The Harmless People Elizabeth Marshall Thomas, 1989-10-23 A study of primitive people which for beauty of style and concept would be hard to match The New York Times Book Review In the 1950s Elizabeth Marshall Thomas became one of the first Westerners to live with the Bushmen of the Kalahari desert in Botswana and South West Africa Her account of these nomadic hunter gatherers whose way of life had remained unchanged for thousands of years is a ground breaking work of anthropology remarkable not only for its scholarship but for its novelistic grasp of character On the basis of field trips in the 1980s Thomas has now updated her book to show what happened to the Bushmen as the tide of industrial civilization with its flotsam of property rights wage labor and alcohol swept over them The result is a powerful elegiac look at an endangered culture as well as a provocative critique of our own The charm of this book is that the author can so truly convey the strangeness of the desert life in which we perceive human traits as familiar as our own The Harmless People is a model of exposition the style very simple and precise perfectly suited to the neat even fastidious activities of a people who must make their world out of next to nothing The Atlantic

Yanomami Rob Borofsky, 2005-01-31 Yanomami raises questions central to the field of anthropology questions concerning the practice of fieldwork the production of knowledge and anthropology s intellectual and ethical vision of itself Using the Yanomami controversy one of anthropology s most famous and explosive imbroglios as its starting point this book draws readers into not only reflecting on but refashioning the very heart and soul of the discipline It is both the most up to date and thorough public discussion of the Yanomami controversy available and an innovative and searching assessment of the current state of anthropology The Yanomami controversy came to public attention through the publication of Patrick Tierney s best selling book Darkness in El Dorado in which he accuses James Neel a prominent geneticist who belonged to the National Academy of Sciences as well as Napoleon Chagnon whose introductory text on the Yanomami is perhaps the best selling anthropological monograph of all time of serious human rights violations This book identifies the ethical dilemmas of the controversy and raises deeper structural questions about the discipline A portion of the book is devoted to a unique roundtable in which important scholars on different sides of the issues debate back and forth with each other This format draws readers into deciding for themselves where they stand on the controversy s and many of anthropology s central concerns All of the royalties from this book will be donated to helping the Yanomami improve their healthcare

Punishing the Mentally Ill Bruce A. Arrigo,2012-02-01 A powerful sophisticated and original critique on how the disciplines of law and psychiatry behave and on how the mental health and justice systems operate Punishing the Mentally Ill reveals where how and why the identity and humanity of persons with psychiatric disorders are consciously and unconsciously denied Author Bruce A Arrigo contends that despite periodic and well intentioned efforts at reform the current law psychiatry system functions to punish the mentally ill for being different The book synthesizes a wide range of mainstream and critical literature in sociology law philosophy history psychology and psychoanalysis to establish a new theory of punishment at the law psychiatry divide To situate the analysis enduring psycholegal issues are explored including the meaning of mental illness definitions and predictions of dangerousness the ethics of advocacy the right to community based treatment the logic of forensic courtroom verdicts transcarceration and the execution of mentally disordered offenders among others Punishing the Mentally Ill shows that current mental disability law research programming and policy are seriously flawed and that wholesale reform is necessary if the goals of citizen justice social well being and humanism are to be realized

Living in the Third Reich Patrick Labriola,2025-09-30 Living in the Third Reich intricately weaves together the personal stories of German historical witnesses across thematic chapters covering diverse facets of the wartime experience From the early years of National Socialism to the devastating bombings of German cities these narratives are enriched with personal documents and photographs vividly providing the human face of history This book is more than just a chronicle of events it is a profound exploration of human suffering and memory Each testimony contributes to a larger mosaic unveiling the emotional and psychological landscapes of those who endured one of history s darkest periods Included are German perspectives on antisemitic violence such as the Night of Broken Glass and the deportation of Jews The book also contains accounts from those who witnessed allied bombings across Germany and the civilians caught up in the Russian invasion The book goes on to cover the aftermath of the war with people displaced and some forced into labour and life in post war Germany The author s

