It attempts to show many of the themes in the lives of the poor through the close analysis of one extended example The second chapter moves back in time and consists of four case studies drawn from the project s empirical research The first case study takes up the history of a neglected institution the poorhouse The second case reports on a survey of the causes of pauperism undertaken by the New York Board of State Charities in the mid 1870s The third case analyzes a sample of the seven special schedules of the 1880 U S census which enumerated the defective dependent and delinquent population The final case uses a register of tramps from various places in New York State during the mid 1870s to assess the relation between popular images of tramps and what appeared to be their actual characteristics The third chapter uses the results of the project s research and other recent work on related topics to examine American historical writing about dependence as a field and offers a sympathetic critique   Sources and Methods of Historical Demography J.
