Fiscal Disobedience Janet Roitman, 2018-06-05 Fiscal Disobedience represents a novel approach to the question of citizenship amid the changing global economy and the fiscal crisis of the nation state Focusing on economic practices in the Chad Basin of Africa Janet Roitman combines thorough ethnographic fieldwork with sophisticated analysis of key ideas of political economy to examine the contentious nature of fiscal relationships between the state and its citizens She argues that citizenship is being redefined through a renegotiation of the rights and obligations inherent in such economic relationships The book centers on a civil disobedience movement that arose in Cameroon beginning in 1990 ostensibly to counter state fiscal authority a movement dubbed Op ration Villes Mortes by the opposition and incivisme fiscal by the government which for its part was eager to suggest that participants were less than legitimate citizens failing in their civic duties Contrary to standard approaches Roitman examines this conflict as a productive moment that rather than involving the outright rejection of regulatory authority questioned the intelligibility of its exercise Although both militarized commercial networks associated with such activities trading in contraband goods including drugs ivory and guns and highly organized gang based banditry do challenge state authority they do not necessarily undermine state power Contrary to depictions of the African state as weak or failed this book demonstrates how the state in Africa manages to reconstitute its authority through networks that have emerged in the interstices of the state system It also shows how those networks partake of the same epistemological grounding as does the state Indeed both state and nonstate practices of governing refer to a common ethic of illegality which explains how illegal activities are understood as licit or reasonable conduct

A Companion to the Anthropology of Africa Roy Richard Grinker, Stephen C. Lubkemann, Christopher B. Steiner, Euclides Gonçalves, 2019-02-06 An essential collection of scholarly essays on the anthropology of Africa offering a thorough introduction to the most important topics in this evolving and diverse field of study The study of the cultures of Africa has been central to the methodological and theoretical development of anthropology as a discipline since the late 19th century As the anthropology of Africa has emerged as a distinct field of study anthropologists working in this tradition have strived to build a disciplinary conversation that recognizes the diversity and complexity of modern and ancient African cultures while acknowledging the effects of historical anthropology on the present and future of the field of study A Companion to the Anthropology of Africa is a collection of insightful essays covering the key questions and subjects in the contemporary anthropology of Africa with a key focus on addressing the topics that define the contemporary discipline Written and edited by a team of leading cultural anthropologists it is an ideal introduction to the most important topics in the field both those that have consistently been a part of the critical dialogue and those that have emerged as the central questions of the discipline's future Beginning with essays on the enduring topics in the study of African cultures A Companion to the Anthropology of Africa provides a foundation in the contemporary critical approach to subjects of longstanding interest With these subjects as a groundwork later essays address decolonization the postcolonial experience and questions of modern identity and definition providing representation of the diverse thinking and scholarship in the modern anthropology of Africa

State of Authority Gerry Van Klinken, Joshua Barker, 2018-05-31 A major realignment is taking place in the way we understand the state in Indonesia New studies on local politics ethnicity the democratic transition corruption Islam popular culture and other areas hint at novel concepts of the state though often without fully articulating them This book captures several dimensions of this shift One reason for the new thinking is a fresh wind that has altered state studies generally People are posing new kinds of questions about the state and developing new methodologies to answer them Another reason for this shift is that Indonesia itself has changed probably more than most people recognize It looks more democratic but also more chaotic and corrupt than it did during the militaristic New Order of 1966-1998 State of Authority offers a range of detailed case studies based on fieldwork in many different settings around the archipelago The studies bring to life figures of authority who have sought to carve out positions of power for themselves using legal and illegal means These figures include village heads informal slum leaders district heads parliamentarians and others These individuals negotiate in settings where the state is evident and where it is discussed coffee houses hotel lounges fishing waters and street side stalls These case studies and the broader trend in scholarship of which they are a part allow for a new theorization of the state in Indonesia that more adequately addresses the complexity of political life in this vast archipelago nation State of Authority demonstrates that the state of Indonesia is not monolithic but is constituted from the ground up by a host of local negotiations and symbolic practices

Rule and Rupture Christian Lund, Michael Eilenberg, 2017-07-11 Rule and Rupture State Formation Through the Production of Property and Citizenship examines the ways in which political authority is defined and created by the rights of community membership and access to resources Combines the latest theory on property rights and citizenship with extensive fieldwork to provide a more complex nuanced assessment of political states commonly viewed as weak fragile and failed Contains ten case studies taken from post colonial settings around the world including Cambodia Nepal Indonesia Afghanistan Rwanda Somalia Democratic Republic of Congo Colombia and Bolivia Characterizes the results of societal ruptures into three types of outcomes for political power reconstituted and consolidated challenged and fragmented Brings together exciting insights from a global group of scholars in the fields of political science development studies and geography

