Evaluation Roots Marvin C. Alkin, 2004-02-19 Concern for evaluation theoretical prescriptions emerged about 40 years ago giving it a history that is both recent enough to be part of the living experience of many of today s theorists and old enough to afford an opportunity for an analysis of how the field has evolved over time This book examines current evaluation theories and traces their evolution with the point of view that theories build upon theories and therefore evaluation theories are related to each other Initially all evaluation was derived from social science research methodology and accountability concerns The way in which these evaluation roots grew to form a tree helps to provide a better understanding of evaluation theory Thus the book uses an evaluation theory tree as its central metaphor The authors posit that evaluation theories can be classified by the extent to which they focus on methods uses or valuing these three approaches form the major limbs of the tree In addition to the authors overview which analyzes the evaluation theory tree and connections among theories the book contains essays by most of the leading evaluation theorists In these pieces the evaluators comment on their own development and give their views of their placement upon the tree

Evaluation in Decision Making Naftaly S. Glasman, David Nevo, 1988-06-30 This book is about the practice of decision making by school principals and about ways to improve this practice by capitalizing on evaluation dimensions Much has been written on decision making but surprisingly little on decision making in the school principalship Much has been also written on evaluation as well as on evaluation and decision making but not much has been written on evaluation in decision making especially decision making in the principalship This book presents two messages One is that decision making in the principalship can be studied and improved and not only talked about in abstract terms The other message is that evaluation can contribute to the understanding of decision making in the principalship and to the improvement of its practice In this book we call for the conception of an evaluation minded principal a principal who has a wide perspective on the nature of evaluation and its potential benefits a principal who is also inclined to use evaluation perceptions and techniques as part of his her decision making process This book was conceived in 1985 with the idea to combine thoughts about educational administration with thoughts about educational evaluation Studies of decision making in the principalship had already been on their way We decided to await the findings and in the meantime we wrote a first conceptual version of evaluation in decision making As the studies were completed we wrote a first empirical version of same Core Concepts in Evaluation Lori A. Wingate,Ayesha S. Boyce,Lyssa Wilson Becho,Kelly N.
