Vernacular Architecture in the Pre-Columbian Americas Christina Halperin, Lauren Schwartz, 2016-09-13 Vernacular Architecture in the Pre Columbian Americas reveals the dynamism of the ancient past where social relations and long term history were created posthole by posthole brick by brick This collection shifts attention away from the elite and monumental architectural traditions of the region to instead investigate the creativity subtlety and variability of common architecture and the people who built and dwelled in them At the heart of this study of vernacular architecture is an emphasis on ordinary people and their built environments and how these everyday spaces were pivotal in the making and meaning of social and cultural dynamics Providing a deeper and more nuanced temporal perspective of common buildings in the Americas the editors have deftly framed a study that highlights sociocultural diversity while at the same time facilitating broader comparative conversations around the theme of vernacular architecture With diverse case studies covering a broad range of periods and regions Vernacular Architecture in the Pre Columbian Americas is an important addition to the growing body of scholarship on the indigenous architecture of the Americas and is a key contribution to our archaeological understandings of past built environments

USA Gwendolyn Wright, 2008-02-15 From the Reliance Building and Coney Island to the Kimbell Museum and Disney Hall the United States has been at the forefront of modern architecture American life has generated many of the quintessential images of modern life both generic types and particular buildings Gwendolyn Wright's USA is an engaging account of this evolution from the late nineteenth century to the twenty first Upending conventional arguments about the origin of American modern architecture Wright shows that it was not a mere offshoot of European modernism brought across the Atlantic Ocean by migrants but rather an exciting distinctive and mutable hybrid USA traces a history that spans from early skyscrapers and suburbs in the aftermath of the American Civil War up to the museums schools and green architecture of today Wright takes account of diverse interests that affected design ranging from politicians and developers to ambitious immigrants and middle class citizens Famous and lesser known buildings across America come together model dwellings for German workers in rural Massachusetts New York s Rockefeller Center Cincinnati s Carew Tower Frank Lloyd Wright s Taliesin West in the Arizona desert the University of Miami campus the Texas Instruments Semiconductor Plant and the Corning Museum of Glass among others to show an extraordinary range of innovation Ultimately Wright reframes the history of American architecture as one of constantly evolving and volatile sensibilities engaged with commerce attuned to new media exploring multiple concepts of freedom The chapters are organized to show how changes in work life home life and public life affected architecture and vice versa This book provides essential background for contemporary debates about affordable and luxury housing avant garde experiments local identities inspiring infrastructure and sustainable design A clear concise and richly illustrated account of modern American architecture this timely book will be essential for all those who wonder about the remarkable legacy of American modernity in its most potent cultural expression

Architecture as Communication Ross A. Eaman,2025-04-08 Media theory has long overlooked the built environment and its communicative capacity how built structures and spaces convey meaning through material embodiment and symbolization Architecture as Communication advances the idea that built environments function as media of communication Using practice theory in conjunction with the concept of style this book is anchored in three historical determinants the quest for perfect proportion in buildings the belief in architectural determinism and the ongoing efforts within other media to influence how those who experience built environments understand them Ross Eaman explores how houses schools places of worship factories office buildings stores malls opera houses plazas and parks have meaning for people as subjective life worlds Architecture as Communication proposes media theory that articulates the social construction of meaning as a unique way of understanding the built environment one in which the users and observers of structures and spaces participate along with architects and designers Architecture according to Eaman encompasses the multiplicity of communication as human interaction preparing people for what they are about to encounter signalling how they should act and selectively enabling them to perform their expected role Using examples across many historical periods and cultures Architecture as Communication argues that we judge our built environments by the values they communicate

