Hearing Things:

Hearing Things Leigh Eric Schmidt, 2002-11-30 Faith cometh by hearing so said Saint Paul and devoted Christians from Augustine to Luther down to the present have placed particular emphasis on spiritual arts of listening In quiet retreats for prayer in the noisy exercises of Protestant revivalism in the mystical pursuit of the voices of angels Christians have listened for a divine call But what happened when the ear tuned to God's voice found itself under the inspection of Enlightenment critics This book takes us into the ensuing debate about hearing things an intense entertaining even spectacular exchange over the auditory immediacy of popular Christian piety The struggle was one of encyclopedic range and Leigh Eric Schmidt conducts us through natural histories of the oracles anatomies of the diseased ear psychologies of the unsound mind acoustic technologies from speaking trumpets to talking machines philosophical regimens for educating the senses and rational recreations elaborated from natural magic notably ventriloquism and speaking statues Hearing Things enters this labyrinth all the new disciplines and pleasures of the modern ear to explore the fate of Christian listening during the Enlightenment and its aftermath In Schmidt's analysis the reimagining of hearing was instrumental in constituting religion itself as an object of study and suspicion The mystic's ear was hardly lost but it was now marked deeply with imposture and illusion

Hearing Things Timothy Gould, 1998-11-15 What does philosophy have to do with the human voice Has contemporary philosophy banished the voice from the field of legitimate investigation Timothy Gould examines these questions through the philosopher most responsible for formulating them Stanley Cavell Hearing Things is the first work to treat systematically the relation between Cavell's pervasive authorial voice and his equally powerful though less discernible impulse to produce a set of usable philosophical methods Gould argues that a tension between voice and method unites Cavell's broad and often perplexing range of interests From Wittgenstein to Thoreau from Shakespeare to the movies and from opera to Freud Gould reveals the connection between the voice within Cavell's writing and the voices Cavell appeals to through the methods of ordinary language philosophy Within Cavell's extraordinary productivity lies a new sense of philosophical method based on elements of the act of reading Hearing Things is both an important study of Cavell's work and a major contribution to the construction of American philosophy

Hearing Things Angela Leighton, 2018-05-07 Drawing on the writings of critics and philosophers and on the comments of poets and novelists who have pointed to the role of the ear in writing and reading Angela Leighton offers a reconsideration of literature as an exercise in hearing things and renews a call for criticism that is creatively attentive to sound's work in every literary text

Reflections from Behind the Glass Jasper A. Lee,2020-10-23 We see the world through various glasses rose colored glasses glass ceilings even the looking glass While our greatest insights arise from seeing things through these glasses it is not until we look beyond them that we understand who we are and who we can be When we cannot see the glass we risk being trapped in our own glass cell or worse a house of mirrors of our own making

Finding a Replacement for the Soul Brett Bourbon,2009-06-30 Approaching the study of literature as a unique form of the philosophy of language and mind as a study of how we produce nonsense and imagine it as sense this is a book about our human ways of making and losing meaning Brett Bourbon asserts that our complex and variable relation with language defines a domain of meaning and being that is misconstrued and missed in philosophy in literary studies and in our ordinary understanding of what we are and how things make sense Accordingly his book seeks to demonstrate how the study of literature gives us the means to understand this relationship The book itself is framed by the literary and philosophical challenges presented by Joyce s Finnegan s Wake and Wittgenstein s Philosophical Investigations With reference to these books and the problems of interpretation and meaning that they pose Bourbon makes a case for the fundamental philosophical character of the study of literature and for its dependence on theories of meaning disguised as theories of mind Within this context he provides original accounts of what sentences fictions non fictions and poems are produces a new account of the logical form of fiction and of the limits of interpretation that follow from it and delineates a new and fruitful domain of inquiry in which literature philosophy and science intersect Table of Contents Preface Note on Abbreviations Introduction What Are We When We Are Not Part I The Surface of Language and the Absence of Meaning 1 From Soul Making to Person Making 2 The Logical Form of Fiction 3 The Emptiness of Literary Interpretation 4 To Be But Not To Mean 5 How Do Oracles Mean Part II Senses and Nonsenses Joyce s Finnegans Wake and Wittgenstein s Philosophical Investigations 6 A Twitterlitter of Nonsense Askesis at Finnegans Wake 7 The Analogy between Persons and Words 8 The Human Body Is the Best Picture of the Human Soul 9 The Senses of Time 10 Being Something and Meaning Something Bibliography Acknowledgments Index This is an adventurous and unusual book Bourbon moves back and forth between literary and philosophical contexts with ease showing in multifarious ways how the one can often in unexpected ways illuminate the other Throughout these wide ranging explorations Bourbon uncovers a good deal about both the nature of literary meaning and our distinctive if tellingly irreducible relations to literary texts Garry L Hagberg author of Art as Language Wittgenstein Meaning and Aesthetic Theory and Meaning and Interpretation Wittgenstein Henry James and Literary Knowledge
