Rural Wage Employment in Developing Countries Carlos Oya, Nicola Pontara, 2015-05-22 There is a striking scarcity of work conducted on rural labour markets in the developing world particularly in Africa This book aims to fill this gap by bringing together a group of contributors who boast substantial field experience researching rural wage employment in various developing countries It provides critical perspectives on mainstream approaches to rural agrarian development and analysis of agrarian change and rural transformations from a long term perspective This book challenges the notion that rural areas in low and middle income countries are dominated by self employment It purports that this conventional view is largely due to the application of conceptual frameworks and statistical conventions that are ill equipped to capture labour market participation The contributions in this book offer a variety of methodological lessons for the study of rural labour markets focusing in particular on the use of mixed methods in micro level field research and more emphasis on capturing occupation multiplicity The emphasis on context history and specific configurations of power relations affecting rural labour market outcomes are key and reoccurring features of this book This analysis will help readers think about policy options to improve the quantity and quality of rural wage employment their impact on the poorest rural people and their political feasibility in each context

Insights into Inclusive Growth, Employment and Wellbeing in India Arup Mitra, 2012-08-12 What changes are occurring at the macro and the sectoral levels how the labour market changes are taking place and what impact is felt on the low income households are some of the questions that the present volume focuses on It begins by examining the sectoral composition of growth revisiting the issues related to industry services balance and also brings out the spatial dimension of growth On the one hand the industry does not seem to have played a major role in the context of employment generation as imported technology is by and large capital intensive in nature On the other hand the services led growth is seen to have reduced the pace of poverty reduction Given the services led growth the possible impact of trade in services on employment both in the formal and informal sectors have been worked out indicating limited positive spill over effects The labour market outcomes are brought out with great details suggesting that rapid economic growth in India could not result in productive employment generation on a large scale The gender dimensions of employment are brought out to verify if reduction in labour market inequality can result in improving the position of women in other spheres encompassing the decision making process both within the household and outside the household Issues relating to urbanisation and rural urban migration are also covered to understand the dynamics of urban poverty and to bring out the challenges of population transfer given the spatial concentration of growth The job search practices pursued by the low income households are often pursued in terms of informal networks What problems are associated with such mechanisms in experiencing improvements in wellbeing levels are covered in the present volume On the whole the volume offers an explanation of limited poverty reduction in a situation of rapid economic growth on the basis of an inter disciplinary framework though efforts are being made to keep the methodology quantitatively rigorous The New Poverty Strategies P. Mosley, 2002-12-17 The contributors to this collection examine the progress and impact of the new poverty strategies which have governed the policies of development agencies over the past decade While in some areas progress has been impressive in others it has been hampered by persisting inequalities civil conflict institutional gaps and turbulence in the international financial system In light of this The New Poverty Strategies proposes a range of new policies and donor initiatives designed to achieve greater success in poverty reduction in the new century New Directions in Development Economics Mats Lundahl, Benno Ndulu, 2005-08-10 New Directions in Development Economics is divided into two parts The first half considers the dilemma of growth with special reference to its environmental cost The second half focuses on the role of the state in the context of the growing dominance of the free market argument The contributors include Paul Collier Partha Dasgupta Ronald Findlay and Deepak Lal The Lived Experiences of African International Students in the UK James Marson, Katy Ferris, Mohammed Dirisu, 2022-01-11 International student migration makes a significant contribution to higher education in the United Kingdom with Southern Africa and Nigeria in particular positioned joint sixth in the top ten of sending countries Many of these student migrants in supplementing their finances to fund their studies in the United Kingdom undertake employment Temporary and or part time employment is integral to the student migrant experience despite the express purpose of their admission into the United Kingdom designated for study purposes and not work This explicit object is reflected in restrictions affixed to international students employment rights whilst studying they are generally restricted to a maximum of 20 hours of work per week during term time and proscribed from working full time or as independent contractors Given the scant regard this topic has received in the existing literature this study offers an examination of students lived employment experiences under these rules The study aims to offer a contribution first in respect of the employment experiences of student migrants through the analytical framework of precarity by examining the various manifestations of insecurity in the students lived realities nuanced by structures of migration control and labour market temporalities Secondly by adopting the socio legal schema of legal consciousness the study considers the student migrants relationship with the law by way of the legal restrictions on their employment and examines their agency as evidenced through efforts to derogate from these rules Regional Economic Outlook, October 2011, Sub-Saharan Africa International Monetary Fund. African Dept., 2011-10-26 This year looks set to be another encouraging one for most sub Saharan African economies Reflecting mainly strong demand but also elevated commodity prices the region s economy is set to expand by more than 51.4 percent in 2011 For 2012 the IMF staff s baseline projection is for growth to be higher at 53.4 percent owing to one off boosts to production in a number of countries There are however specters at the feast the increase in global food and fuel prices amplified by drought affecting parts of the region has hit the budgets of the poor and sparked rising inflation and hesitations in the global recovery threaten to weaken export and growth prospects The projection for 2012 for the region is highly contingent on global economic growth being sustained at about 4 percent A further slowing of growth in advanced economies curtailing global demand would generate significant headwinds for the region s ongoing expansion with more globally integrated countries likely to be most affected Policies in the coming months need to tread a fine line between addressing the challenges that strong growth and recent exogenous shocks have engendered and warding off the adverse effects of another global downturn In some slower growing mostly middle income countries without binding financial constraints policies should clearly remain supportive of output growth even more so if global growth sputters Provided the global economy experiences the currently predicted slow and steady growth most of the region s low income countries should focus squarely on medium term considerations in setting fiscal policy while tightening monetary policy wherever nonfood inflation has climbed above single digits In the event of a global downturn subject to financing constraints policies in these countries should focus on maintaining planned spending initiatives while allowing automatic stabilizers to operate on the revenue side For the region s oil exporters better terms of trade provide a good opportunity to build up policy buffers against further price volatility

