Gis For Landscape Architects:

GIS for Landscape Architects Karen Calhoon Hanna,1999 Hanna shows how landscape architects land planners and designers rely on GIS to create visual frameworks within which spatial data and information are gathered interpreted manipulated and shared Case studies show how GIS was used to prepare a comprehensive plan for a historic streetscape create a site design for a major vacation resort design and manage a recreation area visualize a proposed landfill solicit public input and manage resources for a river restoration project GIS and Site Design Karen C. Hanna,Karen Calhoon Hanna,R. Brian Culpepper,1998-04-20 Demonstrates how to use IBM PC or Macintosh based Geographic Information Systems GIS software for landscape architecture site design land planning and visual resource analysis including design of large sites such as subdivisions golf courses parks campuses greenways trails riparian restorations and more

Geo-Design Steffen Nijhuis,Sisi Zlatanova,Eduardo Dias,Frank van der Hoeven,Stefan van der Spek,2016-12-01 Geo Design Advances in bridging geo information technology and design bring together a wide variety of contributions from authors with backgrounds in urban planning landscape architecture education and geo information technology presenting the latest insights and applications of geo design Geo Design is here understood as a hybridization of the concepts Geo representing the modeling analytical and visualization capacities of GIS and Design representing spatial planning and design turning existing situations into preferred ones Through focusing on interdisciplinary design related concepts and applications of GIS international experts share their recent findings and provide clues for the further development of geo design This is important since there is still much to do Not only in the development of geo information technology but especially in bridging the gap with the design disciplines The uptake on using GIS is still remarkably slow among landscape architects urban designers and planners and when utilized it is often restricted to the basic tasks of mapmaking and data access Knowledge development and dissemination of applications of geodesign through research publications and education therefore remain key factors This publication draws upon the insights shared at the Geodesign Summit Europe held at Delft University of Technology in 2014 All contributions in the book are double blind reviewed by experts in the field Handbook of Soils for Landscape Architects Robert F. Keefer,2000-06-22 Written in a clear accessible style this book covers the fundamental aspects of soil science with an emphasis on topics useful to landscape architects and professionals in related fields The book begins with a discussion of soil surveys developed in different countries followed by a concise description of soil components and how the interactions between air water and nutrients affect plant growth It examines methods for controlling erosion particularly in light of modern irrigation techniques It describes the chemistry of plant growth devotes four chapters to macro and micro nutrients and features a detailed discussion of ways to diagnose and correct plant disorders It also looks at the engineering aspects of soils and includes a detailed list of references for further information Written by an experienced teacher with an extensive background in landscape architecture this volume will be an invaluable source for students and researchers in architecture horticulture and urban planning

Geodesign by Integrating Design and Geospatial Sciences Danbi J. Lee, Eduardo Dias, Henk J. Scholten, 2014-11-24 In Europe the emerging discipline of geodesign was earmarked by the first Geodesign Summit held in 2013 at the GeoFort the Netherlands Here researchers and practitioners from 28 different countries gathered to exchange ideas on how to merge the spatial sciences and design worlds This book brings together experiences from this international group of spatial planners architects landscape designers archaeologists and geospatial scientists to explore the notion of Geodesign thinking whereby spatial technologies such as integrated 3D modelling network analysis visualization tools and information dashboards are used to answer what if questions to design alternatives on aspects like urban visibility flood risks sustainability economic development heritage appreciation and public engagement The book offers a single source of geodesign theory from a European perspective by first introducing the geodesign framework then exploring various case studies on solving complex dynamic and multi stakeholder design challenges This book will appeal to practitioners and researchers alike who are eager to bring design analysis intelligent planning and consensus building to a whole new level
