typical views of late 20th century culture teenage problems issues regarding a broken home and the search for meaning and validation In addition subtler themes such as cultural views of knowledge ethnicity and history are woven into the show's critique of popular culture Organized into two sections this volume offers an in depth examination of the show first through the lens of Buffy's confrontation with culture and second from the complex perspectives of the individual characters Issues such as values ethical choices and the implications of one's actions are discussed without ever losing sight of the limitations of a medium that will always be dominated by financial concerns The final chapter summarizes what Buffy has to say about today's society An appendix lists Buffy episodes in chronological order

The Human Satan in Seventeenth-Century English Literature Nancy Rosenfeld, 2016-02-24 Framed by an understanding that the very concept of what defines the human is often influenced by Renaissance and early modern texts this book establishes the beginning of the literary development of the satanic form into a humanized form in the seventeenth century This development is centered on characters and poetry of four seventeenth century writers the Satan character in John Milton's Paradise Lost and Paradise Regained the Tempter in John Bunyan's Grace Abounding to the Chief of Sinners and Diabolus in Bunyan's The Holy War the poetry of John Wilmot earl of Rochester and Dorimant in George Etherege's Man of Mode The initial understanding of this development is through a sequential reading of Milton and Bunyan which examines the Satan character as an archetype in the making building upon each to work so that the character metamorphoses from a groveling serpent and fallen archangel to a humanized form embodying the human impulses necessary to commit evil Rosenfeld then argues that this development continues in Restoration literature showing that both Rochester and Etherege build upon their literary predecessors to develop the satanic figure towards greater humanity Ultimately she demonstrates that these writers taken collectively have imbued Satan with the characteristics that define the human This book includes as an epilogue a discussion of Samson in Milton's Samson Agonistes as a later seventeenth century avatar of the humanized satanic form providing an example for understanding a stock literary character in the light of early modern texts

Steinberger, 2000-01-01 Designed to include all of the texts from Presocratics through Machiavelli likely to be read in an undergraduate course on classical political thought this anthology has at its core generous selections from Plato and Aristotle Building on this core is a sufficiently diverse and substantial selection of texts from other writers including Thucydides and the Sophists to allow for inquiry into the variety of Classical Greek approaches to politics as well as into Roman Medieval and Renaissance developments of the classical tradition Preeminent translations and the editor's own thoughtful introductions further distinguish this unique anthology

Torture Donatella Di Cesare, 2018-10-25 Torture is not as universally condemned as it once was From Guantanamo and Abu Ghraib prisons to the death of Giulio Regeni countless recent cases have shocked public opinion But if we want to defend the human dignity that torture violates simple indignation is not enough In this important book Donatella Di Cesare provides a critical perspective on torture in all its dimensions She seeks to capture the peculiarity of an extreme and methodical violence where the tormentor calculates and measures out pain so that he can hold off the victim's death allowing him to continue to exercise his sovereign power For the victim being tortured is like experiencing his own death while he is still alive Torture is a threat wherever the defenceless find themselves in the hands of the strong in prisons in migrant camps in nursing homes in centres for the disabled and in institutions for minors This impassioned book will appeal to students and scholars of philosophy and political theory as well as to anyone committed to defending human rights as universal and inviolable

The Lord's Prayer and the Sermon on the Mount in Matthew's Gospel Charles Nathan Ridlehoover, 2019-12-26 Charles Nathan Ridlehoover examines the Lord's Prayer in Matthew's Gospel focusing on the prayer's centrality and showing how this centrality affects our reading of the Sermon on the Mount and subsequently the prayer itself Ridlehoover argues that the Lord's Prayer is structurally lexically and thematically central to the Sermon on the Mount and the means through which disciples of Jesus are empowered to live out the kingdom righteousness it defines In turn the Sermon on the Mount clarifies what the answer to the petitions of the Lord's Prayer might look like in the life of the disciple of Jesus Whilst the centrality of the Lord's Prayer has been noted by previous commentators this centrality and its intended purpose has not hitherto been defined or examined in great depth Ridlehoover fills this gap with a closely argued and in depth study ranging from methodology and the structure of the prayer itself to examining the Father will forgiveness and evil petitions and the relevance of word and deed for hearers and doers

Ridlehoover's examination of the relationship between the Sermon and Prayer advances studies in compositional criticism and intratextuality The Bibliotheca Sacra and American Biblical Repository, 1852 The Works of Jonathan Edwards

Jonathan Edwards, 1839 The Works of President Edwards;: Life of President Edwards. Enquiry into the freedom of the will. A dissertation concerning the end for which God created the world Jonathan Edwards, 1806 Adamgirk`

, 2007-02-23 This is the first English translation of the major Armenian epic on Adam and Eve composed by Arak el of Siwnik in the early fifteenth century Arak el writes extremely powerful narrative poetry as in his description of the brilliance of paradise of Satan's mustering his hosts against Adam and Eve and Eve's inner struggle between obedience to God and Satan's seduction In parts the epic is in dialogue form between Adam Eve and God It also pays much attention to the typology of Adam and Christ or Adam's sin and death and Christ's crucifixion By implication this story from an Eastern Christian tradition is the story of all humans and bears comparison with later biblical epics such as Milton's Paradise Lost Michael E Stone's version preserves a balance between literary felicity and faithfulness to the original His Introduction sets the work and its author in historical religious and literary context Disciplinary, Moral, and Ascetical Works Tertullian, 2008-09

No description available The Gravity of Sin Matt Jenson, 2007-02-08 Matt Jenson argues that the image of being curved in on oneself is the best paradigm for understanding sin relationally that it has sufficient explanatory breadth and depth to be of service to contemporary Christian theology He looks to Augustine as the Christian source for this image in his various references to humanity's turn to itself though the threads of a relational account of sin are not drawn together with any systematic consequence until Martin Luther's description of homo incurvatus in se in his commentary on Romans Luther radicalizes Augustine's conception by applying this relational view of sin to the totus homo and by emphasizing its appearance above all in homo religiosus The Western tradition of sin understood paradigmatically as pride has been recently called into question by feminist theologians Daphne Hampson's critique of Luther on this front is considered and critiqued Though she is right to call attention to the insufficiency of his and Augustine's myopic focus on pride the question remains whether incurvatus in se can operate paradigmatically as an umbrella concept covering a far wider range of sins Karl Barth's extension of incurvatus in se to apply more broadly to pride sloth and falsehood suggests that incurvature can do just that

The City of God Volume II by Saint Augustine is a continuation of one of the most influential works in Christian theology and Western philosophy. Written in the early 5th century, this monumental text explores the nature of human society, contrasting the earthly city marked by human sin and pride with the heavenly city which embodies divine order and righteousness. Volume II delves into theological, philosophical, and historical arguments that seek to explain the role of faith in a world troubled by suffering, political upheaval, and moral decay. In this volume, Augustine examines the flaws and limitations of pagan philosophies, aiming to show how only faith in God can provide true peace and purpose. He addresses the nature of human destiny, free will, and divine justice, urging readers to look beyond earthly pleasures and power to understand the eternal truths that underpin Christian doctrine. Augustine's insights into the human condition, sin, and redemption serve as a profound meditation on the struggle between worldly desires and spiritual fulfillment.
