The Training Evaluation Process David J. Basarab Sr., Darrell K. Root, 2012-12-06 This book details a unique training evaluation approach developed by David J Basarab Sr currently the Manager of Evaluation at Motorola University This approach was developed in part based on information from his graduate coursework with Dr Darrell K Root professor of program evaluation and educational administration at the University of Dayton It enabled Motorola to evaluate their corporate training programs to determine whether money spent on training was an investment or an expense This evaluation approach is also significant in determining either the effectiveness of or the opportunities to improve corporate training programs In this text The Training Evaluation Process David Basarab and Darrell Root provide commercial industry training with a step by step approach to use when evaluating training programs thus allowing training to be viewed as an investment rather than an expense This text focuses on assessing training programs so that they may be improved This approach provides a successful procedure to use when evaluating training programs Included in the text is a comprehensive explanation of the evaluation model developed by D L Kirkpatrick Kirkpatrick D L November 1959 in which he described four levels of evaluating training programs Level 1 Reaction Evaluate to learn participants perception to the training program Level 2 Learning Evaluate to determine whether participants have learned the course subject matter Level 3 Behavior Evaluate participants use of newly acquired job skills on the job Level 4 Results Evaluate the organizational impact of training on company's workforce

Kirkpatrick's Four Levels of Training Evaluation James D. Kirkpatrick, Wendy Kayser Kirkpatrick, 2016-10-01 A timely update to a timeless model Don Kirkpatrick's groundbreaking Four Levels of Training Evaluation is the most widely used training evaluation model in the world Ask any group of trainers whether they rely on the model's four levels Reaction Learning Behavior and Results in their practice and you'll get an enthusiastic affirmation But how many variations of Kirkpatrick are in use today And what number of misassumptions and faulty practices have crept in over 60 years The reality is Quite a few James and Wendy Kirkpatrick have written Kirkpatrick's Four Levels of Training Evaluation to set the record straight Delve into James and Wendy's new findings that together with Don Kirkpatrick's work create the New World Kirkpatrick Model a powerful training evaluation methodology that melds people with metrics In Kirkpatrick's Four Levels of Training Evaluation discover a comprehensive blueprint for implementing the model in a way that truly maximizes your business's results Using these innovative concepts principles techniques and case studies you can better train people improve the way you work and ultimately help your organization meet its most crucial goals Evaluating Training Peter Bramley,1996 This book shows how to build evaluation into every stage of design and delivery It describes a range of techniques with practical advice on choosing and implementing appropriate ones Evaluating Training Programs (Volume 1 of 2) (EasyRead Super Large 20pt Edition) , Complete Training Evaluation Richard Griffin,2014-08-03 While substantial advances have been made in the L D profession over the last decade evaluation remains by far the weakest part of the L D cycle Most organisations wish to evaluate the impact of their investment in training but few do it well and the lack of effective methods is one of the key barriers Complete Training Evaluation addresses these issues by providing practitioner friendly but academically robust information and guidance on how to evaluate all forms of learning and development It draws on the author s own multidisciplinary research along with his practical experience of working with private and public sector organisations carrying out evaluation The book provides practitioners with accessible how to knowledge and tools to undertake evaluations of both formal and informal learning Full of case studies and practical examples of application of methods and insights Complete Training Evaluation equips practitioners with a range of approaches that can be used depending on the training programme capacity and capability An online supporting resource includes a bank of evaluation questions grouped around particular aspects of training Evaluating Training Effectiveness Peter Bramley,1991 Evaluating the effectiveness of training this book identifies training needs discusses the design and implementation of training courses and relates benefits to costs Evaluating Business and Industry Training Leslie Steven May,Carol Ann Moore,Stephen J. Zammit,2012-12-06 In the abstract training is seen as valuable by most people in business and industry However in the rush of providing training programs on time and within budget evaluation of training is frequently left behind as a nice to have addition if practical In addition the training function itself is left with the dilemma of proving its worth to management without a substantive history of evaluation This book is designed to provide managers educators and trainers alike the opportunity to explore the issues and benefits of evaluating business and industry training The purpose is to motivate more effective decisions for training investments based on information about the value of training in attaining business goals Without evaluation the value of specific training efforts cannot be adequately measured the value of training investments overall cannot be fully assessed and the contributions of the training function to the corporation s goals cannot be duly recognized Articles are grouped into three sections although many themes appear across sections The first section establishes the context of training evaluation in a business organization The second section emphasizes evaluation of training products and services and the third section discusses costs and benefits of evaluation and communication and use of evaluation results in decision making In Section I the context of training evaluation is established from a variety of perspectives First training and training evaluation are discussed in the context of corporate strategic goals Evaluating Training Programs (Volume 2 of 2) (EasyRead Super Large 24pt Edition) , Implementing the Four Levels James D. Kirkpatrick,2007 The authors draw on their decades of collective expertise to offer time tested advice for putting their training effectiveness model into practice This new concise hands on guide is designed as a companion volume to Donald Kirkpatrick's bestselling Evaluation and Control of Training Anthony C. Hamblin, 1974 Training Evaluation Pocketbook Paul Donovan, 2014-01-01 The 2nd edition of the Training Evaluation Pocketbook explains succinctly visually and with abundant informative examples how to measure training results In order to demystify the process of evaluating training events the pocketbook identifies nine possible outcomes to measure reaction to training satisfaction with the way training was organised knowledge acquisition skills improvement attitude shift behaviour change organisational results return on investment and psychological capital The book's authors are Paul Donovan and John Townsend who have also jointly written three other titles in the Pocketbook Series namely Facilitator's Training Needs Analysis and Transfer of Learning