Trade Makes States Tobias Hagmann, Finn Stepputat, 2023-05-01 Trade Makes States highlights how trade and the circulation of goods are central to Somali societies economies and politics Drawing on multi site research from across East Africa s Somali inhabited economic space which includes areas of Kenya Djibouti Uganda and Ethiopia this volume highlights the interconnection between trade and state building after state collapse It scrutinises the politics of circulation between competing public administrations which seek to generate revenue and to control infrastructures along major trade corridors Connecting classic debates on state formation with recent scholarship on logistics and cross border trading Trade Makes States argues that the facilitation and capture of commodity flows have been instrumental in making and unmaking states across the Somali territories Aspiring state builders are thus confronted with the challenge of governing the flow of goods in order to rule over lands and peoples The contributors to this volume draw attention to the ingenuities of transnational Somali markets which often appear to be self governed Their dynamism and everyday administration by a host of actors provide important insights into contemporary state formation on the margins of global supply chain capitalism

Working the System Jon Schubert, 2017-11-15 Working the System offers key insights into the politics of the everyday in twenty first century dominant party and neo authoritarian regimes in Africa and elsewhere Detailing the many ways ordinary Angolans fashion their relationships with the system an emic notion of their current political and socioeconomic environment Jon Schubert explores what it means and how it feels to be part of the contemporary Angolan polity Schubert finds that for many ordinary Angolans the benefits of the post conflict New Angola flush with oil wealth and in the midst of a construction boom are few The majority of the inhabitants of the capital Luanda struggle to make ends meet and live on under 2 00 per day The New Angola as promoted by the ruling MPLA Schubert contends is an essentially urban upwardly mobile and aspirational project premised on the acceptance of the regime s political and economic dominance by its citizens In the first ethnography of Angola to be published since the end of that country s twenty seven years of intermittent violent internal conflict in 2002 Schubert traces how Angolans may question and resist the system within an atmosphere of apparent compliance Working the System will appeal to anthropologists and political scientists urban sociologists and scholars of African studies Living by the Gun in Chad Marielle Debos,2016-10-15 How do people live in a country that has experienced rebellions and state organised repressions for decades and that is still marked by routine forms of violence and impunity What do combatants do when they are not mobilised for war Drawing on over ten years of fieldwork conducted in Chad Marielle Debos explains how living by the gun has become both an acceptable form of political expression and an everyday occupation Contrary to the popular association of violence and chaos she shows that these fighters continue to observe rules frontiers and hierarchies even as their allegiances shift between rebel and government forces and as they drift between Chad Libya Sudan and the Central African Republic Going further she explores the role of the globalised politico military entrepreneurs and highlights the long involvement of the French military in the country Ultimately the book demonstrates that ending the war is not enough The issue is ending the inter war which is maintained and reproduced by state violence Combining ethnographic observation with in depth theoretical analysis Living by the Gun in Chad is a crucial contribution to our understanding of the intersections of war and peace Beyond the Social Contract Nicolette Makovsky,Robin Smith,2023-08-11 Tax and taxation are conventionally understood as the embodiment of social contract This ground breaking collection of essays challenges this truism examining what tax might tell us about the limits of social contract thinking The contributors shed light on contemporary fiscal structures and public debates about the moralities practices and imaginaries of tax systems using tax to explore the nature of citizenship personal freedom and moral and economic value Their ethnographically grounded accounts show how taxation may be influenced by spaces of fiscal sovereignty that exist outside or alongside the state taking various forms from alternative religious communities to economic collectives Territories of Poverty Ananya Roy,Emma Shaw Crane,2015-11-15 Territories of Poverty challenges the conventional North South geographies through which poverty scholarship is organized Staging theoretical interventions that traverse social histories of the American welfare state and critical ethnographies of international development regimes these essays confront how poverty is constituted as a problem In the process the book analyzes bureaucracies of poverty poor people s movements and global networks of poverty expertise as well as more intimate modes of poverty action such as volunteerism From post Katrina New Orleans to Korean church missions in Africa this book is fundamentally concerned with how poverty is territorialized In contrast to studies concerned with locations of poverty Territories of Poverty engages with spatial technologies of power be they community development and counterinsurgency during the American 1960s or the unceasing anticipation of war in Beirut Within this territorial matrix contributors uncover dissent rupture and mobilization This book helps us understand the regulation of poverty whether by globally circulating models of fast policy or vast webs of mobile money or philanthrocapitalist foundations as multiple terrains of struggle for justice and social transformation Making and Unmaking Public Health in Africa Ruth J.

