studied by data mining and knowledge discovery and it seems that a very popular one is formulated in terms of binary attributes. In this setting states of nature of the application area under consideration are described by Boolean vectors defined on some attributes. That is by data points defined in the Boolean space of the attributes. It is postulated that there exists a partition of this space into two classes which should be inferred as patterns on the attributes when only several data points are known, the so called positive and negative training examples. The main problem in DM/KD is defined as finding rules for recognizing/classifying new data points of unknown class, i.e. deciding which of them are positive and which are negative. In other words to infer the binary value of one more attribute called the goal or class attribute. To solve this problem some methods have been suggested which construct a Boolean function separating the two given sets of positive and negative training data points.
