Historical Dictionary of Bowling John Grasso, Eric R. Hartman, 2014-08-07 Loggats kayles quilles skittles half bowl and ninepins were all early forms of games in which the goal was to knock down small standing objects from a distance by rolling or throwing another object at them Archaeologists have found items from Egypt around 5200 B C that included small stone balls and narrow pins that were possibly used for a game Additional research has disclosed that Polynesians played a similar game using small elliptical balls and round flat stone disks and like modern day bowling a sixty foot throwing distance The Historical Dictionary of Bowling contains a chronology an introductory essay appendixes and an extensive bibliography The dictionary section has over 500 cross referenced entries on both male and female bowlers amateur and professional bowling coaches writers and other contributors to the sport of bowling descriptions and results of major tournaments and terminology of the sport This book is an excellent access point for students researchers and anyone wanting to know more about the sport of Bowling

A Short History of Film, Third Edition Wheeler Winston Dixon, Gwendolyn Audrey Foster, 2018-03-30 With more than 250 images new information on international cinema especially Polish Chinese Russian Canadian and Iranian filmmakers an expanded section on African American filmmakers updated discussions of new works by major American directors and a new section on the rise of comic book movies and computer generated special effects this is the most up to date resource for film history courses in the twenty first century A Short History of Film, Fourth Edition Wheeler Winston Dixon, Gwendolyn Audrey Foster, 2013-10-14 This updated and expanded edition of A Short History of Film provides an accessible overview of the major movements, directors, studios and genres from the 1880s to the present. Succinct yet comprehensive with more than 250 rare stills and illustrations, it brings readers face to face with many of the key players and films that have shaped the industry. Beginning with the precursors of moving pictures, Wheeler Winston Dixon and Gwendolyn Audrey Foster lead a fast-paced tour through the invention of the kinetoscope, the introduction of sound and color between the two world wars, and ultimately the computer-generated imagery of the present day. They detail significant periods in world cinema, including the creation of early major industries in Europe, the dominance of the Hollywood studio system in the 1930s and 1940s, and the French New Wave of the 1960s. They also highlight independent efforts in developing nations and the corresponding more personal independent film movement that briefly flourished in the United States. Along the way, the authors incorporate the stories of women and other minority filmmakers who have often been overlooked in other texts. Compact and easily readable, this is a vital history of international cinema, a one-stop resource for students, teachers, and general readers alike. A Short History of Film Wheeler Winston Dixon, Gwendolyn Audrey Foster, 2013-02-15 A Short History of Film, Second Edition, provides a concise and accurate overview of the history of world cinema, detailing the major movements, directors, studios and genres from 1896 through 2012. Accompanied by more than 250 rare color and black and white stills, including many from recent films, the new edition is unmatched in its panoramic view, conveying a sense of cinema's sweep in the twentieth and early twenty-first centuries as it is practiced in the United States and around the world. Wheeler Winston Dixon and Gwendolyn Audrey Foster present new and amended coverage of the industry, in addition to updating the birth and death dates and final works of notable directors. Their expanded focus on key films brings the book firmly into the digital era and chronicles the death of film as a production medium. The book takes readers through the invention of the kinetoscope, the introduction of sound and color between the two world wars, and ultimately the computer-generated imagery of the present day. It details significant periods in world cinema, including the early major industries in Europe, the dominance of the Hollywood studio system in the 1930s and 1940s, and the French New Wave of the 1960s. Attention is given to small independent efforts in developing nations and the more personal independent film movement that briefly flourished in the United States, the significant filmmakers of all nations, and the effects of censorship and regulation on production everywhere. In addition, the authors incorporate the stories of women and other minority filmmakers who have often been overlooked in other texts. Engaging and accessible, this is the best one-stop source for the history of world film, available for students, teachers, and general audiences alike. Skyscraper Cinema Merrill Schleier, 2009 From the silent era until the advent of the Cinemascope, the skyscraper as movie star. Hinkelman,2022-02-04 The years following the signing of the Armistice saw a transformation of traditional attitudes regarding military conflict as America attempted to digest the enormity and futility of the First World War. During these years popular film culture in the United States created new ways of addressing the impact of the war on both individuals and society. Filmmakers with direct experience of combat created works that promoted their own ideas about the depiction of wartime service ideas that frequently conflicted with established heroic tropes for the portrayal of warfare on film. Those filmmakers spent years modifying existing standards and working through a variety of storytelling options before achieving a consensus regarding the fitting method for rendering war on screen. That consensus incorporated facets of the experience of Great War veterans and these countered and undermined previously accepted narrative strategies. This process reached its peak during the Pre Code Era of the early 1930s when the initially prevailing narrative would be briefly supplanted by an entirely new approach that questioned the very premises of wartime service. Even more significantly the rhetoric of these films argued strongly for an antiwar stance that questioned every aspect of the wartime experience. For No Reason at All: The Changing Narrative of the First World War in American Film discusses a variety of Great War themed films made from 1915 to the present tracing the changing approaches to the conflict over time. Individual chapters focus on movie antecedents, animated films and comedies, the influence of literary precursors, the African American film industry, women centered films and the effect of the Second World War on depictions of the First. Films discussed include Hearts of the World, The Cradle of Courage, Birthright, The Big Parade, She Goes to War, Doughboys, Young Eagles, The Last Flight, Broken Lullaby, Lafayette Escadrille and Wonder Woman among many others.

Buster Keaton's Crew Lisle Foote, 2014-11-19 Buster Keaton told an interviewer in 1965 "When I'm working alone the cameraman, the prop man, the electrician, these are my eyes out there. They knew what they were talking about." Drawn from film trade magazines, newspapers, interviews and public records, this book tells the previously unpublished stories of the behind-the-scenes crew who worked on Keaton's silent films like Elgin Lessley who went from department store clerk to chief cameraman and Fred Gabourie who served as an army private in the Spanish American War before he became Keaton's technical director. I'd ask: Did that work the way I wanted it to and they'd say yes or no. Keaton said of his crew: "He couldn't have made his films without them."

Encyclopedia of the Jazz Age James Ciment, 2008 Provides detailed information on the politics, economics, society and culture of one of the most fascinating and widely studied periods in American history.

Mack Sennett's Fun Factory Brent E. Walker, 2010-01-13 This is a comprehensive career study and filmography of Mack Sennett, cofounder of Keystone Studios, home of the Keystone Kops and other vehicles that showcased his innovative slapstick comedy. The filmography covers the more than 1,000 films Sennett produced, directed, wrote or appeared in between 1908 and 1955, including casts, credits, synopses, production and release dates, locations, cross references of remade stories and gags, footage excerpted in compilations, identification of prints existing in archives and other information. The book featuring 280 photographs also contains biographies of several hundred performers and technical personnel connected with Sennett.
