Europeanisation And The Transformation Of States:

Europeanisation and the Transformation of EU Security Policy Petros Violakis, 2018-05-15 The aim of this study is to examine the extent to which the end of the Cold War led to Europeanisation in the Common Security and Defence Policy (CSDP). The analysis takes into consideration previous studies on Europeanisation and its impact on the transformation of national security and defence and attempts to account for the development of Europeanisation and related mechanisms. These mechanisms, which have been described as framing mechanisms and negative integration, incorporate all the major relevant factors identified here: i.e. a common Strategic Culture, new security identity, domestic political decision making, industrial base and defence spending decline that contributed to the realisation of the CSDP. The relevance of these factors for CSDP Europeanisation is examined through an historical and empirical analysis and the relationship between the CSDP and North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) is also explored. This approach facilitates analysis of the debate concerning the emergence of the CSDP and throws light on the political shift that led European Union (EU) leaders to support the CSDP. Another aspect of this study is the empirical examination of the dynamics and limitations of the European defence sector. The changes which took place in this sector facilitated the emergence of the CSDP and are therefore analysed in the light of globalisation issues: economies of scale, economic crises, military autonomy, new security strategy and Research and Development (R & D) impact. This book will be of interest to students of European security, EU politics, defence studies and International Relations.

The Elgar Companion to the European Union Samuel B.H. Faure, Christian Lequesne, 2023-01-20 Constituting a major contribution to literature on the EU, this comprehensive Companion analyses the structure and value of the EU, capturing the normality of its politics alongside crises and political breakdown.

The Politics of Europeanisation Nazlı Kazanoğlu, 2021-05-03 With the dramatic changes in the extent to which women and men contribute to unpaid domestic work and paid employment work and family life reconciliation has become more prominent than ever on the European Union agenda. This comparative study examines the Europeanisation patterns of work and family life reconciliation policies in a longstanding candidate country (Turkey) and a founding member state (Germany) over the last decade, with a particular emphasis on intervening domestic actors and factors. Combining Europeanisation literature and New Institutionalism theory, it draws on document analysis and interviews with EU representatives, German and Turkish political elites and representatives of civil society organisations to shed light on the diverging nature of the Europeanisation process in different countries. A study of the influence of local actors on the push for stronger convergence among member and candidate states on EU work and family life reconciliation policies. The Politics of Europeanisation will appeal to social scientists with interests in social policy, gender studies, EU politics and the Europeanisation process.

The Europeanisation of Citizenship Governance in South-East Europe Jelena Dzankic, Simonida Kacarska, Natasa Pantic, 2017-10-02 This book looks at how Europeanisation affects the link between citizenship and governance in and across the new states of South East Europe.

Contributors unpack the intimate relationship between the European Union national governments and citizens through a tripartite model that captures the uneven and diversified effects of Europeanisation on the governance of citizenship related policy areas. Reflecting on the meaning of governance in different contexts this book invites the readers to reconsider the terms and concepts that are commonly used for studying the consolidation of new states. By doing so it directs attention to the transformative power of European integration not only on modes of governance but also on practices and experiences of citizenship. Individual chapters are paired to examine three policy areas that are to a different degree affected by the requirements of European Union accession. Combining analysis of policy frameworks with assessment of their impact the contributors highlight that the impact of Europeanisation can be located on a continuum stretching from strongest in matters regarding justice and home affairs to moderate in general issues of social policy to weakest in transforming citizenship through education policies. This book was originally published as a special issue of European Politics and Society Turkey's Road to European Union Membership Susannah Verney, Kostas Ifantis, 2013-09-13. Enlargement to Turkey is arguably the greatest challenge facing the European Union today. After the narrowly averted train crash over Cyprus in 2006 the second election victory of the Justice and Development Party in July 2007 opened new prospects for Turkish EU relations. But in an EU emphasising a collective identity based on shared civilisational values Turkey's European credentials have been increasingly called into question. Amending national identity through political change has become the key to the success or failure of the Turkish integration project. This volume examines the EU role in strengthening the domestic pro reform coalition within Turkey the paradox and potential limits of Turkey's europeanising Islamists and the impact of Europeanisation through conditionality including a case study of Turkish policy towards the Cyprus Question. Also addressed are the Western stereotypes of Turkish identity influencing the country's EU prospects notably concerning the role of Islam in precipitating acts of political violence and its association with sexual and political violence in the discourse of European opponents of Turkish accession. Finally the dynamics of EU accession negotiations are analysed and the potential role of a norm driven rhetorical strategy in promoting Turkish accession as a moral and democratic imperative is discussed.

