Emerging Voices A Cross Cultural Reader:

Emerging Voices Janet Madden, Sara M. Blake, 1990 Understanding Zora Neale Hurston's Their Eyes Were Watching God Neal Lester, 1999-10-30 Zora Neale Hurston's Their Eyes Were Watching God highlights the vitality of African American culture. This casebook demonstrates how African Americans fashioned themselves individually and collectively to combat racism, classism, and sexism. With provocative documents that contextualize the complex issues of the novel, Lester provides an excellent resource for students and teachers first approaching the excitement and cultural flavor that define Hurston's novels. The casebook is an encyclopedia of African American folk culture that simultaneously presents historical, political, and social commentary on the relationships between men and women and between blacks and whites in America. Documents include interviews with people living in the South at the time of the novel's publication, poetry, rap, folktales, and sermons. Also included are original materials on ebonics, minstrel songs, the blues tradition, the novel in theatrical and dance performance, and materials on Hurston's hometown of Eatonville, Florida.

Speak to Me Words Dean Rader, Janice Gould, 2003-11 Although American Indian poetry is widely read and discussed, few resources have been available that focus on it critically. This book is the first collection of essays on the genre, bringing poetry out from under the shadow of fiction in the study of Native American literature. Highlighting various aspects of poetry written by American Indians since the 1960s, it is a wide-ranging collection that balances the insights of Natives and non-Natives, men and women, old and new voices.

Women in Literature Jerilyn Fisher, Ellen Silber, 2003-06-30 With the literary canon consisting mostly of works created by and about men, the central perspective is decidedly male. This unique reference offers alternate approaches to reading traditional literature as well as suggestions for expanding the canon to include more gender-sensitive works. Covering 96 of the most frequently taught works of fiction, essays offer teachers, librarians, and students fresh insights into the female perspective in literature. The list of titles created in consultation with educators includes classic works by male authors like Dickens, Faulkner, and Twain, balanced with works by female authors such as Kate Chopin's The Awakening and Mary Shelley's Frankenstein. Also included are contemporary works by writers such as Alice Walker and Margaret Atwood that are being incorporated into the curriculum as well as those advancing a more global view such as Sandra Cisneros' House on Mango.

Street and Chinua Achebe's Things Fall Apart The essays are expertly written in an accessible language that will help students gain greater awareness of gender related themes Suggestions for classroom discussions with selected works for further study are incorporated into the entries The volume is organized alphabetically by title and includes both author and subject indexes An appendix of gender related themes further enhances this volume's usefulness for curriculum applications and student research projects

Crossing the Mainstream Eileen Iscoff Oliver, 1994 Intended to help literature teachers examine ways in which the traditional canon can be expanded to include diversity in curricular choices this book invites readers to work together to find new and better ways to introduce an ever changing student body to what has heretofore been either unacknowledged or undervalued The book is divided into three sections Part 1 Multicultural Literature for Whom develops a rationale for expanding the canon to include multicultural literature in every student's experience and also confronts the issue of censorship Part 2 Curricular Challenges Beyond Eurocentric Values begins the task of cataloging the multitude of literary works that might be included in the new repertoire and also explores the process of learning a different kind of critical analysis This section of the book also provides comprehensive bibliographies of African American Asian American Jewish Latino Native American and cross cultural literatures as well as bibliographies of literature addressing emotional mental and physical disabilities homelessness homosexuality older adults teenage suicide and Vietnam veterans Finally Part 3 Teaching Strategies for Multicultural Literature gives examples of how multicultural works can be incorporated into literature courses Also included are discussions of incorporating multicultural perspectives within composition classes assessing student writing and making interdisciplinary connections in teaching multicultural literature

Cross-Cultural Reckonings Blanche H. Gelfant, 1995-01-27 Blanche H Gelfant's book Cross Cultural Reckonings both demonstrates and questions the applicability of postmodern cultural and literary theories to realistic texts to fiction and autobiographies valued for their truth Drawing together an unusual combination of Russian American and Canadian writers the various essays of this book provide new and original perspectives upon the puzzling issues of national identity of historical change and continuity of gender and the integrity of literary genres the boundaries between text and context and the underlying if overlooked conflicts between the postmodern critic's skepticism and a writer's belief in the transcendence of art and truth To avoid the contingencies inherent in binary comparisons the essays in this book seek a triadic form analogous to the triptych or polyptych of the visual arts Multi faceted non linear and open ended such a form might allow the academic essay to recover a waywardness that traces back to Montaigne cited in prefatory notes and to the etymological meaning of the essay as an exagium or weighing as an act of reckoning A study at once elegant erudite and personal Cross Cultural Reckonings reckons with writers of different backgrounds and reputation in whom Gelfant discovers surprising affinities among them the Russian writers Lydia Chukovskaya Natalya Baranskaya and Alexander Solzhenitsyn Ethel Wilson a highly reputed Canadian writer the famous cross cultural figure Emma Goldman and established as well as new or rediscovered American writers such as Willa Cather Saul Bellow Arlene Heyman and Meridel Le Sueur These writers are discussed singly and in comparative essays each of which is discrete and self contained while all interconnect and reflect upon each other as exemplary demonstrations of cross cultural literary criticism and the deferred final judgment that results from a weighing and reweighing of books

New Voices of Muslim North-African Migrants in Europe Cristián H. Ricci, 2019-08-26. New Voices of Muslim North African Migrants in Europe captures the experience in writing of a fast growing number of individuals belonging to migrant communities in Europe. The book follows attempts to transform postcolonial literary studies into a comparative translingual and supranational project. Cristián H. Ricci frames Moroccan literature written in European languages within the ampler context of borderland studies. The author addresses the realm of a literature that has been practically absent from the field of postcolonial literary studies: the Neerlandophone or Gay Muslim literature. The book also converses with other minor literatures and theories from Sub-Saharan Africa as well as Asians and Latino as in the Americas that combine histories of colonization, labor migration and enforced exile.

Richard Wright Kenneth Kinnamon, 2014-11-04. African American writer Richard Wright 1908-1960 was celebrated during the early 1940s for his searing autobiography Black Boy and fiction Native Son. By 1947 he felt so unwelcome in his homeland that he exiled himself and his family in Paris. But his writings changed American culture forever and today they are mainstays of literature and composition classes. He and his works are also the subjects of numerous critical essays and commentaries by contemporary writers. This volume presents a comprehensive annotated bibliography of those essays, books and articles from 1983 through 2003. Arranged alphabetically by author, within years are some 8,320 entries ranging from unpublished dissertations to book-length studies of African American literature and literary criticism. Also included as an appendix are addenda to the author's earlier bibliography covering the years from 1934 through 1982. This is the exhaustive reference for serious students of Richard Wright and his critics.
