Harems Of The Mind Passages Of Western Art And Literature:

Harems of the Mind Ruth Bernard Yeazell, 2000-01-01 In a nuanced reading of Ingres's Bain turc and other works Yeazell concludes that for some the appeal of the harem lay in the fantasy of eluding time and death BOOK JACKET Art of the Everyday Ruth Bernard Yeazell, 2008 Realist novels are celebrated for their detailed attention to ordinary life But two hundred years before the rise of literary realism Dutch painters had already made an art of the everyday pictures that served as a compelling model for the novelists who followed By the mid 1800s seventeenth century Dutch painting figured virtually everywhere in the British and French fiction we esteem today as the vanguard of realism Why were such writers drawn to this art of two centuries before What does this tell us about the nature of realism In this beautifully illustrated and elegantly written book Ruth Yeazell explores the nineteenth century's fascination with Dutch painting as well as its doubts about an art that had long challenged traditional values After showing how persistent tensions between high theory and low genre shaped criticism of novels and pictures alike Art of the Everyday turns to four major novelists Honor de Balzac George Eliot Thomas Hardy and Marcel Proust who strongly identified their work with Dutch painting For all these writers Dutch art provided a model for training themselves to look closely at the particulars of middle class life Yet even as nineteenth century novelists strove to create illusions of the real by modeling their narratives on Dutch pictures Yeazell argues they chafed at the model A concluding chapter on Proust explains why the nineteenth century associated such realism with the past and shows how the rediscovery of Vermeer helped resolve the longstanding conflict between humble details and the aspirations of high art

Enlightenment Orientalism Srinivas Aravamudan, 2024-05-31 Srinivas Aravamudan here reveals how Oriental tales pseudo ethnographies sexual fantasies and political satires took Europe by storm during the eighteenth century Naming this body of fiction Enlightenment Orientalism he poses a range of urgent questions that uncovers the interdependence of Oriental tales and domestic fiction thereby challenging standard scholarly narratives about the rise of the novel More than mere exoticism Oriental tales fascinated ordinary readers as well as intellectuals taking the fancy of philosophers such as Voltaire Montesquieu and Diderot in France and writers such as Defoe Swift and Goldsmith in Britain Aravamudan shows that Enlightenment Orientalism was a significant movement that criticized irrational European practices even while sympathetically bridging differences among civilizations A sophisticated reinterpretation of the history of the novel Enlightenment Orientalism is sure to be welcomed as a landmark work in eighteenth century studies Sheer Presence Marni Reva Kessler, 2006 "Turquerie and the Politics of Representation, 1728-1876" Nebahat Avcioglu, 2017-07-05 In this first full length study devoted explicitly to the examination of Ottoman Turkish inspired architecture in Western Europe during the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries Nebahat Avcioglu rethinks the question of cultural frontiers not as separations but as a rapport of heterogeneities Reclaiming turquerie as cross cultural art from the confines of the inconsequential exoticism it is often reduced to Avcioglu analyses hitherto neglected images designs and constructions and links Western interest in the Ottoman Empire to notions of self representation and national politics In investigating why and to what effect Europeans turned to the Turk for inspiration Avcioglu provides a far reaching cultural reinterpretation of art and architecture in this period Presented as a series of case studies focusing on three specific building types kiosks mosques and baths chosen on the basis that each represents the first full fledged manifestations of their respective genres to be constructed in Western Europe the study delves into the cultural politics of architectural forms and styles The author argues that the appropriation of those building types was neither accidental nor did it merely reflect European domination of another culture The process was essentially dialectical and contributed to transculturation in both the West and the East

'Turquerie' and the Politics of Representation, 1728-1876 Nebahat Avcioglu,2011 Devoted explicitly to the examination of Ottoman Turkish inspired architecture in Western Europe during the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries in this study Nebahat Avcioglu rethinks the question of cultural frontiers not as separations but as a rapport of heterogeneities Reclaiming turquerie as cross cultural art from the confines of the inconsequential exoticism it is often reduced to Avcioglu analyses hitherto neglected constructions and links them to notions of self representation and politics

