Truelove, 2023-10-30 Angela Jessica and Sarah are three young women who face three unplanned pregnancies Emily a student at Pleasant Grove University volunteers her time at the local pregnancy care center The circumstances surrounding each situation bring them all together for one purpose under Heaven saving lives one heartbeat at a time Free Within Ourselves Jewell Parker Rhodes, 2010-03-31 A Bird by Bird for the African American market A top notch writer's guide filled with practical guidance essays and journal exercises for the African American writer including advice from E Lynn Harris Charles Johnson and Yolanda Joe In her introduction Jewell Parker Rhodes writes Never in four years of college or five years of graduate school was I assigned an exercise or given a story example that included a person of color While the educational system and the publishing world have become progressively more welcoming of African American authors there is still little attention to educating supporting and sustaining the writing process of African American authors Free Within Ourselves is a solid first step it is the book I wished I had when I started out as a writer It is meant to be a song of encouragement for African American artists and visionaries Free Within Ourselves is a step by step introduction to fictional technique exploring story ideas and charting one's progress as well as a resource guide for publishing fiction For the legions of people who have a novel stuck in their word processors help is finally on the way Free Within Ourselves is an excellent guide to all the elements necessary to crafting fiction character development point of view plot atmosphere dialogue diction sentence variety and revision Writing techniques are taught using exercises journaling story examples and analyses of famous writing fragments as well as several complete stories including those of James Baldwin Zora Neale Hurston and Edwidge Danticat among others The book is further enhanced by inspirational advice from successful contemporary black writers such as Bebe Moore Campbell Rita Dove Henry Louis Gates John Edgar Wideman and others a bibliography and a guide to workshops journals magazines contests and fellowships supportive of black arts Who Gets to Write Fiction? Ariel Sacks,2023-10-03 Writing and sharing fiction allows adolescents to glimpse other lives The current curricular emphasis on analytical writing can make it feel risky to teach creative writing in ELA classrooms But the opportunity to write fiction in school opens many doors for young people doors the author argues are critical to the development of our students our education system and even our democracy This book will delight English teachers weary of focusing relentlessly on argument and information writing Veteran teacher Ariel Sacks vividly describes the many academic social emotional and community building advantages of teaching imaginative writing in the classroom not least of which is the impact it has on equity for marginalized students Her book is a teacher to teacher text that folds in detailed practical guidance about how to design lessons and meet standards while presenting a powerful central argument that the writing of fiction should be treated not as a luxury for some but as a center of the English curriculum for all students Heartbeat Michael Lee,2017 Heartbeat Too Phyllis H. Moore,2016-10-04 Lilly and her family and friends had just celebrated Christmas She and her brother Max received a new puppy Gracie She couldn't replace Wanda but she was adorable Virgie Lilly's mother was the perfect hostess for the gathering and even included Roger and Jesse Lilly's new best friends A phone call distracted Lilly as she watched Red rush to Macy's house There was a sinking feeling alerting her to a disruption that would challenge everyone she loved In this second novel of the Heartbeat Series Lilly experiences a flood of emotions and challenges she could not have imagined She also witnesses those around her trying to negotiate their own dilemmas Again her faithful dog Gracie is the one constant she can trust You know Max and I have had these conversations with Mom since she got home from the hospital You talk about pissed when your parent chooses alcohol over your well being that will really piss you off They're not easy conversations Michelle but we always feel better after everyone has said their piece Exploding the Reading David Booth,2014-11-05 One 200 year old folk tale 30 teachers and 1 000 students Ride along with literacy guru David Booth as he takes the same story to a wide variety of classrooms from kindergarten all the way through grade 12 and be amazed by the learning generated David argues that it takes two to read a book He reasons that sharing responses and bouncing ideas off others guides students to deeper thinking and challenges them to reconsider their views and increase their understanding This intriguing book also shows teachers how to help students discover the world outside the text the origins connections place values and the different perceptions that readers have. It illustrates ways to transpose that original text into other forms that let students look at the text with different eyes to ponder what might have been to challenge what they read and to add their new learning to the construct of the world. Throughout the book, authentic student samples and actual transcripts present students experiencing the featured story in a multitude of ways from poems and retellings to visuals and arts to conversation and blogs that will explode your definitions of comprehension, response and engagement and have you looking at classroom literacy in a whole new way.

All She Ever Wanted Rosalind Noonan, 2012-12-24

Falling victim to post partum depression after the birth of her daughter, Chelsea Maynard doubts her ability to parent and even her own sanity until an unthinkable crisis hits, forcing her to face both the fragility and resilience of life and the power of love.

Original Urban Obsessions, Urban Fears John Roger Kurtz, 1998

Kurtz's analysis of the development of the Kenyan novel in English emphasizes the historical contingencies affecting the production of literature in Kenya and how succeeding generations have drawn from and expanded the thematic repertoire established by the first generation of works in the 1960s. He explores the relationship between the novel and the city and how obsessions and fears about the urbanization have been expressed and represented through different generations of Kenyan writers. Kurtz has also put together the first annotated bibliography of all the anglophone Kenyan novels that have appeared since Ngugi wa Thiong'o wrote Weep Not Child. Ngugi's Weep Not Child made an immediate impact on its publication in 1964. Since then, hundreds of novels by Kenyans have been published. This is a comprehensive introduction to the postcolonial novel in English. Three broad areas are identified: the first generation of the sixties, the golden age of the seventies, and the years after Kenyatta in the 80s and 90s. A unifying feature is an uneasy but marked emphasis on the city, particularly Nairobi. The city is used by novelists as both the site and the symbol for a range of obsessions and fears about postcolonial society. There is particular emphasis on the changing ways in which the city has been portrayed since Ngugi's first novel: the relation of popular literature to the city, the portrayal of women in the city, and the special status of Meja Mwangi's urban novels.
