The European Environment and CAP Reform Martin Charles Whitby, 1996 Consists of papers in edited form first presented at a meeting held in Brighton England in March 1995      Agri-environmental Policy in the European Union Henry Buller, Geoff Wilson, Andrea Holl, 2017-11-01 This title was first published in 2000 This volume provides a detailed examination of agri environmental policy within ten European states Individual chapters consider the agricultural and environmental policy contexts within each state and examine the range and significance of agri environmental policy proposed in addition to their spatial and territorial impact their policy making implications and their consequences for the structures institutions and actors of national farming policy both across and within national borders Drawing from ten national profiles and the data sets provided the book provides a comparative analysis of implementation trends filling a gap in the literature on this topic Taking European legislation as its starting point the comparative section of the book examines how Member States have responded to EU imperatives in their budgetary commitments in their implementation strategies and in the policy outputs that result The study identifies similarities across European nations in the territorial and agricultural focus of agri environmental policy and draws attention to the alternative      Agriculture and EU

Environmental Law Brian Jack, 2016-03-23 This book critically examines the development and current structure of European Union agri environmental measures at a substantive level Examining the measures in an integrated manner showing how they interrelate linking different aspects of European Union agricultural law and policy this volume examines the legislation adopted at European Union level as well as the impact of particular national measures to implement that legislation Where appropriate comparisons are drawn between the manner in which European Union legislation has been implemented among various Member States Critically assessing European Union and national measures in the light of other policy pressures such as the influence of world trade agreements and the political pressures exerted by the agricultural sector within the national legal systems of individual Member States this volume is a valuable resource for academics researching and practitioners working in the areas of European Union environmental and agricultural law      Global Competition and EU Environmental Policy Jonathan Golub, 1998-03-19 Global Competition and EU Environmental Policy is the first book to examine the relationship between economic competitiveness and environmental protection in European Union policy A wide range of international case studies addresses key agreements and policies including those dealing with ozone layer protection pesticide exports shipping climate      CAP Regimes and the European Countryside Floor Brouwer, Philip Lowe, 2000 This book reviews assessments on the environmental effects of the Common Agricultural Policy CAP and assesses the contribution of agricultural policy to environmental quality in the EU It focuses on the role of agricultural policy in reducing harmful effects and or creating benefits to the physical environment landscape and nature Emphasis is given to comparative studies rather than any limited to one country The commodity regimes of the CAP e g the beef wine and olive oil regimes are considered in detail      Sustainable development in Europe Uwe Schubert,2007

Evaluating sustainable development is becoming increasingly important in policy making evaluation practice and the scientific world in general However at present there is neither a generally accepted set of measures and evaluation methods nor specific standards to be met Sustainable Development in Europe addresses these issues and presents an important and concise analysis of state of the art sustainable development evaluation policies programmes and projects currently at work in Europe      Environmental Problems in East-Central Europe Frank Carter,David Turnock,2002-09-26 In this new edition the progress made in the last decade to solve the environmental problems described in the first edition is assessed The attempts to bring environmental legislation into line with West European norms is also described Environmental Problems of East Central Europe looks at air and water pollution modern farming water supplies waste management and landscape protection These topics are placed within economic social and political profiles as spending on a clean environment must be reconciled with welfare spending and the safeguarding of jobs European Union assistance civil society and the work of environmental NGOs are also discussed All of these matters are considered within the context of the wider geographical area and then by each individual country including the previously communist states lying to the west of the Soviet Union now with the former federal states of Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia broken up into seven different entities and a review of the former Soviet Union with particular reference to the Baltic States Environmental Problems in East Central Europe provides a wealth of up to date reference material with a vast amount of supporting literature on environmental conditions and the functioning of civil society and a map of each country The environment is being taken seriously by them all such is the influence of the Rio sustainability agenda in general and the EU environmental acquis in particular The book reveals that Eastern Europe is not a blighted area but in some respects has a higher biodiversity than Western Europe Although there is enormous waste and inefficiency in energy use people actually consume relatively little and the East therefore has some lessons for the West in terms of managing on the bases of fair share of the earth s resources      The Changing World of Farming in Brexit UK Matt Loble,Michael Winter,Rebecca Wheeler,2018-11-22 The 2016 referendum resulted in a vote for the United Kingdom to withdraw from the European Union This has led to frenzied political debate across the whole spectrum of policy and agriculture is no exception For the first time in a generation the future of agriculture is unclear and unfettered by the constraints and incrementalism of the Common Agricultural Policy This book makes an empirical contribution to the Brexit debate bringing a social dimension to agri Brexit and sustainable agriculture discourses Understanding the social in the context of farmers is vital to developing a way forward on food security and agricultural sustainability Farmers are the recipients of the market and policy signals that link to global uncertainties and challenges This book is a commitment to understanding farmers as occupiers and managers of land Chapters in this book explore farmers own aspirations and knowledge about patterns of land use and production which underpin discussions around the environment and sustainability