Central and Eastern European Economies Marcus Goncalves,Erika Cornelius Smith,2016-07-25 Nearly seven decades ago six countries in Western Europe Belgium France West Germany Italy Luxembourg and the Netherlands decided to take economic cooperation to the next level The vision of the EU founding states epitomized by the Schuman Declaration in 1950 was to tie their economies so closely together that war would become impossible Robert Schuman author of the plan believed Europe could not be made all at once or according to a single plan It would have to be built through concrete achievements which first create a de facto solidarity The countries within the European Community benefited enormously from free trade and common economic policies in particular structural funds designed to foster convergence by funding infrastructure and investments in poorer regions This book examines how similar transitions and integration into the European Union are experienced in individual central and eastern European states through the use of country scans in the regional blocks of CEE SEE and CIS

Securitizing Youth Marisa O. Ensor,2021-04-23 Securitizing Youth offers new insights on young people s engagement in a wide range of contexts related to the peace and security field It presents empirical findings on the challenges and opportunities faced by young women and men in their efforts to build more peaceful inclusive and environmentally secure societies The chapters included in this edited volume examine the diversity and complexity of young people s engagement for peace and security in different countries across the globe and in different types and phases of conflict and violence including both conflict affected and relatively peaceful societies Chapter contributors young peacebuilders and seasoned scholars and practitioners alike propose ways to support youth s agency and facilitate their meaningful participation in decision making The chapters are organized around five broad thematic issues that correspond to the 5 Pillars of Action identified by UN Security Council Resolution 2250 Lessons learned are intended to inform the global youth peace and security agenda so that it better responds to on the ground realities hence promoting more sustainable and inclusive approaches to long lasting peace Ordinary Families, Extraordinary Lives Caroline O.N. Moser, 2010-04-01

Fifty years after Oscar Lewis's famous depiction of five Mexican families caught in a culture of poverty Caroline Moser tells a very different story of five neighborhood women and their families strategically accumulating assets to escape poverty in the Ecuadorian city of Guayaquil In Ordinary Families Extraordinary Lives Moser shows how a more sophisticated understanding of the complexities of asset accumulation as well as poverty itself can help counter inaccurate stereotypes about global poverty It provides invaluable insight into strategies that may help people in developing countries improve their wellbeing The similar socioeconomic characteristics and economic circumstances of the Guayaquil families in 1978 when Moser began her research set the stage for a natural experiment By 2004 these circumstances varied widely Moser captures the causes and consequences of these developments through economic data anthropological narrative and personal photos She then places this compelling story within the broader context of political economic and spatial changes in Guayaquil and Ecuador Moser describes how households in a Third World urban slum relentlessly and systematically fought to accumulate human social and financial capital assets Her longitudinal account of their odyssey captures long term trends and changes in perception that are missed in snapshot assessments Chapters in this holistic story cover diverse issues such as housing and infrastructure community mobilization and political negotiation employment family dynamics violence and emigration
