European Parents In The Nineteen Nineties Contradictions And Comparisons:

Parents in the Spotlight Tanja Betz, Michael-Sebastian Honig, Ilona Ostner, 2017-07-17 Children and parents have become a focus of debates on new social risks in European welfare states Policymaking elites have converged in defining such risks and they have outlined new forms of parenting support to better safeguard children and activate their potential Increasingly parents are suspected of falling short of public expectations Contributors to this special issue scrutinize this shift towards parenting as performance and analyse recent forms of parenting support Family Studies Jon Bernardes, 2008-02-26 Designed for use on introductory sociology courses Family Studies is the first UK text book in the subject Each chapter is designed to work as an individual units of study in a course on the family Fatherhood in the Nordic Welfare States Eydal, Guðný Björk, Rostgaard, Tine, 2016-01-13 The Nordic countries are known worldwide for their extensive welfare system and gender equality which enables both parents to hold jobs earn money and care for their children In this volume scholars from the Nordic countries as well as from the United States and the United Kingdom explore the effects of these policies on fatherhood and how the policies that support it contribute to shaping and influencing the image role and practice of fathers in a diversity of family settings Families and Family Policies in Europe Linda Hantrais, Marie-Therese Letablier, 2014-09-19 The family is currently a controversial topic both within the UK and Europe While demographic trends seem to suggest that family structures and attitudes within the European Union are converging and that member states are facing similar social problems their policy responses are very different This book examines the differences between these national responses and that of the EU as contained in the social chapter It analyses the key concepts underlying the formulation of family policy and illustrates it with the latest data much of it hitherto unpublished

Parenting and disability Olsen, Richard, Clarke, Harriet, 2003-04-16 This book reports on the first substantial UK study of parenting disability and mental health It examines the views of parents and children in 75 families Covering a broad spectrum of issues facing disabled parents and their families Parenting and disability provides a comprehensive review of relevant policy issues explores the barriers to full participation in parenting that disabled parents face examines the complex ways in which broader social divisions including gender and socioeconomic status interact with disability advocates measures to support disabled parents and their families by promoting and supporting relationships within the family The book is aimed at a wide audience including students and academics in social policy social work disability studies sociology education and nursing people working in the voluntary sector disabled activists and their supporters as well as policy makers and practitioners in a range of statutory agencies Cross National Research Methods Linda Hantrais, Stephen P. Mangen, 1996-01-01 This is a resource book for social scientists engaged in cross national comparative research It critically examines the methodological and managerial issues which arise from such work with a particular focus on the economic and social policy agenda of the European Union Experts from across Europe and from different disciplinary backgrounds draw upon their own experience of conducting cross national comparisons to offer well informed guidance on how to overcome the pitfalls and problems they have encountered

Festival of the Poor Jane C. Schneider, Peter T. Schneider, 2022-08-16 The historical decline of fertility in Europe has occupied a central place in social history and demography over the past quarter century Most scholars credit Europeans with modulating sexual behavior through either abstinence or the practice of coitus interruptus as a rational choice made in the interest of personal economic comfort yet peasant and working classes have typically lagged behind in birth control and have given rise to the adage that sexual embrace is the festival of the poor Scholarly analyses of lag often reinforce this stigmatizing view Now this subject is given a fresh look through a case study in Sicily one of the last outposts of Western Europe s demographic transition By examining population changes in a single community between 1860 and 1980 the authors offer an extended review and critique of existing models of fertility decline in Europe proposing a new interpretation that emphasizes historical context and class relations They show how the spread of capitalism in Sicily induced an unprecedented rate of population growth with boom and bust cycles creating the class experiences in which reputational networks came to redefine family life how Sicilians began to control their fertility in response to class mediated ideas about gender relations and respectable family size and how the town s gentry artisan and peasant classes adopted family planning methods at different times in response to different pressures Jane and Peter Schneider s anthropologically oriented political economy perspective challenges the position of Western Europe as a model for fertility decline on which every other case should converge looking instead at the diversity of cultural ideals and practices such as those found in Sicily that influence the spread and form of birth control Combining anthropological oral historical and archival methods in new and insightful ways the authors synthesis of a particular case study with a broad historical and theoretical discussion will play a major role in the ongoing debates over the history of European fertility decline and point the way toward integrating the analysis of demographic upheaval with the study of class formation and ideology

Gender and Family Change in Industrialized Countries Karen Oppenheim Mason, An-Magritt Jensen, 1995-09-28 This volume focuses on the relationship between change in the family and change in the roles of women and men on contemporary industrial societies Of central concern is whether change in gender roles has fuelled or is merely historically coincident with such changes in the family as rising divorce rates increases in out of wedlock childbearing declining marriage rates and a growing disconnection between the lives of men and children Covering more than twenty countries including the USA the countries of western Europe and Japan each essay in the volume is organized around an important theoretical or policy question all offer new data analyses and several offer prescriptions of how to fashion more equitable and humane family and gender systems The second demographic transition and microeconomic theory of marital exchange are the dominant theoretical models considered several chapters feature state of the art quantitative analyses of large scale surveys

Social Research for our Times Claire Cameron , Alison Koslowski, Alison Lamont , Peter Moss, 2023-11-14 For 50 years researchers at UCL s Thomas

Coram Research Unit have been undertaking ground breaking policy relevant social research Their main focus has been social issues affecting children young people and families and the services provided for them Social Research for our Times brings together different generations of researchers from the Unit to share some of the most important results of their studies Two sections focus on the main findings and conclusions from research into children and children services and on family life minoritised groups and gender A third is then devoted to the innovative methods that have been developed and used to undertake research in these complex areas Running through the book is a key strategic question what should be the relationship between research and policy Or put another way what does policy relevant research mean This perennial question has gained new importance in the post Covid post Brexit world that we have entered making this text a timely intervention for sharing decades of experience Taking a unique opportunity to reflect on research context as well as research findings this book will be of interest to researchers teachers students and those involved in policy making both in and beyond dedicated research units and can be read as a whole or sampled for individual standalone chapters

Silencing the Self Across Cultures

Dana C. Jack,Alisha Ali,2010-04-28 This international volume offers new perspectives on social and psychological aspects of the complex dynamic of depression The twenty one contributors from thirteen countries Australia Canada Finland Germany Haiti India Israel Nepal Poland Portugal Puerto Rico Scotland and the United States represent contexts with very different histories political and economic structures and gender role disparities Authors rely on Silencing the Self theory which details the negative psychological effects when individuals silence themselves in close relationships and the importance of the social context in precipitating depression Specific patterns of thought about how to achieve closeness in relationships self silencing schema are known to predict depression This book breaks new ground by demonstrating that the linkage of depressive symptoms with self silencing occurs across a range of cultures We offer a new view of gender differences in depression situated in the formation and consequences of self silencing including differing motivational aims norms of masculinity and femininity and the broader social context of gender inequality The book offers evidence regarding why women s depression is more wide spread than men s and why the treatment of depression lies in understanding that a person s individual psychology is inextricably related to the social world and close relationships Authors examine not only gender differences in depression but also related aspects of mental and physical illness including treatments specific to women Several chapters describe the transformative possibilities of community driven movements for disadvantaged women that support healing through a recovery of voice and describe the need for systemic and structural changes to counter violations of human rights as a means of reducing women s risk of depression Bringing the work of these researchers together in one collection furthers international dialogue about critical social factors that affect the rising rates of depression around the globe
