European Integration and the Governance of Higher Education and Research Alberto Amaral, Guy Neave, Christine Musselin, Peter Maassen, 2009-10-03 The high level Douro seminars are now a well established tradition in the annual activities promoted by Hedda a European consortium of nine centres and institutes devoted to research on higher education and CIPES its Portuguese associated centre At the seminars each member of a small group of invited researchers presents and discusses an original research based paper that is revised afterwards taking into account the comments of the participating colleagues The revised papers form the basis for the annual thematic book published by Springer in the book series called Higher Education Dynamics HEDY Paying tribute to the regularity of the seminars it was decided that the volumes originating from the initiative would be collected in a series in the series called the Douro Series Previous seminars were dedicated to in depth analyses of different aspects of higher education systems and institutions including institutional governance the emergence of managerialism markets as instruments of public policy cost sharing and accessibility of students to higher education and developments in quality assurance The present volume aims at analysing the change process which the European university is undergoing as a consequence of European integration efforts In the case of higher education these have materialised amongst other things in the implementation of the Bologna process while the Lisbon summit also has important consequences for the university In March 2000 the Lisbon European Council set the goal for the EU to become the most competitive and dynamic knowledge based society in the world by 2010 Academic

Identities—Academic Challenges? American and European Experience of the Transformation of Higher Education and Research

Tor Halvorsen, Atle Nyhagen, 2011-10-18 The university in Europe as a central institution of society is presently met with many new expectations challenging established practices and self understandings of academics across Europe In the European Union the higher education and research system has become a foremost tool of change Current reforms across national higher education systems are seen as a potential for creating a European Higher Education Area as well as an opportunity to introduce EU policies and ideas addressing how reforms can contribute to promote this as an EU dimension An argument that only reforms of the higher education institution in particular the research university as a European institution can make Europe regain its competitive force and economic growth potential has gained currency in the last decade with reference to the US The university system of the US particularly its highly regarded elite universities is also held forth as a model for the developments in the EU and thus for the reforms of the different countries of EU In this book however it is demonstrated that much of the political rhetoric about the construction of the future knowledge economy of Europe and the promotion of a European Higher Education Area may contradict basic values that give Europe its identity as a cultural region Promoting the US university as an ideal model does not do justice to the kind of problems the US is facing in their own reform efforts nor does it reflect properly the social costs of copying such an elite system The book raises a number of issues relating to elitism and democracy internationalisation and regionalisation and new forms of governance in higher education and research which current EU policies seem to neglect

The Modernisation of European Universities Kwiek Marek, Kurkiewicz Andrzej, 2012-09-26 The recent decade brought about new ways of thinking about universities European level educational policies became increasingly influential as the agenda of university reforms was viewed as part of greater Lisbon strategy reforms National governments adopted the economic concept of the university consistently developed in subsequent official documents of the European Commission The EU member states currently need to balance their educational policies between the requirements of policies promoted by the EU and the requirements of their national systems Additionally the national educational policies are under high pressure due to globalisation European universities and European academics operate in the midst of these large scale changes Their interpretations of and their responses to what is termed the modernisation agenda of European universities are at the core of this volume

Higher Education Martin Trow, 2010-06-28 Abstract

Higher Education in Portugal 1974-2009 Guy Neave, Alberto Amaral, 2011-12-20 A comprehensive wide ranging and detailed account of the unfolding of higher education and higher education policy in Portugal from 1974 to 2009 by leading policy makers and scholars with the explicit purpose of showing how different disciplinary canons and perspectives contribute to the study of higher education and higher education policy including Law and Science Policy perspectives Whilst focusing on one referential system this book deals with current policy issues emerging in the wake of the post Bologna period It also examines their long term historical origins in addition to the measures taken to address them The substantive chapters are preceded by a detailed Introductory overview that places the issues treated in this volume in a solidly European perspective and sets out explicitly the differences in the dominant political cultural and social values that set Portuguese as other Continental European systems of higher education apart from their Anglo Saxon counterparts

