

The background of the slide is a classical painting depicting a celestial scene. In the upper left, an angel with large, feathered wings and a green robe is shown in profile, looking down. Below this, another figure in a red and blue robe is visible. In the center, a woman with dark hair, wearing a blue and gold dress, is seated and looking upwards with an expression of awe or prayer. To her right, another figure is partially visible. In the foreground, there are various objects, including a golden chalice or bowl and some other vessels. The overall style is that of a 17th or 18th-century religious painting, with soft lighting and detailed drapery.

Gleanings Among the Sheaves C. H. Spurgeon, 2014-03-28 The promises of God are to the believer an inexhaustible mine of wealth Happy is it for him if he knows how to search out their secret veins and enrich himself with their hid treasures They are an armory containing all manner of offensive and defensive weapons Blessed is he who has learned to enter into the sacred arsenal to put on the breastplate and the helmet and to lay his hand to the spear and to the sword They are a surgery in which the believer will find all manner of restoratives and blessed elixirs nor lacks there an ointment for every wound a cordial for every faintness a remedy for every disease Blessed is he who is well skilled in heavenly pharmacy and knoweth how to lay hold on the healing virtues of the promises of God The promises are to the Christian a storehouse of food They are as the granaries which Joseph built in Egypt or as the golden pot wherein the manna was preserved Blessed is he who can take the five barley loaves and fishes of promise and break them till his five thousand necessities shall all be supplied and he is able to gather up baskets full of fragments      Gleanings Among the Sheaves Charles Haddon Spurgeon,2015-03-03

When once the human heart is put under the microscope of Scripture and we see it with a spiritual eye we perceive it to be so vile that we are quite sure it would be just as impossible to expect to find good works in an unrighteous unconverted man as to hope to see fire burning in the midst of the ocean The two things would be incongruous Our good works if we have any spring from a real conversion yet more they spring also from a constant spiritual influence exercised upon us from the time of conversion even until the hour of death Ah Christian thou wouldst have no good works if thou hadst no fresh grace day by day Thou wouldst not find the grace given thee at the first hour sufficient to produce fruit to day It is not like the planting of a tree in our hearts which naturally of itself bringeth forth fruit but the sap cometh up from the root Jesus      Gleanings
