Everyday Acts Against Racism Raising Children In A Multiracial World:

Everyday Acts Against Racism Maureen T. Reddy, 1996 A book of essays by mothers and teachers Everyday Acts Against Racism examines the effects of racism on our children and communities and suggests ways we can end our society's racial stratification Writing from many cultural perspectives the contributors provide provocative commentaries on the realities of racial intolerance and their own experiences in fighting racism Raising Biracial Children Kerry Ann Rockquemore, Tracey A. Laszloffy, 2005-11-10 As the multiracial population in the United States continues to rise new models for our understanding of mixed race children and how their conception of racial identity must be developed A wide divide between academics who research biracial identity and the everyday world of parents and practitioners who raise and deal with mixed race children exists This book aims to fill this gap by providing an extensive synthesis of the existing research in the field as well as a model for better understanding the unique process of racial identity development for mixed race children Raising Biracial Children provides parents educators social workers and anyone interested in multiracial issues with an accessible framework for understanding healthy mixed race identity development and to translate those findings into practical care giving strategies Raising Kids in the 21st Century Sharon K. Hall, 2009-02-17 An easy to read guide on raising emotionally healthy children that is based on sound psychological research The book's format makes it a good choice for students parents or practitioners Focuses on seven key areas of child development in raising psychologically healthy children Paints an overall picture of the skills children need to become functioning adults through translating the latest scientific research into workable guidelines Explores how early cognitive and social development is linked to universal issues of tolerance sexism and racism Written in a language suitable for the student or general reader A useful resource for clinicians to share with families under their care Our Black Sons Matter George Yancy, Maria del Guadalupe Davidson, Susan Hadley, 2016-10-17 Our Black Sons Matter is a powerful collection of original essays letters and poems that addresses both the deep joys and the very real challenges of raising black boys today From Trayvon Martin to Tamir Rice the list of young black men who have suffered racial violence continues to grow Young black people also deal with profound stereotypes and structural barriers And yet young black men are often paradoxically revered as icons of cultural cool Our Black Sons Matter features contributions from women across the racial spectrum who are raising or have raised black sons whether biologically their sons or not The book courageously addresses painful trauma challenges assumptions and offers insights and hope through the deep bonds between mothers and their children Both a collective testimony and a collective love letter Our Black Sons Matter sends the message that black lives matter and speaks with the universal love of all mothers who fear for the lives of their children Contributions by Jacki Lynn Baynks Shelly Bell Deborah Binkley Jackson Meta G Carstarphen LaMar Delandro Gretchen Givens Generett Jane Anna Gordon Farah Jasmine Griffin Maria del Guadalupe Davidson Susan Hadley Carol E Henderson Dawn Herd Clark Elisheba Johnson Heather Johnson Newtona Tina Johnson Jane

Craddock, 2009 Travel with revered preacher and author Fred Craddock through his early years as he considers what made him take to the pulpit For some reason I felt I had to say Yes or No to the ministry so I could feel free again My siblings and friends talked almost casually about options and preferences as to careers but with no evident sense of urgency Not so with me I did not then nor do I now know whether the burden of choice was a trait of personality a kind of super conscientiousness whether the calling to ministry itself carried a weight a burden peculiar to the task itself Rightly or wrongly when I thought of possibly becoming a journalist that would be a choice 100 percent mine When I considered becoming a minister that was not totally my decision I was responding to God s will for me Of course I had been told that journalists lawyers teachers merchants farmers all could understand their lives as a vocation a calling but what I am telling you is that I perceived I felt I experienced the idea of being a preacher as different and that difference was sobering even burdensome That s why advice about not being in a hurry taking my time was not helpful even if wise If it was my decision why could I not make it now if it was God s decision why did not God tell me or at least tell my father or my mother I prayed for the ache to leave me Excerpt from Reflections on My Call to Preach

Mothering Queerly, Queering Motherhood Shelley M. Park, 2013-03-11 Bridging the gap between feminist studies of motherhood and queer theory Mothering Queerly Queering Motherhood articulates a provocative philosophy of queer kinship that need not be rooted in lesbian or gay sexual identities Working from an interdisciplinary framework that incorporates feminist philosophy and queer psychoanalytic poststructuralist and postcolonial theories Shelley M Park offers a powerful critique of an ideology she terms monomaternism Despite widespread cultural insistence that every child should have one and only one real mother many contemporary family constellations do not fit this mandate Park highlights the negative consequences of this ideology and demonstrates how families created through open adoption same sex parenting divorce and plural marriage can be sites of resistance Drawing from personal experiences as both an adoptive and a biological mother and juxtaposing these autobiographical reflections with critical readings of cultural texts representing multi mother families Park advocates a new understanding of postmodern families as potentially queer coalitional assemblages held together by a mixture of affection and critical reflection premised on difference

