Evaluating Social Programs:

Evaluating Social Programs and Problems Stewart Ian Donaldson, Michael Scriven, 2003 Today's evaluators are being challenged to help design and evaluate social programs intended to prevent and ameliorate complex social problems in a variety of settings including schools communities and not for profit and for profit organizations Drawing upon the knowledge and experience of world renowned evaluators the goal of this new book is to provide the most up to date theorizing about how to practice evaluation in the new millennium It features specific examples of evaluations of social programs and problems including the strengths and weaknesses of the most popular and promising evaluation approaches to help readers determine when particular methods are likely to be most effective As such it is the most comprehensive volume available on modern theories of evaluation practice Evaluating Social Programs and Problems presents diverse cutting edge perspectives articulated by prominent evaluators and evaluation theorists on topics including but not limited to Michael Scriven on evaluation as a trans discipline Joseph S Wholey on results oriented management David Fetterman on empowerment evaluation Yvonna S Lincoln on fourth generation evaluation Donna M Mertens on inclusive evaluation Stewart I Donaldson on theory driven evaluation and Melvin M Mark on an integrated view of diverse visions for evaluation Evaluating Social Programs and Problems is a valuable resource and should be considered required reading for practicing evaluators evaluators in training scholars and teachers of evaluation and research methods and other professionals interested in improving social problem solving efforts in the new millennium

Evaluating Social Programs and Problems Stewart I. Donaldson, Michael Scriven, 2003-01-30 This book presents visions of how to solve social problems in the 21st century and how programs SHOULD be evaluated not how they will be evaluated

Evaluating Social Work Services and Programs Robert W. Weinbach, 2005 Program Evaluation uses a practical reader friendly approach to demystify evaluation research clarifying evaluation's relationship to social work practice and providing the knowledge necessary to conduct it This book assumes some familiarity with traditional research methods and basic statistics or are currently studying them It contains all necessary definitions and brief explanations of essential research terminology and concepts However it relates them directly to their usage in evaluation research which is often quite different from the way they are used in traditional research Well organized with excellent flow from chapter to chapter Program Evaluation does not read like a research methods book making it the most accessible book on evaluation research available

Evaluation and Experiment Carl A. Bennett, Arthur A. Lumsdaine, 2013-09-24 Evaluation and Experiment Some Critical Issues in Assessing Social Programs is a collection of papers presented at the 1973 symposium held at The Battelle Seattle Research Center This book contains eight chapters that consider some selected aspects of the problems in evaluating the outcomes of socially important programs such as those dealing with education health and economic policy The first chapter provides an overview of the issues around the Social Program Evaluation The next chapters deal with the successes and failures brought by social innovations the quasi experimental evaluation in compensatory education to estimate the true effects of such education programs and the usefulness and validity of econometric and related nonexperimental approaches for assessing the effects of social programs. These topics are followed by surveys of a number of additional program evaluation studies particularly in the field of family planning or fertility control mostly carried out as experiments or quasi experiments in Asian and Latin American countries. Other chapters describe the decision processes that involve explicit assessment of the worth or merit of outcomes and employ multivalued utility analysis and outline the ways in which evaluative data are useful in providing feedback to program or institutional operations and decisions. The final chapter discusses resolutions for some of the disagreements expressed by others concerning the role of field experiments constraints in their utilization and other factors that enter into a comprehensive conception of program evaluation.

Assessing Social Program Impact Evaluations United States. General Accounting Office, 1978

Evaluating Social Programs and Problems Stewart I. Donaldson, 2002 This book presents visions of how to solve social problems in the 21st century and how programs SHOULD be evaluated not how they will be evaluated.

Evaluating Anti-poverty Programs Martin Ravallion, 2005 The author critically reviews the methods available for the ex post counterfactual analysis of programs that are assigned exclusively to individuals households or locations. The discussion covers both experimental and non experimental methods including propensity score matching discontinuity designs double and triple differences and instrumental variables. Two main lessons emerge. First despite the claims of advocates no single method dominates rigorous policy relevant evaluations should be open minded about methodology. Second future efforts to draw more useful lessons from evaluations will call for more policy relevant measures and deeper explanations of measured impacts than are possible from the classic black box assessment of mean impact.
