The Architecture of Percier and Fontaine and the Struggle for Sovereignty in Revolutionary France

Iris Moon, 2016-11-25. As the official architects of Napoleon, Charles Percier (1764-1838) and Pierre-François-Léonard Fontaine (1762-1853) designed interiors that responded to the radical ideologies and collective forms of destruction that took place during the French Revolution. The architects visualized new forms of imperial sovereignty by inverting the symbols of monarchy and revolution: constructing meeting rooms resembling military encampments and gilded thrones that replaced the Bourbon lily.

with Napoleonic bees Yet in the wake of political struggle each foundation stone that the architects laid for the new imperial regime was accompanied by an awareness of the contingent nature of sovereign power Contributing fresh perspectives on the architecture decorative arts and visual culture of revolutionary France this book explores how Percier and Fontaine's desire to build structures of permanence and their inadvertent reliance upon temporary architectural forms shaped a new awareness of time memory and modern political identity in France

Motherland and Progress József Sisa,2016-11-21 In the 19th century Hungary witnessed unprecedented social economic and cultural development The country became an equal partner within the Dual Monarchy when the Austro Hungarian Compromise of 1867 was concluded Architecture and all forms of design flourished as never before A distinctly Central European taste emerged in which the artistic presence of the German speaking lands was augmented by the influence of France and England As this process unfolded attempts were made to find a uniquely Hungarian form based on motifs borrowed from peasant art as well as real or fictitious historical antecedents Motherland and Progress the motto of 19th century Hungarian reformers reflected the programme embraced by the country in its drive to define its identity and shape its future

Reanimated Voices Daniel E. Collins,2001 Reanimated Voices addresses three activities reporters evoking speech events interpreters re constituting those speech events and historical pragmaticians eavesdropping in time on the reporters and interpreters Can one reconstruct aspects of pragmatic competence on the basis of written texts only Reanimated Voices answers this in the affirmative It offers a methodology for historical pragmatic reconstruction to explain the synchronic patterns of variation in premodern writings Reanimated Voices examines the distribution of reporting strategies in a corpus of medieval Russian texts Forms preferred in specific recurring contexts are matched with the need s served by those contexts a fit reflecting collective intentionality Occasional residual forms strategies that appear in contexts where others predominate also reflect cooperative behavior they index utterances departing from the prototype or unusual configurations of participants Thus Reanimated Voices explores reporting as an activity of rational agents coordinating interpretation in accordance with cultural and institutional notions of relevance
