

Assessment Plan for Literature and Language BA

Notes:

1. Since students should attain these outcomes by the time they complete the program, we will be asking those teaching 4000-level classes to give us information at the end of the course.
2. Since we have multiple methods of assessment for each outcome, not all classes have to use each method listed.
3. However, there must be one assessment for each outcome.

Student Learning Outcome	Methods of Assessment
Critical Reading and Interpretation  Students will demonstrate close readings and analytical interpretations of diverse texts; will demonstrate their abilities to discuss diverse texts with discipline-specific language; and will be able to situate diverse texts within historical, cultural, and generic contexts.	<ol style="list-style-type: none"><li>1. Class discussions (participate in academically based class discussions).</li><li>2. Group work (contribute to various group-work activities, e.g. discussion questions; creative role-playing scenarios; historical and cultural investigations).</li><li>3. Invention and heuristic assignments (e.g., free writing, outlining, brainstorming).</li></ol>
Communication through Composition  Students will write academically and analytically in response to their readings of diverse texts, supporting interpretative positions with examples, explanations, and textual evidence, and using the field's conventions of style and documentation.	<ol style="list-style-type: none"><li>1. Primary source essays (interpretative discourse using correctly integrated textual evidence and analytical explanations).</li><li>2. Peer review (exchanging work-in-progress discourse with classmates for review and recommendations for revisions or re-writings).</li><li>3. Revision (using feedback to guide strategies of strengthening and clarifying the writing, to re-work the essay's style, format, mechanics, and citations).</li></ol>
Research  Students will show capabilities in using appropriate online databases and library resources, and in the methods of conducting discipline-appropriate research; will correctly integrate researched resources into their interpretative and analytical compositions; and will demonstrate an ability to use various critical strategies and theoretical paradigms in responding to literature.	<ol style="list-style-type: none"><li>1. Annotated bibliographies and/or book reviews</li><li>2. Research presentations, individually or in groups.</li><li>3. Researched essays (analytical discourse using correctly integrated textual evidence and secondary researched scholarship).</li></ol>

ITNG 2022 19th International Conference on Information Technology-New Generations Shahram Latifi, 2022-05-03

This volume represents the 19th International Conference on Information Technology New Generations ITNG 2022. ITNG is an annual event focusing on state-of-the-art technologies pertaining to digital information and communications. The applications of advanced information technology to such domains as astronomy, biology, education, geosciences, security, and health care are among topics of relevance to ITNG. Visionary ideas, theoretical and experimental results, as well as prototypes, designs, and tools that help the information readily flow to the user are of special interest. Machine Learning, Robotics, High Performance Computing, and Innovative Methods of Computing are examples of related topics. The conference features keynote speakers, a best student award, poster award, and service award. This publication is unique as it captures modern trends in IT with a balance of theoretical and experimental work. Most other work focuses either on theoretical or experimental but not both. Accordingly, we do not know of any competitive literature.
