Evaluating Community Efforts to Prevent Cardiovascular Diseases ,1995      Evaluating Community Collaborations*

Thomas E. Backer, 2003-07-30 Collaborations which bring organizations together in a community to implement or improve an innovative program or change a policy or procedure have become a central strategy for promoting community change Funders require them nonprofits see them as useful solutions to their problems of declining resources and increasing complexity including multicultural issues and communities demand them as evidence that key stakeholders are coming together to address problems of mutual concern Moreover no matter how powerful the concept the implementation of community collaborations can usually be improved The evaluation of collaborations can provide evidence of outcome and impact and can help improve the process by which the collaboration operates This book was developed by the nonprofit Human Interaction Research Institute with funding support from the Federal Center for Mental Health Services in connection with a series of evaluations of mental health youth violence prevention and arts grant making programs supported by both the Federal government and foundations all of which involved collaborations as a central mechanism It is the first comprehensive treatment of theoretical research and practice issues concerning the evaluation of collaborations and includes an extensive set of forms that can be adapted for this purpose Chapter authors are leaders in both evaluation and community collaboration work      Evaluating Community Mental Health Services Isabel Davidoff, Marcia Guttentag, Joan Offutt, 1977

Innovative Measurement and Evaluation of Community Development Practices Norman Walzer, Jane Leonard, Mary Emery, 2017-10-02 Finding innovative and useful measurement practices for community development projects is gaining in importance as policymakers increase the demands for accountability This book examines some of the latest efforts to document the effectiveness of local development efforts The types of documentation differ by types of project jurisdiction and country but they have a common focus of recognizing the importance of the Community Capitals framework Public agencies in the past have often measured development successes by the number of jobs created and or amount of private investment forthcoming However the impacts of community development reach much deeper than those indicators Strengthening local decision making capacity is a common component of development efforts as is engaging populations that in the past have not been active in decision making These and other considerations are explored in more detail by authors in this volume Local policymakers and practitioners will be continually pressured to provide more documentation of outcomes and readers will gain considerable insights into alternative approaches that can be included in projects but can also see the common elements needed to create a solid measurement system International insights are a special strength of the
