Bibliography on Tropical Rain Forests and the Global Carbon Cycle: South Asia ,1989 Plant Strategies, Vegetation Processes, and Ecosystem Properties J. Philip Grime, 2006-08-11 Plant Strategies Vegetation Processes and Ecosystem Properties Second Edition is a thoroughly updated and comprehensive new edition of the very successful Plant Strategies and Vegetative Processes which controversially proposed the existence of widely recurring plant functional types with predictable relationships to vegetation structure and dynamics This second edition uses evidence from many parts of the world to re examine these concepts in the light of the enormous expansion in the literature Features include A new section covering all aspects of ecosystem properties New chapters on Assembling of Communities Rarification and Extinction Colonisation and Invasion Principles and methodologies of a range of international tests including case study examples Chapter summaries for a quick reference guide Index of species names Written in a very readable style this book is an invaluable reference source for researchers in the areas of plant animal and community ecology conservation and land management Written by one of the foremost authorities in the field summarising over 35 years of research A book all plant ecologists will want to read Jonathan Silvertown Department of Biological Sciences The Open University UK The coverage is outstanding and comprehensive Simon A Levin Department of Ecology and Evolutionary Biology Princeton University USA Natural Grasslands Robert T. Coupland, 1992 Frost Survival of Plants Akira Sakai, Walter Larcher, 2012-12-06 Low temperature represents together with drought and salt stress one of the most important environmental constraints limiting the productivity and the distribution of plants on the Earth Winter survival in particular is a highly complex phenomenon with regards to both stress factors and stress responses The danger from winter cold is the result not only of its primary effect i e the formation of ice in plant tissues additional threats are presented by the freezing of water in and on the ground and by the load and duration of the snow cover In recent years a number of books and reviews on the subject of chilling and frost resistance in plants have appeared all of these publications however concentrate principally on the mechanisms of injury and resistance to freezing at the cellular or molecular level We are convinced that analysis of the ultrastructural and biochemical alterations in the cell and particularly in the plasma membrane during freezing is the key to understanding the limits of frost resistance and the mechanisms of cold acclimation This is undoubtedly the immediate task facing those of us engaged in resistance research It is nevertheless our opinion that in addition to understanding the basic physiological events we should be careful not to overlook the importance of the comparative aspects of the freezing processes the components of stress avoidance and tolerance and the specific levels of resistance Proceedings of the International Symposium on Grassland
