Giving Away Simone A Memoir:

Giving Away Simone Jan L. Waldron, 1997-04-14 Giving Away Simone is Jan Waldron's account of her compelling turbulent and maddeningly original relationship with the daughter she gave away Jan's baby Simone was the fifth generation of women in her family to be abandoned by their mothers Determined to fight this undertow of conditioned exiting an affliction of easy farewell Jan reunited with her daughter now renamed Rebecca when Rebecca was eleven They spent the next thirteen years trying to come to terms with each other and figure out what kind of roles they were to play in each others lives For birthmothers there are no simple equations of loss and gain Each adoption is its own unique universe of complexities and ambiguities But often the most personal is also the most universal and there are truths to be found in every story This beautifully rendered intensely personal memoir gives essential shading to choices usually reduced to black and white Waldron does not dispense advice she probes the emotional fallout on both sides of adoption an area in which sedated platitudes have presided for far too long

Giving Away Simone Jan L. Waldron, 1995 Adoption Memoirs Marianne Novy, 2024-06-28 In this volume leading scholar of Literary Adoption Studies Marianne Novy complicates the all too often essentialized popular perspectives of adoption through a critical comparative analysis of over forty adoption memoirs

The Imprint of Another Life Margaret Homans, 2013-07-18 The Imprint of Another Life Adoption Narratives and Human Possibility addresses a series of questions about common beliefs about adoption Underlying these beliefs is the assumption that human qualities are innate and intrinsic an assumption often held by adoptees and their families sometimes at great emotional cost This book explores representations of adoption transracial transnational and domestic same race adoption that reimagine human possibility by questioning this assumption and conceiving of alternatives Literary scholar Margaret Homans examines fiction making's special relationship to themes of adoption as if form of family making fabricated or fictional instead of biological or real Adoption has tended to generate stories rather than uncover bedrock truths Adoptive families are made not born in the words of novelist Jeanette Winterson adopted children are self invented because we have to be In attempting to recover their lost histories and identities adoptees create new stories about themselves While some believe that adoptees cannot be whole unless they reconnect with their origins others believe that privileging biology reaffirms hierarchies such as those of race that harm societies and individuals Adoption is lived and represented through an irresolvable tension between belief in the innate nature of human traits and belief in their constructedness contingency and changeability The book shows some of the ways in which literary creation and a concept of adoption as a form of creativity manages this tension The texts examined include fiction e g classic novels such as Silas Marner What Maisie Knew and Beloved memoirs by adoptees adoptive parents and birthmothers drama documentary films advice manuals social science writing and published interviews with adoptees parents and birth parents Along the way the book tracks the quests of adoptees who whether or not they meet their original families must construct their own stories rather than finding them follows transnational adoptees as they return hopes held high to Korea and China looks over the shoulders of a generation of girls adopted from China as they watch Disney's iconic Mulan with its alluring story of destiny written on the skin and listens to birthmothers as they struggle to tell painful secrets held for decades This book engages in debates within adoption studies women's and gender studies transnational studies and ethnic studies it will appeal to literary scholars and critics including specialists in memoir or narrative theory and to general readers interested in adoption and in race Lost & Found Betty Jean Lifton, 2009 Explores the obstacles and issues that adoptees orphans and foster children face when they have been separated from a parent or denied the right to know their origins Write Choices Sue Hertz, 2015-02-16 Developing narrative nonfiction writers at any stage of their career Write Choices Elements of Nonfiction Storytelling helps writers cultivate their nonfiction storytelling skills by exploring the universal decisions writers confront when crafting factual narratives Rather than isolating various forms of narrative nonfiction into categories or genres Sue Hertz focuses on examining the common choices all true storytellers encounter whether they are writing memoir literary journalism personal essays or travel stories Write Choices also includes digital storytelling No longer confined to paper today's narrative nonfiction writers must learn to write for electronic media which may also demand photos videos and or audio Integrating not only her own insights and experience as a journalist nonfiction book author and writing instructor but also those of other established nonfiction storytellers both print and digital Hertz aims to guide emerging writers through key decisions to tell the best story possible Blending how to instruction with illuminating examples and commentaries drawn from original interviews with master storytellers Write Choices is a valuable resource for all nonfiction writers from memoirists to essayists to literary journalists at any stage of their career Waiting to Forget Margaret Moorman, 1998-07 An extraordinary memoir of the author's giving up for adoption the baby she bore at 16 beautifully written psychologically nuanced and sociologically informed Relinquished Gretchen Sisson, 2024-02-27 FINALIST NONFICTION NATIONAL BOOK CRITICS CIRCLE AWARDS 2024 FINALIST 2024 GODDARD RIVERSIDE STEPHAN RUSSO BOOK PRIZE FOR SOCIAL JUSTICE Essential reading NPR Books We Love Dares to imagine a different world where Americans treat adoption like the justice issue it is Washington Post Impressively reported Sisson uses her deep well of knowledge to make the case that adoption is no solution for Americans reduced access to abortion San Francisco Chronicle A powerful decade long study of adoption in the age of Roe revealing the grief of the American mothers for whom the choice to parent was never real Adoption has always been viewed as a beloved institution for building families as well as a mutually agreeable common ground in the abortion debate but little attention has been paid to the lives of mothers who relinquish infants for private adoption Relinquished reveals adoption to be a path of constrained choice for those for whom abortion is inaccessible or for whom parenthood is untenable The stories of relinquishing mothers are stories about our country's refusal to care for families at the most basic level and to instead embrace an individual private solution to a large scale social problem With the recent decision in Dobbs v Jackson Women's Health Organization revoking abortion protections we are in a political moment in which adoption is increasingly being revealed as an institution devoted to separating families and policing parenthood under the guise of feel good family building. Rooted in a long term study Relinquished features the in depth testimonies of American mothers who placed their children for domestic adoption. The voices of these women are powerful and heartrending they deserve to be heard.