Christian Higher Education Joel Carpenter, Perry L. Glanzer, Nicholas S. The Geography of Creativity Gunnar Törnqvist, 2011-01-01 Gunnar Törnqvist one of the world's most distinguished economic geographers can fairly claim to have discovered the notion of the geography of creativity over thirty years ago This remarkable book summarises his immensely original and important research on the subject which now dominates the geographical literature It is the book that the world has been waiting for him to publish Sir Peter Hall University College London UK This book offers a comprehensive perspective on the salience of context in fostering or hindering creativity After several decades of research and teaching Gunnar Törnqvist has become a foremost authority on the subject Here his elegant conceptual overview is complemented by a methodologically innovative scrutiny of career journeys including those of Nobel Prize laureates The Geography of Creativity will be warmly welcomed by not only cultural geographers but also by scholars in various fields of social science and humanities Anne Buttner University College Dublin Ireland What is creativity and who exactly is creative In this insightful and highly readable book Gunnar Törnqvist attempts to answer these questions by arguing that geographical milieux are hotbeds for creativity and renewal places where pioneers in art technology and science have gathered and developed their special abilities In light of ongoing social and economic transformations special attention is paid to the institutional settings in firms and universities The goal is to identify those features which facilitate and those which impede the creative process Individual lives are illustrated through the autobiographies of hundreds of Nobel Laureates Their life paths reveal the importance of geographic mobility and contact patterns for the development of creativity and international prestige From these biographies we can also see how local millieux and schools have influenced many scientists The Geography of Creativity will be of great benefit to academics and students in regional science economic geography and economics

University Adaptation in Difficult Economic Times Paola Mattei, 2014-04-02 Financial sustainability is one of the key challenges confronting Europe's universities today Despite the fact that universities are at the centre of knowledge creation and development which itself is seen as one of the main engines of economic growth public funding of higher education in most countries is not increasing or at least not increasing enough in real terms Democratisation of higher education has led to the fact that the higher education budgets per student are relatively low in most European countries compared to Europe's competitors Despite declarations of intent to increase spending on higher education and research it is not very likely that public expenditure will grow significantly on average in Europe and therefore be able to keep up with rapidly inflating costs in the years to come One of the reasons for this is that higher education and research have to compete with other priorities in public budgets e.g. security health etc Furthermore the recent economic downturn has contributed to the decision in many European countries to decrease the levels of investment in higher education and research Such trends are particularly worrisome for universities across Europe whose continuing dependence on public funding puts their future sustainability under pressure New funding schemes and incentives have been discussed and introduced in many European higher education systems including competitive funding schemes for research under the name of excellence policies Despite the different national institutional configurations in Europe higher education systems face similar demands of promoting sustainable funding models maintaining high academic standards and equality Thus financial sustainability is not an end in itself it aims to ensure that the public university's goals are reached by guaranteeing that the institution produces sufficient income to enable it to invest in high quality education and produce equitable outcomes For these reasons this book analyses funding reforms from a multidimensional approach

International Handbook of Comparative Education Robert Cowen, Andreas M. Kazamias, 2009-08-22 A big project like this Handbook means that you incur debts and not only to your authors and your publisher As editors we along with our colleague Elaine Unterhalter who edited the section on postcolonialism would like to thank most warmly those authors who delivered on time and who did not fuss but just got on and did a rate job We would also like to thank all authors who did deliver which was almost everyone we asked We know that some of our authors worked in very difficult private circumstances as they were finishing their chapters and we hope the publication of the Volumes will later be for them a happy reminder of difficulties and disasters overcome The only sad theme is that some very close colleagues with whom we were working and for whom we had the greatest respect and liking became very ill and died while the volumes were being prepared We decided to ask for copyright permissions to publish something of theirs These permissions were graciously given by two major journals and with the agreement also of our publishers Springer Rolland Paulston and Terry McLaughlin have examples of their writing in this Handbook

University Dynamics and European Integration Peter Maassen, Johan P. Olsen, 2007-07-23 This book explores the visions underlying the attempts to reform the European University as well as two European integration processes It presents a framework for analyzing ongoing modernization reforms and reform debates that take place at various governance levels and a long term research agenda It convincingly argues why the knowledge basis under the current University reforms in Europe should be considerably strengthened

Clark Kerr's World of Higher Education Reaches the 21st Century Sheldon Rothblatt, 2012-06-23 This volume consists of original essays by academic leaders and scholars connected to Clark Kerr's life and work He was arguably America's most significant higher education thinker and public policy analyst in the last 50 years of the 20th century and renowned globally However little thoughtful attention has been devoted to assessing the whole of his work Some commentators misunderstand the man as well as his ideas The California Master Plan for Higher Education of 1960 was one of his famous undertakings as was his part in shaping the multi campus University of California towards global eminence He coined the word multiversity to describe what he called the uses of the university but began to think it had become much too multi Some of his most important work was as director of the Carnegie Commission on Higher Education and the Carnegie Council on Policy Studies in Higher Education which laid the foundation for sophisticated policy making The contributors honor the achievements of a remarkable man and provide portraits of him but of equal importance are their critical discussions of the sources of his thinking his attempts to balance access and merit in mass higher education circumstances the policy issues that he confronted and the success of their resolution For many of the contributors Kerr's work is the starting point for understanding policy issues in varying regional and national contexts Often thought to be a social scientist eager to keep abreast of trends Kerr was actually au fond a moralist and surprisingly old fashioned in his personal values
