First Lebons In Beekeeping:

How the Mind Changed Joseph Jebelli, 2022-07-12 The extraordinary story of how the human brain evolved and is still evolving We've come a long way The earliest human had a brain as small as a child's fist ours are four times bigger with spectacular abilities and potential we are only just beginning to understand This is How the Mind Changed a seven million year journey through our own heads packed with vivid stories groundbreaking science and thrilling surprises Discover how memory has almost nothing to do with the past meditation rewires our synapses magic mushroom use might be responsible for our intelligence climate accounts for linguistic diversity and how autism teaches us hugely positive lessons about our past and future Dr Joseph Jebelli's In Pursuit of Memory was shortlisted for the Royal Society Science Book Prize and longlisted for the Wellcome In this his eagerly awaited second book he draws on deep insights from neuroscience evolutionary biology psychology and philosophy to guide us through the unexpected changes that shaped our brains From genetic accidents and environmental forces to historical and cultural advances he explores how our brain's evolution turned us into Homo sapiens and beyond A single mutation is all it takes

Swindled Bee Wilson, 2020-06-16 Bad food has a history Swindled tells it Through a fascinating mixture of cultural and scientific history food politics and culinary detective work Bee Wilson uncovers the many ways swindlers have cheapened falsified and even poisoned our food throughout history In the hands of people and corporations who have prized profits above the health of consumers food and drink have been tampered with in often horrifying ways padded diluted contaminated substituted mislabeled misnamed or otherwise faked Swindled gives a panoramic view of this history from the leaded wine of the ancient Romans to today's food frauds such as fake organics and the scandal of Chinese babies being fed bogus milk powder Wilson pays special attention to nineteenth and twentieth century America and England and their roles in developing both industrial scale food adulteration and the scientific ability to combat it As Swindled reveals modern science has both helped and hindered food fraudsters increasing the sophistication of scams but also the means to detect them The big breakthrough came in Victorian England when a scientist first put food under the microscope and found that much of what was sold as genuine coffee was anything but and that you couldn't buy pure mustard in all of London Arguing that industrialization laissez faire politics and globalization have all hurt the quality of food but also that food swindlers have always been helped by consumer ignorance Swindled ultimately calls for both governments and individuals to be more vigilant In fact Wilson suggests one of our best protections is simply to reeducate ourselves about the joys of food and cooking

Simpson,Douglas Kenrick,2013-06-17 What a pity it would have been if biologists had refused to accept Darwin s theory of natural selection which has been essential in helping biologists understand a wide range of phenomena in many animal species These days to study any animal species while refusing to consider the evolved adaptive significance of their behavior would be considered pure folly unless of course the species is homo sapiens Graduate students training to study this particular primate species may never take a single course in evolutionary theory although they may take two undergraduate and up to four graduate courses in statistics These methodologically sophisticated students then embark on a career studying human aggression cooperation mating behavior family relationships or altruism with little or no understanding of the general evolutionary forces and principles that shaped the behaviors they are investigating This book hopes to redress that wrong It is one of the first to apply evolutionary theories to mainstream problems in personality and social psychology that are relevant to a wide range of important social phenomena many of which have been shaped and molded by natural selection during the course of human evolution These phenomena include selective biases that people have concerning how and why a variety of activities occur For example information exchanged during social encounters is initially perceived and interpreted people are romantically attracted to some potential mates but not others people often guard protect and work hard at maintaining their closest relationships people form shifting and highly complicated coalitions with kin and close friends and people terminate close long standing relationships Evolutionary Social Psychology begins to disentangle the complex interwoven patterns of interaction that define our social lives and relationships