There is a deficit in understanding what kind of agricultural industry we now have following years of restructuring and repositioning This book is an attempt to address that deficit and will appeal to students and researchers exploring agriculture food politics and rural sociology

Landscape Amenities Isabel Vanslebrouck, Guido Van Huylenbroeck, 2005-12-19 st t

At the dawn of the 21 century the impact of human beings on the environment continues to provide cause for concern For some what matters is the loss of so much that is beautiful and valuable in its own right For others the concern is with the effects of environmental degradation on human health and well being Whatever one s view humans like all living species are remarkably adaptive While this message should be familiar all too many of the participants in the environmental debate seem unaware of it

Multifunctional Agriculture G. A. Wilson, 2007 In a time of great agricultural and rural change the notion of multifunctionality has remained under theorized and poorly linked to the debates in the social sciences This book analyses the extent to which the proposed transition towards post productivist agriculture holds up to scientific scrutiny and proposes a new transition theory

Environmental Policy : Objectives, Instruments, and Implementation Dieter Helm, 2000-11-30 The twentieth century witnessed unparalleled economic growth among developed countries largely based upon the exploitation of fossil fuels and unparalleled population growth in developing countries These broad trends in turn did massive damage to the environment Biodiversity has suffered its biggest reverse since the last great extinctions in geological time and the burning of fossil fuels has begun to change our climate But it was only at the end of the century that environmental concerns were transformed from a narrow sectional interest moving to the centre stage of government and on to the main agendas of companies Once a minority interest the environment now commands the attention of ministers chief executives and consumers in the supermarket Party manifestos proclaim the greenness of politicians companies produce environmental reports and shoppers opt for organic food and avoid genetically modified products This volume focuses on the practical design of economic instruments for environmental policy It is divided into three parts the overarching policy context the choice of policy instruments and applications to the main sectors of the economy

Unravelling desertification M. Juntti, 2023-08-28 This book analyses processes of desertification from a social science perspective and unravels the policy related to drivers of desertification Desertification is addressed both as a concept surrounded by a multitude of different discourses and as a tangible unsustainable process that is connected to a complex set of policies and changing land management practices The focus is on Southern Europe where desertification has been a long standing problem in many areas and where in some places the loss of productive capacity has worsened considerably over the last few decades By focusing on four specific case study areas in Portugal Spain Italy and Greece the scope of the book will cover the human dimension of desertification exploring in particular how the framework of existing policies has affected land management decisions and desertification processes The emphasis will be on how policies may have contributed to desertification alleviation and mitigation as well as to a worsening of desertification processes By using an actor network approach the book specifically investigates the importance of networks of actors that shape the nature and direction of policies that affect desertification processes In this sense this book aims at providing a first glance into the complex policy economic and socio cultural networks that operate at the local regional and national levels in areas of Southern Europe affected by desertification and to analyse how these networks hinder or promote the implementation of policies aimed at alleviating the threat of desertification With its broad remit this exciting book will appeal to many different audiences not only including academics and students of various disciplines but also practitioners at the local regional Mediterranean and international e g