Domesticity and Consumer Culture in Iran Pamela Karimi, 2013-05-29 Examining Iran s recent history through the double lens of domesticity and consumer culture Domesticity and Consumer Culture in Iran demonstrates that a significant component of the modernization process in Iran advanced beyond political and public spheres On the cusp of Iran s entry into modernity the rules and tenets that had traditionally defined the Iranian home began to vanish and the influx of new household goods gradually led to the substantial physical expansion of the domestic milieu. Subsequently architects, designers and commercial advertisers shifted their attention from commercial and public architecture to the new home and its contents. Domesticity and consumer culture also became topics of interest among politicians, Shiite religious scholars and the Left who communicated their respective views via the popular media and numerous other means. In the interim ordinary Iranian families who were capable of selectively appropriating aspects of their immediate surroundings demonstrated their resistance toward the officially sanctioned transformations. Through analyzing a series of case studies that elucidate such phenomena and appraising a wide range of objects and archival documents from furnishings, appliances, architectural blueprints and maps to photographs, films, TV series, novels, artworks, scrapbooks, work logs, personal letters and reports, this book highlights the significance of private life in social, economic and political contexts of modern Iran. Tackling the subject of home from a variety of perspectives, Domesticity and Consumer Culture in Iran thus shows the interplay between local aspirations, foreign influences, gender roles, consumer culture and women's education as they intersect with taste, fashion, domestic architecture and interior design.

Music and the Exotic from the Renaissance to Mozart Ralph P. Locke, 2015-05-07. Ralph P. Locke provides fresh insights into Western culture's increasing awareness of ethnic Otherness during the years 1500-1800.

St Stephen's Chapel and the Palace of Westminster Tim Ayers, J. P. D. Cooper, Elizabeth Hallam Smith, Caroline Shenton, 2024-10. Traces the history of a magnificent landmark in the history of late medieval art and architecture. As the principal royal chapel in the medieval Palace of Westminster, St Stephen's was at the centre of worship for the Plantagenets, a major collegiate foundation of a new kind for the mid-fourteenth century and a community of national significance in the development of sacred polyphony. During the Reformation, the Chapel was converted into a meeting place for the House of Commons, which it remained for 300 years, shaping the development of British political culture. Its influence continues to be felt today in the design of the Commons chamber. Following the disastrous Palace fire of 1834, the site of the upper chapel was rebuilt as St Stephen's Hall, a gallery of national history leading to the Central Lobby of the Houses of Parliament. This book tells the story of St Stephen's Chapel from the thirteenth century to the present day. Sixteen chapters explain the building and its religious life, its political significance and the antiquarian rediscovery of its former magnificence. Contributors highlight the interaction between visual and political culture, the contexts of kingship and international rivalry that informed the foundation and construction of chapel and college, the effect of medieval St Stephen's on the development of the House of Commons, the adaptation and re-use of St Mary Undercroft and the creation of St Stephen's Hall in the 1840s. The hall would become a site of Suffragette activism in the campaign for Votes for Women, marked today by a monumental artwork, New Dawn, which is the focus of the final chapter.

Foreign Correspondence Jan Borm, 2014-10-16. Though writers and readers have long agreed that travel does not only broaden the mind but that it is also useful to report on such an experience, the question of what to report on and how has remained a matter of debate To think of travel and travel writing as foreign correspondence is to apply metaphorically a phrase that has its own complex and overlapping history in journalism politics and international culture The chapters of this volume focus on this notion seen here as a dual problematic oscillating between the private and the public whether as letters or other forms of writing sent from abroad From Mandeville's notorious Travels to fin de siècle Hispanic writing this volume offers readings of accounts by early modern and more recent Lithuanian and Polish travellers representations of the Polish Lithuanian Commonwealth the Ottoman Empire and India Quixotic tropes in English travel writing about Spain Galignani's newspaper aesthetics and several contributions on translation issues and the foreign as an idiom to be rendered in more familiar terms The essays collected here thus all take foreign correspondence as their starting point whether as letters or in other narrative forms These texts are involved in complex webs of personal political social and cultural negotiations between travellers and their hosts as well as their presumed target audience a key aspect of the rhetorics of foreign correspondence as the chapters of this volume also go to show

