Evaluating Writing An Evaluation Program:

Evaluating Writing, 1994 Fixit is a program which teachers tutors and therapists can use themselves or direct others to use for help in solving mechanical problems in writing Evaluating Writing Dave Marks, 2007-03 Evaluating Writing is a companion book to the award winning Writing Strands curriculum for homeschoolers The book teaches parents how to provide supportive and effective feedback on writing assignments It includes information on common conditions that make teaching composition difficult and on common writing problems examples of feedback on real assignments explanations of drafting and spelling rules This information is essential to parents working with the Writing Strands series but anyone responsible for providing feedback on written works would benefit from this book as well provided by Amazon Evaluating College Writing Programs Stephen Paul Witte, Lester Faigley, 1983 Noting that present evaluation systems are so limited that they are neither reliable nor valid this monograph critically reviews studies designed to evaluate composition programs at four major universities The book offers theoretical and practical guidance through discussion of generalities from the four studies and pertinent questions and guidance to evaluators of composition programs The first chapter looks at the state of the art of evaluating writing programs discussing the need for such evaluation and at two dominant approaches to writing program evaluation The second chapter discusses a quantitative model of writing program evaluation in terms of four university studies giving an overview of the dominant quantitative approach Chapter 3 discusses a framework for evaluating college writing programs including five components of writing program evaluation and the final chapter discusses accommodating context and change in writing program evaluation HTH Evaluating Health Promotion Programs Thomas W. Valente, 2002-02-07 This is a comprehensive guide to the frameworks theories and methods used to evaluate health promotion programs The book builds on the author's experience in evaluating health communication projects in the US and developing countries and in teaching evaluation to graduate level students in public health It will be useful both to students and to researchers and practitioners involved in all types of evaluation activities The chapters are divided into three sections Part I covers health promotion frameworks and theories formative research and process evaluation methods Part II deals with study designs the techniques to determine sample selection and size writing questionnaires constructing scales and managing data Part III uses data from a national campaign to illustrate methods for impact evaluation including basic and advanced statistical analysis This text provides the tools needed to understand how and why evaluations are conducted and it will serve as a reference for evaluators It covers every aspect of the research and evaluation activities needed to assess a health promotion program Evaluating Service Learning Activities and Programs David A. Payne, 2000 Uses an extended case study to guide teachers through evaluation of service learning outcomes and their relevance to the curriculum Covers the evaluation process from question formulation to instrumentation data collection and application Current professional practices are emphasized throughout Includes a list of state organizations supporting service learning and some 40 pages of