Europeanisation, National Identities and Migration Willfried Spohn, Anna Triandafyllidou, 2003-08-29. This book provides theoretical and empirical discussion of migration identity and Europeanisation. With contributions from leading international scholars it provides both an overview of theoretical perspectives and a comprehensive set of case studies covering both Eastern and Western Europe. Contributors draw from disciplines such as historical sociology discourse analysis social psychology and migration studies while the editors bring these subjects into a coherent theoretical and historical framework to discuss the emergence of new collective identities and new borders in Europe today. Europeanisation of Public Policy in Southern Europe Canan Balkir, H. Tolga Bolukbasi, Ebru Ertugal, 2015-09-07. Large or small old EU member or new and even EU member state or not political economies across Southern Europe have been increasingly but distinctively

Europeanised In political public and scholarly debates on processes of Europeanisation Southern Europe invariably features as the area of concern These concerns have been all the more heightened when the current sovereign debt crisis disproportionately hit this flaky fringe This volume systematically investigates the dynamics of Europeanisation in the Southern Periphery by tracing the domestic constellations of ideas interests and institutions over the course of the 2000s which came to a close with the crisis Bringing together a multidisciplinary team of leading specialists the volume focuses on the political economy of public policy reform in Greece Italy Malta Portugal Spain and Turkey In order to allow for cross case comparisons these original country studies follow a common template framed by what the Editors call the Europeanisation as research programme The volume casts empirical light on the causes of the crisis in these cases as well as the past legacies conditioning their responses to the crisis Its conclusions point to variegated patterns of Europeanisation in different policy areas across Southern Europe This volume will be of interest to students and scholars of European integration European political economy European public policy and comparative politics as well as specialists of Southern Europe This book was published as a special issue of South European Society and Politics European Integration, Processes of Change and the National Experience S. Börner, M. Eigmüller, 2015-06-02 In order to better understand processes of European integration this book offers a new perspective that compares past experiences of change to current transitional moments at the European level It addresses key questions about European society EU integration and social change to reveal the social construction of emergent polities and societies Ideas and Welfare State Reform in Western Europe P. Taylor-Gooby, 2005-08-02 The new welfare settlement in Europe involves a re direction of policy in the context of a unified market and currency system and of more stringent economic competition Realignment of the policy assumptions and goals of the key actors is central to this process This book reviews the main policy paradigms and analyzes the processes whereby they have changed in the most salient policy areas and is based on recent interviews with more than two hundred and fifty senior policy actors in seven West European countries European Research Reloaded: Cooperation and Integration among Europeanized States Ronald Holzacker, Markus Haverland, 2006-09-01 The Three Waves of European Research European cooperation and integration has continued to progress forward over the past five decades with an ever deepening impact on the member states The first wave of research into these processes concerned European integration the process of institution building and policy developments at the European Union EU level The second wave on Europeanization used integration as an explanatory factor in understanding domestic political change and continuity related to the EU What is now necessary is to link our understanding of these bottom up and top down processes of integration and Europeanization in the EU This book argues that a third wave of research on the EU is needed to adequately understand the increased interconnectedness between the European and national political levels We posit that this third wave should be sensitive to the temporal dimension of European integration and Europeanization In particular we seek to link the processes of European integration and

Europeanization in a new way by asking the question how has Europeanization affected current modes of integration and cooperation in the EU Part I Europeanization of the Member States Preparing the ground for the third wave the first part of the book concerns Europeanization In order to fully understand the feedback of Europeanization on cooperation and integration it is important to analyze how European integration has had an impact on member states in the first place in particular indirectly beyond the direct mechanism of compliance with European policies

The Europeanisation of Contested Statehood George Kyris,2016-03-09 The Europeanisation of Contested Statehood The EU in northern Cyprus acts as a case study of the impact of the EU on institutions political parties and civil society in contested states self declared states which remain unrecognised in world politics Research drawn from qualitative analysis of official documents public discourse and interviews with various officials and political and social elites within the EU and at a local level provides new insights as to the impact of the EU on northern Cyprus as well as a fresh understanding of the relevance of the EU to contested states in general By doing so the book reflects on what contested statehood means for Europeanisation and lays out a conceptual template for the study of contested states of the wider European periphery such as those in the Caucasus Transnistria Kosovo or the occupied Palestinian territories which continue to represent specific challenges to the international affairs of the EU

Europeanisation and Foreign Policy Juha Jokela,2010-12-14 This book examines the relationship between the European Union EU and its member states by analysing how the process of integration in the field of foreign policy is shaping member states identities Focusing on the mutually constitutive aspects of the relationship between the EU and its member states Jokela argues that we need discourse analytic and comparative tools for analysing foreign policy in the EU context and draws on the contributions of poststructural international relations Providing empirically rich and comparative case studies that explore the impact of europeanization of foreign and security policy on Finnish and British foreign policy discourses as well as these states identities Jokela generates detailed knowledge about the interplay of national and supranational foreign policy discourses Making an important contribution to europeanization studies foreign policy analysis and discourse analysis this book will be of strong interest to students and scholars of European politics comparative politics foreign policy and international relations

The European Union and the Return of the Nation State Antonina Bakardjieva Engelbrekt,Karin Leijon,Anna Michalski,Lars Oxelheim,2020-01-22 This book explores the complex and ever changing relationship between the European Union and its member states The recent surge in tension in this relationship has been prompted by the actions of some member state governments as they question fundamental EU values and principles and refuse to implement common decisions seemingly on the basis of narrowly defined national interests Furthermore Brexit forces the EU for the first time to face the prospect of a major member state preparing to leave the Union Are these developments heralding the return of the nation state and if so in what form Is the national revival a lasting phenomenon that will affect the EU for a long time to come or is it a transitory trend This book takes an interdisciplinary approach to answer these questions It brings together scholars from economics law and political science to provide insights into the multifaceted relations between the Union and its member states from different perspectives All chapters are based on up to date research findings succinct assessments of the current state of affairs and ongoing debates about the direction of European integration The book concludes by offering policy recommendations at European and national levels