Early Childhood Education Moncrieff Cochran, Rebecca S. New, 2007-01-30 Early childhood education has reached a level of unprecedented national and international focus Parents policy makers and politicians have opinions as well as new questions about what how when and where young children should learn Teachers and program administrators now find curriculum discussions linked to dramatic new understandings about children s early learning and brain development Early childhood education is also a major topic of concern internationally as social policy analysts point to its role in a nation s future economic outlook As a groundbreaking contribution to its field this four volume handbook discusses key historical and contemporary issues research theoretical perspectives national policies and practices

family communication affects our understanding of race and race relations For scholars studying diversity issues intercultural communication family communication and related areas      Good White People Shannon Sullivan,2014-05-15 Argues for the necessity of a new ethos for middle class white anti racism Building on her book Revealing Whiteness Shannon Sullivan identifies a constellation of attitudes common among well meaning white liberals that she sums up as white middle class goodness an orientation she critiques for being more concerned with establishing anti racist bona fides than with confronting systematic racism and privilege Sullivan untangles the complex relationships between class and race in contemporary white identity and outlines four ways this orientation is expressed each serving to establish one's lack of racism the denigration of lower class white people as responsible for ongoing white racism the demonization of antebellum slaveholders an emphasis on colorblindness especially in the context of white childrearing and the cultivation of attitudes of white guilt shame and betrayal To move beyond these distancing strategies Sullivan argues white people need a new ethos that acknowledges and transforms their whiteness in the pursuit of racial justice rather than seeking a self righteous distance from it      The Truth That Never Hurts 25th anniversary edition Barbara Smith,2023-10-13 Read an excerpt Chicago Firsthand click here Barbara Smith has been doing groundbreaking work since the early 1970s describing a Black feminism for Black women Her work in Black women's literary traditions in examining the sexual politics of the lives of women of color in representing the lives of Black lesbians and gay men and in making connections between race class sexuality and gender is gathered in The Truth That Never Hurts This collection contains some of her major essays on Black women's literature Black lesbian writing racism in the women's movement Black Jewish relations and homophobia in the Black community Her forays into these areas ignited dialogue about topics that few other writers were addressing at the time and which sadly remain pertinent to this day This twenty fifth anniversary edition in a beautiful new package also contains the essays from the original about the 1968 Chicago convention demonstrations attacks on the NEA the Anita Hill Clarence Thomas Senate hearings and police brutality against Rodney King and Abner Louima which after twenty five years still have the urgency they did when they were first written      Matricentric Feminism: Theory, Activism, Practice. The 2nd Edition Andrea O'Reilly,2021-04-04 The 2nd edition includes a new preface that considers how matricentric feminism in positioning mothering as a verb affords a gender neutral understanding of motherwork and allows for an appreciation of how motherwork is deeply gendered and how this may be challenged and changed through empowered mothering The book argues that the category of mother is distinct from the category of woman and that many of the problems mothers face are specific to women's role and identity as mothers Indeed mothers are oppressed under patriarchy as women and as mothers Consequently mothers need a feminism of their own one that positions mothers concerns as the starting point for a theory and politic of empowerment O'Reilly terms this new mode of feminism matricentric feminism and the book explores how it is represented and experienced in theory activism and practice      How To Say It (R) To Girls Nancy Gruver,2004-10-05 The expert guide to girl talk How to Say It r to Girls provides a wellspring of practical advice for parents on how to broach uncomfortable subjects with girls of all ages or how to simply open the lines of communication This book offers concrete words phrases and sample dialogues to help parents figure out what to say and how best to say it Mixed Race Amnesia Minelle Mahtani, 2014-11-10 Mixed Race Amnesia is an ambitious and critical look at how multiraciality is experienced in the global north Drawing on a series of interviews acclaimed geographer Minelle Mahtani explores some of the assumptions and attitudes people have around multiraciality She discovers that in Canada at least people of mixed race are often romanticized as being the embodiment of a post racial future an ideal that is supported by government policy and often internalized by people of mixed race As Mahtani reveals this superficial celebration of multiraciality is often done without any acknowledgment of the freight and legacy of historical racisms Consequently a strategic and collective amnesia is taking place one where complex diasporic and family histories are being lost while colonial legacies are being reinforced Mahtani argues that in response a new anti colonial approach to multiraciality is needed and she equips her readers with the analytical tools to do this A Promise and a Way of Life Becky W. Thompson, 2001 Beginning with the diverse catalysts that started these activists on their journeys this book demonstrates the contributions and limitations of white antiracism in key social justice movements BOOK JACKET MultiCultural Review, 2005 Women and Children First Sharon M. Meagher, Patrice DiQuinzio, 2012-02-01 This diverse collection explores the rhetoric of a wide range of public policies that propose to put women and children first including homeland security school violence gun control medical intervention of intersex infants and policies that aim to distinguish good from bad mothers Using various feminist philosophical analyses the contributors uncover a logic of paternalistic treatment of women and children that purports to protect them but almost always also disempowers them and sometimes harms them This logic is widespread in contemporary popular policy discourse and affects the way that people understand and respond to social and political issues Contributors rethink basic philosophical assumptions concerning subjectivity difference and dualistic logic in order to read the rhetoric of contemporary public policy discourse and develop new ways of talking and acting in the policy domain Gender, Agency and War Tina Managhan, 2012-01-30 This book traces practices of militarization and resistance that have emerged under the sign of motherhood in US Foreign Policy Gender Agency and War examines this discourse against the background of three key moments of American foreign policy formation the anti nuclear movement of the 1980s the Gulf War of the early 1990s and the recent invasion of Iraq For each of these moments the author explores the emergence of a historically specific and emblematic maternalized mode of female embodiment ranging from the hysterical antinuclear protester to the figure of Supermom in order to shed light onto the various practices which define and enable expressions of American sovereignty In so doing the text argues that the emergence of particular raced gendered and maternalized bodies ought not to be read as merely tangential to affairs of state but as instantiations of global politics This work urges an approach that rereads the body as an event with significant implications for the ways in which international politics and gender are currently understood

This book will be of much interest to students of gender politics critical security studies US foreign policy and IR in general
