a list or description of a number of possible and probable future health care technologies as well as information on their importance. Within the limits of time and money this has been done. However, given the vast number of possible future health care technologies, complete information on the importance of each area could not be developed in any depth for all technology. Therefore, four specific technologies were chosen and were prospectively assessed. These future technologies were examined in more depth, looking particularly at their future health and policy implications. Subsequently, the project was extended to September 1987 and two additional technologies were chosen for assessment.

Or is the quest for effective behavior modification techniques antithetical to the idea of promoting well-being defined in terms of individual autonomy, dignity, and integrity? An Ethic for Health Promotion explores these questions.
