Education and the State: Politics, patriarchy and practice Roger Dale, 1981      Education and the State, 1981

Marxism/Structuralism/Education (RLE Edu L) Madan Sarup, 2012-05-04 This interdisciplinary textbook provides an introduction to the many theoretical developments and controversies which took place in the sociology and politics of education during the 1970s and 80s The book Discusses the arguments concerning humanist and structuralist Marxism Provides a clear and concise introduction to structuralism and post structuralism work of Derrida Lacan and Foucault and theorises in the ways they contribute to Marxism or are subversive of it Relates these theoretical perspectives to education and the practice of teachers      The RoutledgeFalmer Reader in the History of Education Gary McCulloch, 2020-11-25

This Reader brings together a wide range of material to present an international perspective on topical issues in history of education today Focusing on the enduring trends in this field this lively and informative Reader provides broad coverage of the subject and includes crucial topics such as higher education informal agencies of education schooling the state and local government education and social change and inequality curriculum teachers and pupils education work and the economy education and national identity With an emphasis on contemporary pieces that deal with issues relevant to the immediate real world this book represents the research and views of some of the most respected authors in the field today Gary McCulloch also includes a specially written introduction which provides a much needed context to the role of history in the current educational climate Students of history and history of education will find this Reader an important route map to further reading and understanding      Education Feminism Barbara J. Thayer-Bacon, Lynda Stone, Katharine M.

Sprecher, 2013-11-18 Winner of the 2015 Critics Choice Book Award presented by the American Educational Studies Association Winner of the 2015 Critics Choice Book Award presented by the American Educational Studies Association Education Feminism is a revised and updated version of Lynda Stone's out of print anthology The Education Feminism Reader The text is intended as a course text and provides students a foundational base in feminist theories in education The classics section is comprised of the readings that students have most responded to in classes The contemporary readings section demonstrates how the third wave feminist criticism of the 1990s has an impact on today's feminist work Both of these sections address critical multicultural educational issues and have an inclusive diverse selection of feminist scholars who bring race class sexual orientation religious practices and colonial postcolonial perspectives to bear on their work The individual essays are concise and well written and arranged in such a way that it is easy for instructors to assign them around themes of their own choosing      Feminism and 'The Schooling Scandal' Christine Skelton, Becky Francis, 2009-01-13 Brings together feminist contributions from two generations of educational researchers to provide a comprehensive overview of contemporary research and theory emerging from second wave feminism and assesses their impact on pupils and teachers in today's schools and classrooms      Women Educators Patricia A. Schmuck, 1987-01-01 In all western countries women have made lasting and significant contributions to the educational enterprise Despite this most books on schools overlook and ignore these contributions The twelve chapters in this groundbreaking volume demonstrate that gender structuring in the schools is an international phenomenon The first volume to focus cross culturally on women educational professionals this book brings together the voices and observations of women educators from nine Western countries Included are descriptive data about the employment patterns of women in schools historical accounts of women s entrance to the public domain of teaching analyses of women s issues in teachers unions and feminist analyses of the educational profession

Culture, Transnational Education and Thinking Niranjana Casinader, 2014-04-24 The notion of thinking skills as a key component of a 21st century school education is now firmly entrenched in educational policy and curriculum frameworks in many parts of the world However there has been relatively little questioning of the manner in which educational globalisation has facilitated this diffusion of thinking skills curriculum and pedagogy in a cultural context This book will help to redress such an imbalance in its critical assessment of the cross cultural validity of transplanting thinking skills programs from one educational system to another on an international scale Culture Transnational Education and Thinking provides an international comparative study of the intersection of three educational concepts culture education and thinking Drawing on case studies from Malaysia South Africa and Australia USA for the purposes of comparative analysis the book employs the context of an international school program in the teaching of thinking skills Future Problem Solving Program International The book explores the associations between Future Problem Solving educators their cultural background and their approaches to thinking evaluating the relevance of transferring thinking skills programs derived in one cultural framework into another The book also discusses the wider implications of these cross cultural comparisons to curriculum and pedagogy within schools and higher education with a particular emphasis on the teaching of multicultural school based classes and cross cultural understandings in teacher education and professional development This book will be of relevance to academics and higher education students who have an interest in the fields of cross cultural and intercultural understanding comparative studies in education and theories and practices of cognition as well as the development of tertiary and secondary curricula and associated pedagogies that specifically acknowledge the cultural diversities of both teacher and learner

