Tomlin,2000 How exactly do countries negotiate major international agreements Until now reliably impartial accounts of how deals are made have been rare and usually describe only one side of a multiparty process Here Maxwell Cameron and Brian Tomlin provide the first full three country account of the negotiations surrounding the controversial North American Free Trade Agreement which went into effect on January 1 1994 Through extensive interviews with participants from all sides Cameron and Tomlin develop a detailed picture of the process by which the United States Mexico and Canada pursued closer economic relations and of the political realities that influenced the politicians and policymakers in each country Written in an engaging and accessible style The Making of NAFTA is a faithful account built on insider views of how the representatives of the three countries prepared for negotiated and implemented the agreement Cameron and Tomlin show how NAFTA was influenced by the personalities and the multiple sometimes conflicting objectives of the individuals involved They also explore what the negotiations can reveal more generally about the making of public policy and the importance of international negotiations

Trade, Employment, and Adjustment Charles S. Pearson,Gerry Salembier,1983 Targeting High-growth Industry Roy Edwin George,1983 From the back cover The question of an industrial strategy for Canada has had a prominent place in Canadian debate for many years Most recently there have been several advocates for adoption in Canada of a strategy of picking winners This means identifying and providing government support to industries with a high growth potential As a corollary it means not providing support to industries deemed to be non winners Professor George has approached the question by undertaking an examination of Canadian experience to date along with an examination of the experiences several other countries have had with a strategy of targetting high growth industries He brings to light information Canadian policy makers should take into account if they contemplate adopting such a strategy for Canada
