The Changing Landscape of Education in Africa David Johnson, 2008-05-12 It is over 40 years since Coombs 1967 first drew attention to the World Education Crisis and specifically problems in the educational systems of countries in the developing world Today many of these problems remain and are most visible in the educational systems of countries in sub Saharan Africa A large number of children remain out of school and for those who do enrol less than half complete the primary education cycle More worrying is the fact that those who do complete primary schooling leave with unacceptably low levels of knowledge and skills The problems of access to education and the quality of learning opportunities and learning outcomes are unevenly spread between rural and urban areas better and worse off constituencies and between boys and girls This raises questions about the nature of the state and its commitment to equality and equity for all The chapters in this volume argue that quality equity and democratic accountability are inseparable objectives in the quest to strengthen and improve educational systems in the developing world Between them they highlight the specific problems of quality equity and democratic accountability in a number of African educational systems and provide useful insights into ongoing work by national governments and international donor agencies to remedy these shortcomings Education and Social Change Geoffrey Elliott,Chahid Fourali,Sally Issler,2013-02-14 Education policy and practice has historically been developed within the national regional context However globalization has prompted educationalists to review their practice in the light of international influences World issues such as global warming conflict and the depletion of earth resources have also contributed to an increased awareness of the role that education can play in resolving these problems The contributors focus on how education can bring about social change while connecting with theory at the level of cultural impact and policy implications They investigate the potential for creating a transnational value system in education focusing on some key human rights issues both at home and overseas Truly international in scope this text lays the groundwork for future research by exposing the commonalities and differences in approaches to knowledge production and its dissemination drawing together contributions from a variety of cross cultural contexts Comparative and International Research In Education Michael Crossley,Keith Watson,2003-09-02 This book is designed as a text on how to go about setting up and effectively running international research projects Commonwealth Education Partnerships ,2004 Changing Educational Contexts, Issues and Identities Michael Crossley,Patricia Broadfoot,Michele Schweisfurth,2007-01-24 Documenting major intellectual and paradigmatic changes in the field of comparative education in the light of the history and development of the journal Comparative Education this book compiles a selection of articles from forty years of the journal s distinguished history It illustrates how changing times have been reflected in the nature and quality of published comparative research Contributors explore the impact of key issues such as marketisation accountability and globalisation upon policy and practice world wide They explore how new challenges faced by the social sciences have seen shifts in the contexts issues and priorities attended to by comparatives and how different approaches to comparative education have influenced the intellectual and professional identities and positioning of those involved Bridging theoretically oriented scholarship with empirically grounded research relating to issues of policy and practice and with chapters addressing questions of relevance throughout the world this book is an invaluable resource of ideas and stimuli for further thinking and research Globalisation, Educational Transformation and Societies in Transition Teame Mebrahtu,Michael Crossley,David Johnson,200-01-01 Globalisation processes are currently having a powerful and far reaching influence upon all societies worldwide At the same time many communities are ever more forcefully acknowledging their distinctive characteristics and celebrating their cultural differences In this turbulent era societies that have undergone particularly rapid political economic and social change have a collective experience from which others have much to learn The analysis of such societies in transition and their efforts to transform educational policy and practice is one focus for this volume The collective studies are also concerned with the impact of the processes of globalisation and geopolitical change upon the related transitions of post colonial societies and upon the implications of the analysis for international agency policy and practice throughout the developing world Contributors are drawn from a wide range of professional and academic backgrounds representing national governments international agencies research bodies policy makers researchers and practitioners All have extensive first hand experience of the issues and contexts that they deal with Together they report upon original field research theoretically informed analyses political perspectives and recent professional and practical experience Specific national contexts considered in depth include the European states of Estonia Poland and Germany the new Republic of South Africa contemporary Brazil the transitional phases of Hong Kong and Macau as remnants of empire and the small states of Eritrea and Belize In broad scope the volume highlights the tensions that exist between powerful global agendas and efforts to improve the quality and relevance of educational provision in vastly different sociocultural contexts As such the book will be of direct interest to a wide range of researchers students policy makers consultants and development agency personnel involved with comparative and international studies in education and across the social sciences     Comparative Education

Mark Bray,2012-12-06 This book presents perspectives on the changes that have taken place within the field of comparative education while noting various continuing traditions Its contributors come from a wide range of countries and contexts and present their work within a framework set by the 11th congress of the World Council of Comparative Education Societies WCCES The book makes a valuable methodological as well as a conceptual contribution to the field     Common Interests, Uncommon Goals

Vandra Masemann,Mark Bray,Maria Manzoni,2008-03-01 The World Council of Comparative Education Societies WCCES was established in 1970 as an umbrella body which brought together five national and regional comparative education societies Over the decades it greatly expanded and now embraces three dozen societies This book presents histories of the WCCES and its member societies It shows ways in which the field has changed over the decades and the forces which have shaped it in different parts of the world     Comparative and International Education