Teachers and Texts Michael W. Apple, 2021-12-16 First published in 1987 this research provides insight on the political economy of schooling and includes an analysis of power as they operate both within and outside of schools in the construction of class and gender relations This is part of a series of volumes that have begun to enquire into the relationship between the curriculum and teaching that is found in our formal institutions of education and unequal power in society

Gender, Class and Education (Routledge Revivals) Stephen Walker, Len Barton, 2013-11-05 First published in 1983 Gender Class and Education is a collection of papers that formed presentations at the Westhill Sociology of Education Conference in January 1982 and is the fifth such collection to emerge from the annual conference The conference theme

Race Class and Gender was not only chosen because of its topicality but also to provide a framework for debate between educational researchers and teachers. The papers focus on the reproduction of gender relations through education and provide important insights into how this process works, how it is resisted in schools and colleges, and the possibilities for radical intervention. This volume includes three teaching bibliographies on gender and education which were not presented at the conference but were compiled specially for the book. Thinking in Education Research Nick Peim, 2018-03-08

Thinking in Education Research examines the resources available from philosophy and theory that can be practically applied to any educational research project. Nick Peim argues that the current well-established divide between theory and the empirical in research methods is unhelpful to students. Instead, Thinking in Education Research looks at major lines of thinking in modern European philosophy from Kant to Freud and Derrida to Malabou and how they provide a rich resource for every stage of conducting research. By getting students engaged in how to think and how to do, Peim illustrates that thinking is in fact a vital part of how you do research and is not an aside. Essential aspects of the research endeavour are re-examined in the light of key philosophical positions to offer constructive potential, including defining the object, giving an account of the field, the relation to truth, the process of writing and constructing a case, and the value attributed to formal knowledge. Thinking in Education Research does not try to resolve the unresolved issues of research thinking but rather encourages readers to productively engage with them so that we can enhance the possibilities of research practice and find opportunities for its expansion and refinement. Throughout the chapters, clear and concise summaries of key philosophical positions and ideas are complemented with boxed accounts of how the philosophical debates discussed can be applied to real research projects. These features encourage the reader to consider how they can develop thinking and apply theory at every stage of their own research. This is essential reading for any educational research methods student or practicing researcher for important ways of thinking afresh about research methodology.

The Routledge Handbook of English Language Teaching Graham Hall, 2016-05-12

The Routledge Handbook of English Language Teaching is the definitive reference volume for postgraduate and advanced undergraduate students of Applied Linguistics, ELT, TESOL, and Language Teacher Education, and for ELT professionals engaged in in-service teacher development and/or undertaking academic study. Progressing from broader contextual issues to a narrower focus on classrooms and classroom discourse, the volume's inter-related themes focus on ELT in the world, contexts and goals, planning and organising ELT, curriculum, resources and settings, methods and methodology, perspectives and practices, second language learning and learners, teaching language knowledge, skills and pedagogy, understanding the language classroom. The Handbook's 39 chapters are written by leading figures in ELT from around the world. Mindful of the diverse pedagogical, institutional, and social contexts for ELT, they convincingly present the key issues, areas of debate and dispute, and likely future developments in ELT from an applied linguistics perspective. Throughout the volume, readers are encouraged to develop their own thinking and practice in contextually appropriate ways assisted by discussion questions and suggestions for further reading that accompany every chapter