dedication to impartial presentation allows these stories to resonate on their own providing a rare and invaluable perspective on the past Years of painstaking research translation and editing have transformed this book into a treasure trove for scholars and general readers alike It serves as a vital preservation of a generation s voices fostering a deeper understanding of how the Third Reich s profoundly impacted ordinary lives By presenting these accounts in their unaltered and honest form the author ensures that the true essence of these experiences is captured and conveyed Broken Scales Tom Diaz,2021-10-15 Humans are a species that classifies We arrange the flow of the things and events that we see and experience place them into categories and erect boundaries around those categories Among the boundaries that we erect are those that we put around groups of other human beings The evil side of human classification of other human beings is that we sometimes create false categories of other people as is often the case in racial ethnic and religious stereotypes This un mindful creation of empty categories of human characteristics is what happened during two periods crucial to the construction of race in America This is racism The United States is in a period of deep cultural flux and conflict much of it seen through the lens of race Tom Diaz proposes that the everyday actions of ordinary people in the context of extreme political and cultural polarization distort the criminal justice system and betray the lofty ideals expressed in American founding documents and centuries of Anglo American articulations of basic human rights These everyday actions range across a spectrum from the armed intervention of private citizens in the forms of individual action neighborhood watches and citizen s arrests to the expectations imposed on law enforcement in particular and the criminal justice system in general

Posner,Adrian Vermeule,2007-01-04 In Terror in the Balance Posner and Vermeule take on civil libertarians of both the left and the right arguing that the government should be given wide latitude to adjust policy and liberties in the times of emergency They emphasize the virtues of unilateral executive actions and argue for making extensive powers available to the executive as warranted At a time when the struggle against violent extremism dominates the United States agenda this important and controversial work will spark discussion in the classroom and intellectual press alike *California. Trials of War Criminals Before the Nuernberg Military Tribunals Volume II Various, 2023-09-03. Excerpt. In April 1949, judgment was rendered in the last of the series of 12 Nuernberg war crimes trials which had begun in October 1946 and were held pursuant to Allied Control Council Law No. 10. Far from being of concern solely to lawyers, these trials are of especial interest to soldiers, historians, students of international affairs and others. The defendants in these proceedings, charged with war crimes and other offenses against international penal law, were prominent figures in Hitler's Germany and included such outstanding diplomats and politicians as the State Secretary of the Foreign Office, von Weizsaecker, and cabinet ministers von Krosigk and Lammers; military leaders such as Field Marshals von Leeb, List and von Kuechler; SS leaders such as Ohlendorf, Pohl and Hildebrandt; industrialists such as Flick, Alfried Krupp and the directors of I. G. Farben; and leading professional men such as the famous physician Gerhard Rose and the jurist and Acting Minister of Justice, Schlegelberger. In view of the weight of the accusations and the far-flung activities of the defendants and the extraordinary amount of official contemporaneous German documents introduced in evidence, the records of these trials constitute a major source of historical material.

covering many events of the fateful years 1933 and even earlier to 1945 in Germany and elsewhere in Europe The Nuernberg trials under Law No 10 were carried out under the direct authority of the Allied Control Council as manifested in that law which authorized the establishment of the Tribunals The judicial machinery for the trials including the Military Tribunals and the Office Chief of Counsel for War Crimes was prescribed by Military Government Ordinance No 7 and was part of the occupation administration for the American zone the Office of Military Government OMGUS Law No 10 Ordinance No 7 and other basic jurisdictional or administrative documents are printed in full hereinafter The proceedings in these trials were conducted throughout in the German and English languages and were recorded in full by stenographic notes and by electrical sound recording of all oral proceedings The 12 cases required over 1 200 days of court proceedings and the transcript of these proceedings exceeds 330 000 pages exclusive of hundreds of document books briefs etc Publication of all of this material accordingly was quite unfeasible This series however contains the indictments judgments and other important portions of the record of the 12 cases and it is believed that these materials give a fair picture of the trials and as full and illuminating a picture as is possible within the space available Copies of the entire record of the trials are available in the Library of Congress the National Archives and elsewhere In some cases due to time limitations errors of one sort or another have crept into the translations which were available to the Tribunal In other cases the same document appears in different trials or even at different parts of the same trial with variations in translation For the most part these inconsistencies have been allowed to remain and only such errors as might cause misunderstanding have been corrected