Scheherazade's Children gathers together leading scholars to explore the reverberations of the tales of the Arabian Nights across a startlingly wide and transnational range of cultural endeavors The contributors drawn from a wide array of disciplines extend their inquiries into the book's metamorphoses on stage and screen as well as in literature from India to Japan from Sanskrit mythology to British pantomime from Baroque opera to puppet shows Their highly original research illuminates little known manifestations of the Nights and provides unexpected contexts for understanding the book's complex history Polemical issues are thereby given unprecedented and enlightening interpretations Organized under the rubrics of Translating Engaging and Staging these essays view the Nights corpus as a uniquely accretive cultural bundle that absorbs the works upon which it has exerted influence In this view the Arabian Nights is a dynamic living and breathing cross cultural phenomenon that has left its mark on fields as disparate as the European novel and early Indian cinema While scholarly the writers approach is also lively and entertaining and the book is richly illustrated with unusual materials to deliver a sparkling and highly original exploration of the Arabian Nights radiating influence on world literature performance and culture

Circulating Queerness Natasha Hurley, 2018-06-19 A new history of the queer novel shows its role in constructing gay and lesbian lives The gay and lesbian novel has long been a distinct literary genre with its own awards shelving categories bookstore spaces and book reviews But very little has been said about the remarkable history of its emergence in American literature particularly the ways in which the novel about homosexuality did not just reflect but actively produced queer life Drawing on Mikhail Bakhtin's insight that the history of society is connected to the history of language author Natasha Hurley charts the messy complex movement by which the queer novel produced the very frames that made it legible as a distinct literature and central to the imagination of queer worlds Her vision of the queer novel's development revolves around the bold argument that literary circulation is the key ingredient that has made the gay and lesbian novel and its queer forebears available to its audiences Challenging the narrative that the gay and lesbian novel came into view in response to the emergence of homosexuality as a concept Hurley posits a much longer history of this novelistic genre In so doing she revises our understanding of the history of sexuality as well as of the processes of producing new concepts and the evolution of new categories of language

German Religious Women in Late Ottoman Beirut Julia Hauser, 2015-04-14 In German Religious Women in Late Ottoman Beirut Competing Missions Julia Hauser offers a critical analysis of the German Protestant Kaiserswerth deaconesses orphanage and boarding school for girls in late Ottoman Beirut as situated within the larger field of educational development in the city Drawing among other sources on the deaconesses largely unpublished letters home her study illuminates that the only way missionary organizations like the deaconesses could succeed was by entering into negotiations with their local environment adapting their agenda in the process Mission therefore was shaped not merely at home but by conflictual negotiations on the periphery a perspective quite different from the top down isolationist perspective of earlier research on missions

Rethinking the Racial Moment Barbara Brookes, Alison Holland, 2011-05-25 In recent years race has fallen out of historiographical fashion being eclipsed by seemingly more benign terms such as culture ethnicity and difference This timely and highly readable collection of essays re-energises the debate by carefully focusing our attention on local articulations of race and their intersections with colonialism and its aftermath In Rethinking the Racial Moment Essays on the Colonial

Encounter Alison Holland and Barbara Brookes have produced a collection of studies that shift our historical understanding of colonialism in significant new directions Their generous and exciting brief will ensure that the book has immediate appeal for multiple readers engaged in critical theory as well as those more specifically involved in Australian and New Zealand history Collectively they offer new and invigorating approaches to understanding colonialism and cultural encounters in history via the interpretive not merely temporal frame of the moment

Women in the Ottoman Balkans Amila Buturovic, Irvin Cemil Schick, 2007-09-26 Women in the Ottoman Balkans were founders of pious endowments organizers of labour and conspicuous consumers of western luxury goods they were lovers wives castaways divorcees widows the subjects of ballads and the narrators of folk tales victims of communal oppression and protectors of their communities against supernatural forces In their daily lives they experienced oppression and self denial in the face of frequently unsympathetic local customs but also empowerment self affirmation and acculturation This volume not only deepens our understanding of the distinctive contributions that women have made to Balkan history but also re evaluates this through a more inclusive and interdisciplinary analysis in which gender takes its place alongside other categories such as class culture religion ethnicity and nationhood This original and stimulating examination of the lives of Muslim Christian and Jewish women in southeastern Europe during the centuries of Ottoman rule focuses especially on those social relations that crossed ethnic and confessional intercommunal boundaries
