beyond the Eastern Mediterranean (3rd—1st Millennia BCE) Christina Tsouparopoulou, Lærke Recht, 2025-01-01 This volume examines the role of fish and molluscs in everyday life as well as in terms of their impact on social structures and as part of ideological and symbolic expression Given the prevalence of and dependence on water in various forms in all regions of the Eastern Mediterranean Egypt and Western Asia it is no wonder that fish and other aquatic species made an impact on human lives Yet this topic remains rather understudied Until recently ongoing projects in marine and freshwater species and their interaction with humans and the environment either focus on the European marine ecosystem or on themes other than the social interactions of humans and aquatic species The chapters in this volume explore questions related to fishing practices and technologies social status human fish mollusc relations including potential over exploitation and fish molluscs in ritual practices e g as temple offerings festival consumption burial offerings and ideology and religion e g associated with supernatural beings or sacred space as hybrid creatures and as represented in luxury goods The volume also examines aquatic species as a nonalimentary resource for example as jewellery inlays dyeing and medicinal purposes The material under investigation includes faunal remains worked and unworked fishing gear and related tools iconography and written sources Many chapters also integrate multiple lines of evidence ranging from stylistic contextual and iconographic analyses to zooarchaeological investigations This volume is relevant to archaeologists zooarchaeologists biologists and anyone interested in human animal relations and or the archaeology of the early Eastern Mediterranean and surrounding regions

Tigris and Euphrates Rivers: Their Environment from Headwaters to Mouth Laith A. Jawad, 2021-09-12 The system of the Tigris Euphrates Rivers is one of the great river systems of southwestern Asia It comprises the Tigris and Euphrates Rivers which follow roughly parallel courses through the heart of the Middle East The lower portion of the region that they run through is known as Mesopotamia was one of the cradles of civilisation There are several environmental factors that govern the nature of the two rivers and shape the landscape the two rivers running through Geological events create rivers climate monitor the water supply the surrounding land influences the vegetation and the physical and chemical features of water The Tigris Euphrates system runs through the territory of four countries Iraq Iran Turkey and Syria Therefore any scientific approach to the environment of these two rivers should include the natural history events in these countries The book Tigris and Euphrates Rivers Their Environment from Headwaters to Mouth will be divided into nine parts These parts deal with the issues of the environment the status of the flora and fauna the abiotic aspects ecology hydrological regime of the two rivers the biotic aspects Water resources stress of the environment conservation issues Since the book of Julian Rzoska Euphrates and Tigris Mesopotamian Ecology and Destiny in 1980 no book or major reference has been published that includes between its cover the facts and information that the present book will present Therefore the importance of the present book falls in stating the present status of the environment of the two rivers and the comparison of their environment between now and that of 37 years ago as given by J Rzoska 1980 The recent studies showed that there are a large number of natural and political events that happened within the last three decades in the area of the Tigris Euphrates river system that for sure have done a great change to the environment of the two rivers and consequently changing the biological and non biological resources of the two rivers This book will be a reference book to both Academic and students across the Middle East in different disciplines of knowledge to use in their researches on Tigris Euphrates river system The scholars interested in this area will use this book as a guide to compare this freshwater system with other areas in Asia and the world

Life in Ancient Egypt Adolf Erman,1894 The Last Fish Swimming Gohar A. Petrossian,2019-05-17 This book examines the global local and specific environmental factors that facilitate illegal fishing and proposes effective ways to reduce the opportunities and incentives that threaten the existence of the world s fish Humans are deeply dependent on fishing globally fish comprise 15 percent of the protein intake for approximately 3 billion people and 8 percent of the global population depends on the fishing industry as their livelihood The global fishing industry is plagued by illegal fishing however and many highly commercial species such as cod tuna orange roughy and swordfish are extremely vulnerable Through criminological analysis The Last Fish Swimming emphasizes the importance of looking at specific environmental factors that make illegal fishing possible It examines such factors as proximity to known ports where illegally caught fish can be landed without inspection i e ports of convenience fisheries monitoring control and surveillance efforts formal surveillance and resource attractiveness in 53 countries that altogether represent 96 percent of the world s fish catch The book calls upon the global community to address the illegal depletion of the world s fish stock and other similar threats to the world s food supply and natural environment in order to ensure the sustainability of the planet s fish and continuation of the legal fishing industry for generations to come

Ptolemaic and Early Roman Egypt John S. Kloppenborg,2020-08-10 Private associations organized around a common cult occupation ethnic identity neighborhood or family were among the principal means of organizing social and economic life in the ancient Mediterranean They offered opportunities for sociability cultic activities mutual support and contexts in which to display and recognize virtuous achievement This volume collects 140 inscriptions and papyri from Ptolemaic and early Roman Egypt along with translations notes commentary and analytic indices The dossier of association related documents substantially enhances our knowledge of the extent activities and importance of private associations in the ancient Mediterranean since papyri unavailable from most other locations in the Mediterranean preserve a much wider range of data than epigraphical monuments The dossier from Egypt includes not only honorific decrees membership lists bylaws dedications and funerary monuments but monthly accounts of expenditures and income correspondence between guild secretaries and local officials price and tax declarations records of legal actions concerning associations loan documents petitions to local authorities about associations letters of resignation and many other papyrological genres These documents provide a highly variegated picture of the governance structures and practices of associations membership sizes and profiles and forms of interaction with the State