Strangers and Kin Barbara MELOSH, Barbara Melosh, 2009-06-30 Strangers and Kin is the history of adoption. An adoptive mother herself Barbara Melosh tells the story of how married couples without children sought to care for and nurture other people's children as their own. Taking this history into the early twenty first century Melosh offers unflinching insight to the contemporary debates that swirl around adoption: the challenges to adoption secrecy, the ethics and geopolitics of international adoption and the conflicts over transracial adoption.

Unpacking My Library Leah Price, 2011-11-29 As words and stories are increasingly disseminated through digital means the significance of the book as object whether pristine collectible or battered relic is growing as well. Unpacking My Library: Writers and Their Books spotlights the personal libraries of thirteen favorite novelists who share their collections with readers. Stunning photographs provide full views of the libraries and close ups of individual volumes: first editions, worn textbooks, pristine hardcovers and childhood companions. In her introduction Leah Price muses on the history and future of the bookshelf asking what books can tell us about their owners and what readers can tell us about their collections. Supplementing the photographs are Price's interviews with each author which probe the relation of writing to reading, collecting and arranging books. Each writer provides a list of top ten favorite titles offering unique personal histories along with suggestions for every bibliophile.

Unpacking My Library: Writers and Their Books features the personal libraries of Alison Bechdel, Stephen Carter, Junot Diaz, Rebecca Goldstein and Steven Pinker, Lev Grossman and Sophie Gee, Jonathan Lethem, Claire Messud and James Wood, Philip Pullman, Gary Shteyngart and Edmund White.

Mademoiselle, 1995 The Spirit of Adoption Jeanne Stevenson Moessner, 2003-01-01 In this theology of adoption Stevenson Moessner argues that while the church has long understood the grounding self concept of a Christian as a child of God it has failed to underscore that all people come into the family of faith by adoption.

Keeping Family Secrets Margaret K. Nelson, 2022 Drawing on 160 published memoirs this book explores the costs and benefits in the post WWII period in the United States both for individuals and for families of keeping secrets about homosexuality, institutionalization of children with disabilities, unwed pregnancy, involvement in left wing political activities, adoption and Jewish ancestry.

Belonging in an Adopted World Barbara Yngvesson, 2010-06-15 Since the early 1990s transnational adoptions have increased at an astonishing rate not only in the United States but worldwide. In Belonging in an Adopted World Barbara Yngvesson offers a penetrating exploration of the consequences and implications of this unprecedented movement of children usually from poor nations to the affluent West. Yngvesson illuminates how the politics of adoption policy has profoundly affected the families, nations and children involved in this new form of social and economic migration Starting from the transformation of the abandoned child into an adoptable resource for nations that give and receive children in adoption this volume examines the ramifications of such gifts especially for families created through adoption and later the adopted adults themselves Bolstered by an account of the author s own experience as an adoptive parent and fully attuned to the contradictions of race that shape our complex forms of family Belonging in an Adopted World explores the fictions that sustain adoptive kinship ultimately exposing the vulnerability and contingency behind all human identity

Blue-Ribbon Babies and Labors of Love Christine Ward Gailey,2010-02-01 Most Americans assume that shared genes or blood relationships provide the strongest basis for family What can adoption tell us about this widespread belief and American kinship in general Blue Ribbon Babies and Labors of Love examines the ways class gender and race shape public and private adoption in the United States Christine Ward Gailey analyzes the controversies surrounding international public and transracial adoption and how the political and economic dynamics that shape adoption policies and practices affect the lives of people in the adoption nexus adopters adoptees birth parents and agents within and across borders Interviews with white and African American adopters adoption social workers and adoption lawyers combined with her long term participant observation in adoptive communities inform her analysis of how adopters beliefs parallel or diverge from the dominant assumptions about kinship and family Gailey demonstrates that the ways adoptive parents speak about their children vary across hierarchies of race class and gender She shows that adopters notions about their children s backgrounds and early experiences as well as their own family values influence child rearing practices Her extensive interviews with 131 adopters reveal profoundly different practices of kinship in the United States today Moving beyond the ideology of blood is thicker than water Gailey presents a new way of viewing kinship and family formation suitable to times of rapid social and cultural change
