World Report on Child Injury Prevention M. M. Peden, 2008 Child injuries are largely absent from child survival initiatives presently on the global agenda Through this report the World Health Organization the United Nations Children's Fund and many partners have set out to elevate child injury to a priority for the global public health and development communities It should be seen as a complement to the UN Secretary General's study on violence against children released in late 2006 that report addressed violence related or intentional injuries Both reports suggest that child injury and violence prevention programs need to be integrated into child survival and other broad strategies focused on improving the lives of children Evidence demonstrates the dramatic successes in child injury prevention in countries which have made a concerted effort These results make a case for increasing investments in human resources and institutional capacities Implementing proven interventions could save more than a thousand children's lives a day p vii Handbook of Child Psychology and Developmental Science, Ecological Settings and Processes, 2015-03-31 The essential reference for human development theory updated and reconceptualized The Handbook of Child Psychology and Developmental Science a four volume reference is the field defining work to which all others are compared First published in 1946 and now in its Seventh Edition the Handbook has long been considered the definitive guide to the field of developmental science Volume 4 Ecological Settings and Processes in Developmental Systems is centrally concerned with the people conditions and events outside individuals
