Glenn And Sallie:

Glenn and Sallie Glenn Vaughn, Jr., 2004-04-16 ss than a lifetime ago Georgia was pretty much as it had been a hundred years before that Fields of King Cotton flanked a seemingly endless network of dirt roads and much of the landscape was peppered with tenant farms and sharecropper shacks Although the distance was only about 30 miles Newton County seemed a long way from Atlanta This book deals with one segment of life in those earlier times It is a story generally about the Vaughn and Thomason families and their backgrounds but it focuses on Glenn and Sallie Vaughn my parents Some of the folks in those shacks were us The purpose here is a selfish one It is to put down for my children and grandchildren what we know about our family background warts and all Perhaps because of this effort the more curious members of our younger generations will be helped in their family research It was curiosity that got me into this Some years ago I decided to try my hand at family research and before long discovered there was a deep dark secret back there somewhere And I have not been able to get to the bottom of it The truth is we may not be Vaughns we may be Winns The story goes that my great grandmother originally Margaret Elizabeth Sutherland of Abbeville County South Carolina ran away in the middle of the night in 1886 with her five children one a babe in arms and one James P Vaughn We just don't know the whole story Maybe this book will help solve the mystery Mainly this is about two remarkable persons Sallie Cleo Thomason and Glenn Vaughn who dealt unbelievably well with the many unusual twists and turns in their lives and hardships they encountered while raising 10 children Most remarkable is that neither of them would refer to any of their experiences as hardships They were not ones to complain or blame someone else for their shortcomings When something had to be done no matter how difficult they just did it They were happy and thankful My five sisters four brothers five brothers in law and four sisters in law all to some degree helped along the way The in laws deserve medals for putting up with hearing so many Vaughn stories told and retold over the years Thanks to one and all Special thanks go to several To my sister Sallie Jeanette Knapp for the sketches she did to nephews Stuart and Glenn Ozburn and Benjamin Lott for their sketches to my son Robert Bobby Vaughn for among other things working up the computer composite picture of Sallie and Glenn in a Modal T My apologies for the poor quality of so many of the pictures There are almost no pictures of Sallie and Glenn in their young years and precious few when they were older Glenn Vaughn Jr Columbus GA
