Tobacco Use Among U. S. Racial/Ethnic Minority Groups David Satcher, 1999-04

Tobacco Use Among United States Racial/ethnic Minority Groups United States. Department of Health and Human Services, 1998 This Surgeon General's report on tobacco use summarizes current information on risk factors and patterns related to tobacco use among members of four major racial and ethnic minority groups in the United States African Americans American Indians and Alaska Natives Asian Americans and Pacific Islanders and Hispanics In addition this report presents information on national and regional efforts to curtail consumption of tobacco products among members of these four groups Previous Surgeon General's reports on smoking and health have briefly summarized findings related to one or more of the racial ethnic groups covered in this report but this is the first Surgeon General's report to concentrate specifically on the four major racial ethnic groups in the United States Several factors prompted the development of this report First the information in this report has never before been compiled in one source Consequently policymakers community leaders researchers and public health workers have had difficulty determining the extent of the problem identifying gaps in information regarding tobacco use among members of the four groups or being aware of existing tobacco control programs that have demonstrated effectiveness Thus incorporating such information into the design and implementation of culturally appropriate services has been difficult Second the four racial ethnic groups currently constitute about one fourth of the population of this country and the Bureau of the Census projects that by 2050 the non Hispanic white population in the United States will total only 53 percent Day 1996 Preventing health problems related to tobacco use among the individuals in racial and ethnic groups will be integral to achieving U S public health objectives such as those proposed in Healthy People 2000 National Health Promotion and Disease Prevention Objectives U S Department of Health and Human Services USDHHS 1991 1995 National Center for Health Statistics NCHS 1994 This report contributes essential knowledge that must be incorporated into efforts to accomplish the Healthy People 2000 objectives

Health Care Politics and Policy in America Kant Patel, Mark E. Rushefsky, 1999 Fully updated in this new edition Health Care Politics and Policy in America combines a historical overview of U S health policy and programs with analysis of current trends and reform efforts The book shows how health policy fits into the larger social economic political and ideological environment of the United States identifies the roles played by both public and private institutional and individual actors in shaping the health care system at all levels considers the trade offs inherent in various policy choices and their impacts on different social groups takes account of the dynamic impact of technological change on health care capacities costs and ethics This edition includes expanded discussion of equity issues and whether there is a right to health care and a new chapter on the issue of medical liability The concluding chapter brings the story of health care policy up to the end of the millennium with particular attention to the managed care revolution and reaction to it The book equips readers with the basic tools for drawing more informed judgments in the ongoing debate about health care policy in the United States

Women's Health, Politics, and Power Elizabeth Fee, Nancy Krieger, 2020-11-26 This collection of essays addresses the broadening array of issues on the agenda of the women's health movements of the 1980s and 1990s just as a previous collection Women and Health: The Politics of Sex in Medicine gathered contributions from the earlier wave of the women's health movement in the 1970s. The papers in both volumes are selected from the International Journal of Health Services edited by Vicente Navarro. The essays in this volume were originally published in the 1980s and early 1990s. Together they present a framework for understanding the struggles over women's health that have occurred in this time period and provide specific analyses of women's health in relation to race, ethnicity, and class, the work of health care, the health of women workers, international reproductive health, sexuality, AIDS, and public health policy.

Embodying Inequality Nancy Krieger, 2016-12-05 To advance the epidemiological analysis of social inequalities in health and of the ways in which population distributions of disease, disability, and death reflect embodied expressions of social inequality, this volume draws on articles published in the International Journal of Health Services between 1990 and 2000. Framed by ecosocial theory, it employs ecosocial constructs of embodiment, pathways of embodiment, cumulative interplay of exposure, susceptibility, and resistance across the lifecourse, and accountability and agency to address the question of who and what drives current and changing patterns of social inequalities in health.
