Women, Infanticide and the Press, 1822-1922 Nicola Goc, 2016-02-17 In her study of anonymous infanticide news stories that appeared from 1822 to 1922 in the heart of the British Empire in regional Leicester and in the penal colony of Australia Nicola Goc uses Critical Discourse Analysis to reveal both the broader patterns and the particular rhetorical strategies journalists used to report on young women who killed their babies Her study takes Foucault s perspective that the production of knowledge of facts and truth claims and the exercise of power are inextricably connected to discourse Newspaper discourses provide a way to investigate the discursive practices that brought the nineteenth century infanticidal woman known as the Infanticide into being The actions of the infanticidal mother were understood as a fundamental threat to society not only because they subverted the ideal of Victorian womanhood but also because a woman s actions destroyed a man s lineage For these reasons Goc demonstrates infanticide narratives were politicised in the press and woven into interconnected narratives about the regulation of women women s rights the family the law welfare and medicine that dominated nineteenth century discourse For example the Times used individual stories of infanticide to argue against the Bastardy Clause in the Poor Law that denied unmarried women and their children relief Infanticide narratives often adopted the conventions of the courtroom drama with the young transgressive female positioned against a body of male authoritarian figures a juxtaposition that reinforced male authority over women Alive to the marked differences between various types of newspapers Goc s study offers a rich and nuanced discussion of the Victorian press s fascination with infanticide At the same time infanticide news stories shaped how women who killed their babies were known and understood in ways that pathologised their actions This in turn influenced medical judicial and welfare policies regar

Was Achilles a Jew? Larry S. Milner, 2008-01-14

Significant interest has always existed about the origin of Classic Greek culture but despite the long standing attention scholars continue to disagree on where this amazing civilization got its start The Mycenaeans were the earliest Greek speaking people on the mainland but the country entered a Dark Age following the end of the Trojan War and in the Archaic Age which followed the fundamentals of Greek political and literary thought suddenly emerged without a clear source of derivation Historians have sometimes given credit to the Egyptians Phoenicians or other Eastern civilizations for this evolution but no serious consideration has been given to the ancient Hebrews despite the fact that the Exodus from Egypt took place during the Late Bronze Age when Mycenae was at its peak of influence in the Mediterranean Basin In Was Achilles a Jew Hebraic Origins to Greek Civilization Dr Larry Milner argues that a group of Hebrews devoted to the traditions of the patriarchs left the Exodus following the parricidal reprisals instituted by Moses during the modification of Judaism into a monotheistic faith and migrated to Mycenae where they became immersed into Mycenaean culture taking part in the Trojan War His analysis provides the most persuasive argument to date about where the Eastern influence in Greece was generated

Motherhood in the Media Barbara Barnett, 2016-02-19 This book examines contemporary media stories about women who kill their children By analyzing media texts motherhood blogs and journalistic interviews the book seeks to understand better maternal violence and the factors that lead women to harm their children The central thesis of this book is that media practices have changed dramatically during the past 50 years as has society's views on appropriate feminine behavior yet definitions of characteristics of good mothers remain largely defined by 1950s sitcoms Victorian ideals and Christian theology The book contends that in spite of media saturation in American society and the media's increased opportunities to tell complex and nuanced stories news media narratives continue to situate maternal violence as rare unfathomable and unpredictable The news media's shift in focus from public service to profit making industry has encouraged superficial coverage of maternal violence as reporters look for stories that sell not stories that explain Motherhood blogs in contrast offer an opportunity for women to tell their own stories about motherhood based on experience Interviews with journalists offer insights into how the structure of their jobs dictates media coverage of this intimate form of violence Gender