Old-House Journal ,2002-05 Old House Journal is the original magazine devoted to restoring and preserving old houses For more than 35 years our mission has been to help old house owners repair restore update and decorate buildings of every age and architectural style Each issue explores hands on restoration techniques practical architectural guidelines historical overviews and homeowner stories all in a trusted authoritative voice Company Suburbs Sarah Fayen Scarlett,2023-08-18 Winner of the 2022 Fred B Kniffen Book Award from the International Society Landscape Place and Material Culture and the 2023 Abbott Lowell Cummings Award from the Vernacular Architecture Forum Michigan s Keweenaw Peninsula juts into Lake Superior pointing from the western Upper Peninsula toward Canada Native peoples mined copper there for at least five thousand years but the industrial heyday of the Copper Country began in the late nineteenth century as immigrants from Cornwall Italy Finland and elsewhere came to work in mines largely run from faraway cities such as New York and Boston In those cities suburbs had developed to allow wealthier classes to escape the dirt and grime of the industrial center In the Copper Country however the suburbs sprang up nearly adjacent to mines mills and coal docks Sarah Fayen Scarlett contrasts two types of neighborhoods that transformed Michigan s mining frontier between 1875 and 1920 paternalistic company towns built for the workers and elite suburbs created by the region s network of business leaders Richly illustrated with drawings maps and photographs Company Suburbs details the development of these understudied cultural landscapes that arose when elites began to build housing that was architecturally distinct from that of the multiethnic workers within the old company towns They followed national trends and created social hierarchies in the process but also uniquely incorporated pre existing mining features and adapted company housing practices This idiosyncratic form of suburbanization belies the assumption that suburbs and industry were independent developments Built environments evince interrelationships among landscapes people and power Scarlett's work offers new perspectives on emerging national attitudes linking domestic architecture with class and gender identity Company Suburbs complements scholarship on both industrial communities and early suburban growth increasing our understanding of the ways hierarchies associated with industrial capitalism have been built into the shared environments of urban areas as well as seemingly peripheral American towns The Archaeology of Verbal and Nonverbal Meaning Paolo Brusasco, 2007 A major argument of this book is that nonverbal meaning plays a fundamental role in the functioning of human societies thus rejecting the predominance of textual meaning and ethnocentric Eurocentric models currently employed in the interpretation of past behaviour and architecture By using the unique evidence from Mesopotamian domestic space where both house layouts and family archives were recovered as well as ethnographies from modern Near Eastern societies Paolo Brusasco investigates how verbal and nonverbal meaning interrelate in the archaeological past In line with Peirce Wittgenstein and Derrida as well as recent research in corporeal semantics and social psychology the book claims that nonverbal spatial signs have a profound bearing on ancient textual meanings Moreover through the evidence of house clay models house projects actual houses and archives the author shows how different semiotic systems may produce alternative perspectives of the world while the linguistic elaborative power of processing nonverbal signs is also explored This book contributes to understanding how we should critically use social techniques and ethnographic analogy to interpret the archaeological past and it will be a vital resource for all those interested in the interaction between language and the material world The ^AOxford Handbook of Music and Advertising James Deaville, Siu-Lan Tan, Ron Rodman, 2021-02-01 This Handbook explains how music contributes to the advertising that the public encounters on a daily basis Chapters examine how the soundtracks of promotional messages originate how we might interpret the meanings behind the music and how commercial messages influence us through music Jewish and Non-Jewish Spaces in the Urban Context Maria Cieřla, Saskia Coenen Snyder, Eszter Gantner, Frank Golczewski, François Guesnet, Felix Heinert, Jürgen Heyde, Alexis Hofmeister, Wolfgang Kaschuba, Martin Kindermann, Nora Lafi, Ruth Leiserowitz, Diana I. Popescu, Monica Rűthers, Anne-Christin Sař, Joachim Schlör, Magdalena Waligowska, Mirjam Zadoff, 2015-09-22 The unifying thread of the interdisciplinary volume Jewish and Non Jewish Spaces in the Urban Context is the fact that Jewish spaces are almost always generated in relation to non Jewish spaces they determine and influence each other This general phenomenon will be scrutinized and put to the test again and again in a varied collection of articles by international experienced researchers as well as junior scholars using various urban contexts and discourses as data From the viewpoints of different temporal and regional research traditions and disciplines the contributors deal with the question of how Jewish and non Jewish spaces are imagined constructed negotiated and intertwined All examples and case studies together create a mosaic of possibilities for the construction of Jewish and non Jewish spaces in different settings The list of examined topics ranges from synagogues to ghettos from urban neighborhoods to caf s and festivals from art to literature

This diversity makes the volume a challenging effort of giving an overview of the current academic discussion in Europe and beyond. Although the majority of the contributions are focused on Central and Eastern Europe, a more general tendency becomes apparent in all articles: the negotiation of urban spaces seems to be a complex and ambivalent process in which a large number of participants are involved. In this regard, the volume would also like to contribute to transdisciplinary urban studies and critical research on spatial relations.

Encyclopedia of Modern Architecture Wolfgang Pehnt, 1964

Hope as Atmosphere Xu Wang, 2022-07-11

In this thesis, the phenomenon of fundamental hope is understood as atmosphere. As a metaphor, hope as atmosphere finds a new expression of hope other than the light metaphor that dominates the discourse of hope. Hope is not only the light that illuminates the dark moments of life but also, more fundamentally, in the air it lies in the sphere in between and saturates each life experience and every living moment. As an existential reality, hope as atmosphere reveals our hopeful way of atmospheric coexistence. Communal love constitutes the ground of this hopeful coexistence; it keeps the hopeful coexistence constantly refreshed and open, guaranteeing more possibilities of hope. On the basis of communal love, hopeful coexistence shows its ontological meaning as a way towards life. The thesis of hope as atmosphere finds resonance and expression not only in Christian trinitarianly based understanding of hope but also in the most central doctrine of cohumanity in Confucianism.

Society And Space Nihal Perera, 1998-04-02

Here, author Nihal Perera traces the historical construction of contemporary social space in Sri Lanka through the lens of successively colonized and decolonized then postcolonial spatial transformations. Perera argues that the politics governing the construction of space is of primary importance for those seeking to understand a particular society and culture.
