Post, 2000 Annotation In many European countries there has been a decline in the agricultural labour force providing a major challenge for the rural economy and society This book provides an analysis of rural employment dynamics in European Union EU member states The Dynamics of Hired Farm Labour A. Vandeman, J. Larson, J. Runyan, 2002 Hired seasonal labour forms a significant part of the agricultural workforce in many countries Key topics covered in this book include changes in the hired farm workforce area studies and community impacts and responses and the need for community services Women in the European Countryside Henry Buller, 2017-11-28 Much of the literature published so far on gender relations in rural areas has either focused on comparisons of the position of men and women or explored the position of women given prevailing structural forces and behavioural norms that restrict the autonomy of women as human agents This groundbreaking book broadens the debate by developing our understanding of how societal processes produce and sustain gender divisions particularly in rural areas highlighting aspects of rural women's lives previously invisible in the literature Illustrated by case studies from France Germany Greece Norway and Sweden the book examines the critical issues of education and training entrepreneurship leadership limited work and service opportunities social mobility and work experiences In doing so the contributors provide a fascinating comparative study of both national regional and broader European realities A New Approach to Rural Development in Europe John M. Bryden, Keith Hart, 2004 This work is based on reports from a research project funded by the European Union for the purpose of investigating differential economic performance among rural areas in similar geographic and policy environments in Scotland Greece Germany and Sweden The report identifies and measures the impact The Routledge Handbook of Comparative Rural Policy Matteo Vittuari, John Devlin, Marco Pagani, Thomas G. Johnson, 2019-10-16 This volume represents the result of almost two decades of trans Atlantic collaborative development of a policy research paradigm the International Comparative Rural Policy Studies program Over this period dozens of scientists from different disciplines but with a common interest in rural issues and policy have collaboratively studied the policies in North America Europe and other parts of the world A core element of the book is the idea and practice of comparative research and analysis what can be learned from comparisons how and why policies vary in different contexts and what lessons might or might not be transferable across borders It provides skills for the use of comparative methods as important tools to analyze the functioning of strategies and specific policy interventions in different contexts and a holistic approach for the management of resources in rural regions It promotes innovation as a tool to valorize endogenous resources and empower local communities and offers case studies of rural policy in specific contexts The book largely adopts a territorial approach to rural policy This means the book is more interested in rural regions their people and economies and in the policies that affect them than in rural sectors and sectoral policies per se The audience of the book is by definition international and includes students attending courses in agricultural and rural policy rural and regional studies and natural resource management lecturers seeking course material and case studies to present to their students in any of the courses listed above professionals working in the field of rural policy policy makers and civil servants at different levels seeking tools to better understand rural policy both at the local and global scale and to better recognize and comprehend how to transfer best practices Rural

Nature and Agriculture in the European Union Floor Brouwer, Jan van der Straaten, 2002-01-01 Nature and agriculture both shape the European countryside and one of the main challenges for the years to come will be to strengthen their interaction for the future development of rural areas In this valuable and highly topical book the authors demonstrate how economics and ecology can play a critical role in maintaining and sustaining this relationship The book identifies the dilemmas facing European agriculture and explores their economic and ecological consequences The authors believe a better understanding of these problems will be crucial in recognising the potential options for the future role of agriculture and nature policy and will guide the identification of suitable policy instruments They highlight current threats to the relationship between agriculture and nature such as abandonment and intensification and demonstrate how these problems can be resolved by a rational policy mix The book also provides extensive empirical evidence from four case studies and concludes by scrutinising the major changes in market conditions and the Common Agricultural Policy which could upset this important but fragile balance between agriculture and nature
