Communication Yearbook 28 Pamela J. Kalbfleisch, 2004-06-18 Communities are composed of connected individuals. The communication that exists within and between these communities is at the heart of Communication Yearbook 28. This book draws from the broad range encompassed by the communication discipline to review literature that has something to say about community and what the communication discipline has to contribute to understanding this human connection. Offering state-of-the-art research, Communication Yearbook 28 presents an influence model addressing the most basic level of community: the personal relationship. The literature on romantic and parent-child relationships at a distance, community in terms of those working at home and telecommuting, running home-based businesses and participating in online communities, the communicative venue for community building and fragmentation, social capital and tolerance, the literature on collaboration, examining this communicative performance in community groups, community as a foundation for the study of public relations theory and practice, the visual images of community and what they suggest about these communities to those looking in from the outside, the role new technology plays in maintaining community and community contexts. This book is an important reference on current research for scholars and students in the social sciences. Handbook of Research on Policies, Protocols, and Practices for Social Work in the Digital World Özsungur, Fahri, 2021-05-28 Social work plays an important role in reintegrating individuals into society, educating, raising awareness, implementing social policy and realizing legal regulations. The emergence of digital innovations and the effects of health problems, including the COVID-19 pandemic on individuals and society, have led to the development of innovations, virtual digital practices and applications in this field. The contributions of the recent pandemic and digital transformation to social work and practices should be revealed in the context of international standards. Policies, Protocols, and Practices for Social Work in the Digital World presents the current best practices, policies and protocols within international social work. It focuses on the impact of digital applications, the effects of the COVID-19 pandemic and digital transformation on social work. Covering topics including burnout management, social engineering, anti-discrimination strategies and women's studies, this book is essential for social workers, policymakers, government officials, scientists, clinical professionals, technologists, practitioners, researchers, academicians and students.

Going Local John Pierson, 2007-09-12 Going Local explains how social workers can develop approaches to neighbourhood work, engage with users and their locality and contribute to strengthening local communities and how these principles work out in practice in specific services. Dissemination and Implementation of Evidence-Based Psychological Interventions R. Kathryn McHugh, David H. Barlow, 2012-04-17 The lack of widely available effective mental health care presents a major public health problem. This volume describes the rapidly expanding area of dissemination and implementation of evidence-based psychological interventions. Leading efforts internationally to improve access to effective care are highlighted by the leaders of these programs. Increased bicycle helmet use in Sweden: needs and possibilities Sixten Nolén, 2017-08-21 Background From the perspective of what is called vision zero in Sweden, fatalities and injuries among bicyclists are unacceptable Despite that bicyclists constitutes approximately one third of all road user inpatients in Swedish hospitals which is about the same proportion seen for drivers and passengers of motor vehicles There are too many bicycle related head injuries but the risk of such traumas could be reduced considerably by the use of helmets Bicycle helmet wearing can be increased by voluntary means for instance by long term community based helmet promotion programs However the best effect has been achieved by combining promotion with a compulsory helmet law for all bicyclists as has been done in Australia New Zealand and North America Aim The general aim of the research underlying this dissertation was to provide further information about the need for increased bicycle helmet use in Sweden and to determine what measures can lead to more widespread helmet wearing The four papers included addressed two main questions 1 What is the need for increased helmet wearing among different categories of bicyclists in Sweden 2 Is a non compulsory local bicycle helmet law a realistic alternative to a mandatory helmet law for all bicyclists Materials and methods Observational studies of helmet use by bicyclists in Sweden were conducted once a year average $n = 37\,031$ year during the period 1988 2002 paper I The general trend in observed helmet wearing in different categories of bicyclists was analyzed by linear regression and the results were used to predict future trends in helmet wearing Three studies papers II IV were also performed to evaluate a non compulsory local bicycle helmet law in Motala municipality during the study period 1995 to 1998 papers II IV This law was introduced in 1996 and applies specifically to school children ages 6 12 years although the intention is to increase helmet use among all bicyclists Adoption of the law was accompanied by helmet promotion activities In one of the studies in the evaluation written material and in depth interviews $n = 8$ were analyzed qualitatively to describe the process and structure of development of the Motala helmet law The other two studies used a quasi experimental design to assess the impact of the helmet law one comprised annual observations of helmet wearing among bicyclists in Motala average $n = 2\,458$ year and control areas average $n = 17\,818$ year and the other included questionnaire data on attitudes beliefs and self reported behavior of school children in Motala $n = 1\,277$ and control areas $n = 2\,198$ The average response rate was 72 8% Results and discussion There was a significant upward trend in helmet use in all categories of bicyclists from 1988 to 2002 Helmet wearing increased from 20% to 35% among children 10 years riding bikes in their leisure time from 5% to 33% among school children and from 2% to 14% in adults Total average helmet use rose from 4% to 17% However during the last five years of the study period 1998 2002 there was no upward trend in helmet wearing for any of the categories of bicyclists If the historic trend in helmet use continues the average wearing rate will be about 30% by the year 2010 The Motala helmet law was dogged by several problems mainly during the initiation phase and some of them led to poor rooting of the law in the schools and indistinct roles and responsibilities of the municipal actors Despite that the law initially led to a significant increase in helmet wearing among the primary target group school children from a pre law level of 65% to about 76% six months post law whereas thereafter the wearing rate gradually decreased and was at the pre law level 2 years after the law was adopted Nonetheless a weak but significant effect on adult bicyclists remained the pre law level of about 2% rose to about 8% at the end of the study period Only about 10% of bicyclists on bike paths in Motala wore helmets 2 years post law The questionnaire study showed one significant effect on school children in Motala two years post law namely a stronger intention to ride bicycles if a national compulsory helmet law was introduced There was however no significant long term influence on children s attitudes or beliefs about helmet wearing which agrees with the results of the observational study General conclusions It is indeed necessary to increase bicycle helmet wearing in Sweden Both the current average rate of helmet use and the rate predicted for the near future are far from the goal of 80% that was officially proposed by several years ago Previous research has shown that to achieve substantial and sustained bicycle helmet use it is necessary to use helmet promotion in combination with a national helmet law that is compulsory and applies to all bicyclists The present evaluation of the non compulsory local helmet law in Motala indicated that this type of initiative is not a powerful alternative to a mandatory national helmet law Nevertheless much has been learned from the initiation and implementation of this local action