Prince, Rebecca Marsland, 2013-11-15 Africa has emerged as a prime arena of global health interventions that focus on particular diseases and health emergencies. These are framed increasingly in terms of international concerns about security, human rights, and humanitarian crisis. This presents a stark contrast to the 1960s and 70s when many newly independent African governments pursued the vision of public health for all of comprehensive health care services directed by the state with support from foreign donors. These initiatives often failed, undermined by international politics, structural adjustment, and neoliberal policies, and by African states themselves. Yet their traces remain in contemporary expectations of and yearnings for a more robust public health. This volume explores how medical professionals and patients, government officials and ordinary citizens approach questions of public health as they navigate contemporary landscapes of NGOs and transnational projects, faltering state services, and expanding privatization. Its contributors analyze the relations between the public and the private providers of public health from the state to new global biopolitical formations of political institutions, markets, human populations, and health. Tensions and ambiguities animate these complex relationships, suggesting that the question of what public health actually is in Africa cannot be taken for granted. Offering historical and ethnographic analyses, the volume develops an anthropology of public health in Africa. Contributors: Hannah Brown, P. Wenzel Geissler, Murray Last, Rebecca Marsland, Lotte Meinert, Benson A. Mulemi, Ruth J. Prince, No-mi Tousignant, and Susan Reynolds Whyte. The Politics and Ethics of the Just Price Peter Luetchford, Giovanni Orlando, 2019-06-19. Comprising eight case studies from around the world, this volume investigates the social, political, and ethical implications of markets through the specific lens of prices. Drawing on the most recent scholarship in economic anthropology, it represents the first systematic attempt to address ethnographically the ancient debate on the just price. Why Food Matters Melissa Caldwell, 2021-03-25. What is food and why does it matter? Bringing together the most innovative, cutting-edge scholarship and debates, this reader provides an excellent introduction to the rapidly growing discipline of food studies. Covering a wide range of theoretical perspectives and disciplinary approaches, it challenges common ideas about food and identifies emerging trends which will define the field for years to come. A fantastic resource for both teaching and learning, the book features a comprehensive introduction to the text and to each of the four parts, providing a clear, accessible overview and ensuring a coherent thematic focus throughout. 20 articles on topics that are guaranteed to engage student interest, including molecular gastronomy, lab-grown meat, and other futurist foods, microbiopolitics, healthism, and nutritionism, food safety, ethics, animal welfare, fair trade, and much more. Discussion questions and suggestions for further reading which help readers to think further about the issues raised, reinforcing understanding and learning. Edited by Melissa L. Caldwell, one of the leaders in the field, Why Food Matters is the essential textbook for courses in food studies, anthropology of food, sociology, geography, and related subjects. The Fixer Charles Piot, 2019-05-24. Charles Piot follows a visa broker known as a fixer in the West African nation of Togo as he helps his clients apply for the U.S. Diversity Visa Lottery program. The Hidden History of Crime, Corruption, and States Renate

Bridenthal,2017-06 Renowned historical sociologist Charles Tilly wrote many years ago that banditry piracy gangland rivalry policing and war making all belong on the same continuum This volume pursues the idea by revealing how lawbreakers and lawmakers have related to one another on the shadowy terrains of power over wide stretches of time and space Illicit activities and forces have been more important in state building and state maintenance than conventional histories have acknowledged Covering vast chronological and global terrain this book traces the contested and often overlapping boundaries between these practices in such very different polities as the pre modern city states of Europe the modern nation states of France and Japan the imperial power of Britain in India and North America Africa s and Southeast Asia s postcolonial states and the emerging postmodern regional entity of the Mediterranean Sea Indeed the contemporary explosion of transnational crime raises the question of whether or not the relationship of illicit to licit practices may be mutating once more leading to new political forms beyond the nation state

Border Work Madeleine Reeves, 2014-04-15 Drawing on extensive and carefully designed ethnographic fieldwork in the Ferghana Valley region where the state borders of Kyrgyzstan Tajikistan and Uzbekistan intersect Madeleine Reeves develops new ways of conceiving the state as a complex of relationships and of state borders as socially constructed and in a constant state of flux She explores the processes and relationships through which state borders are made remade interpreted and contested by a range of actors including politicians state officials border guards farmers and people whose lives involve the crossing of the borders In territory where international borders are not always clearly demarcated or consistently enforced Reeves traces the ways in which states attempts to establish their rule create new sources of conflict or insecurity for people pursuing their livelihoods in the area on the basis of older and less formal understandings of norms of access As a result the book makes a major new and original contribution to scholarly work on Central Asia and more generally on the anthropology of border regions and the state as a social process Moreover the work as a whole is presented in a lively and accessible style The individual lives whose tribulations and small triumphs Reeves so vividly documents and the relationships she establishes with her subjects are as revealing as they are engaging Border Work is a well deserved winner of this year s Alexander Nove Prize

The Underbelly of the Indian Boom Stuart Corbridge, Alpa Shah, 2016-02-05 As India emerges as a major economic power producing dollar billionaires rising at the rate of 17 per year more than 800 million Indians eke out a living on less than two dollars a day This book takes the reader to the underbelly of the Indian boom an India that is not shining but is struggling to survive From the Indo Soviet Bhilai Steel Plant in Chhattisgarh where an aristocracy of labour is increasingly being replaced by a more vulnerable contract labour force we move to the banks of the Hoogly River Here Norwegian shipping companies exploit a precarious labour force that is as vulnerable to the vagaries of global finance and its crisis as the elderly especially women and wage workers who live in the slums of Chennai Also in Tamil Nadu but this time in Tiruppur we find that the garment and textile industries boom has nurtured new regimes of debt bondage among industrial workers Though public concern about the vulnerability in which poor people find themselves has resulted in new nation wide schemes framed in the language of rights we find in Bihar and Madhya Pradesh that the practical workings of these schemes are dependent on the regional political systems in which they are enmeshed We end in the belly of the Maoist inspired Naxalite insurgency denounced by the Indian government as the country s greatest security challenge where the poor are being mobilised to rise against the injustices of the Indian state This book was originally published as a special issue of Economy and Society
