Global Dimensions Space Place And The Contemporary World:

Global Dimensions John R. Short, 2001 John Rennie Short disagrees with the common negative stereotype of globalization arguing that the world today actually thrives on local differences and that a global polity tends to reinforce not repress the power of individual nation states

Global Dimensions, 2004 Globalization is one of today's most powerful and pervasive ideas for some a welcome dream for others a nightmare The term is used in the popular press as a sort of shorthand for the notion that all parts of the world are becoming more alike It is also

Spaces of Global Cultures Anthony King, 2004-08-02 This book brings together a series of new and historical case studies to show how different phases of globalization are transforming the built environment Taking a broad interdisciplinary approach the author draws on sociological geographical cultural and postcolonial studies to provide a critical account of the development of three key concepts global culture post colonialism and modernity Subsequent case studies examine how global economic political and cultural forces shape the forms of architectural and urban modernity in globalized suburbs and spaces in major cities worldwide The first book to combine global and postcolonial theoretical approaches to the built environment and to illustrate these with examples Spaces of Global Cultures argues for a more historical and interdisciplinary understanding of globalization one that places material space and the built environment at the centre and calls for new theories to address new conditions

Lebanon Adrift Samir Khalaf, 2012-05-28 Lebanon today is at a fateful crossroads in its eventful socio cultural and political history Imperiled by unsettling transformations from postwar reconstruction and rehabilitation to the forces of postmodernity and globalism it remains adrift In this landmark study Samir Khalaf explores how ordinary citizens burdened by the consequences of an ugly and unfinished war persisting regional rivalries mounting economic deprivation and diminishing prospects for well being find meaning and coherence in a society that has not only lost its moorings and direction but also its sense of control Khalaf argues that a mood of lethargy and indifference prevails with a growing tendency for the Lebanese to seek refuge in religiosity communalism and cloistered spatial identities or temporary relief in the allure of mass

consumerism The Differentiated Countryside Philip Lowe, Terry Marsden and, Jonathan Murdoch, Neil Ward, 2005-07-08 In the wake of BSE the threat to ban fox hunting and Foot and Mouth disease the English countryside appears to be in turmoil Long standing uses of rural space are in crisis and unsurprisingly political processes in rural areas are marked by conflicts between groups such as farmers environmentalists developers and local residents Using an innovative theoretical approach based on networks of conventions this book investigates the regionalisation of the English countryside through a series of case studies These studies are based on a set of ideal types the preserved countryside where environmental pressures are strongly expressed the contested countryside where development processes are shaped by disputes between agrarian and environmental interests and the paternalistic countryside where large landowners continue to oversee patterns of land development It looks in detail at landowners residents politicians planners farmers and environmentalists and shows how these groups compete The Differentiated Countryside argues that the countryside is increasingly governed by regional policies It becomes hard to discern a single English countryside we see the emergence of multiple countrysides places where diverse modes of identity are expressed and differing forms of development take place Such diversity it is argued now lies at the heart of rural England The Beijing Olympiad Paul Close, David Askew, Xu Xin, 2006-12-05 The stage is set for the Beijing Olympiad to be the greatest mega event sporting or otherwise in history Still the issues taxing many minds include whether the Beijing Games will be successful whether they will be wrought with and wrecked by troubles and who they will benefit What value will the 2008 Games be to the people of China Will they mainly serve the purposes of the dominant political economic and cultural groups at and between the local regional and global levels of modern social life The Beijing Olympiad examines these among other questions providing a range of original insights of interest to an array of scholars researchers and students from Sports Studies to Sociology Politics Economics International Relations and Legal Studies

Routledge Handbook on Tourism in the Middle East and North Africa Dallen Timothy, 2018-12-07 The Routledge Handbook on Tourism in the Middle East and North Africa examines the importance of tourism as a historical economic social environmental religious and political force in the Middle East and North Africa MENA It highlights the ecological and resource challenges related to water desert environments climate change and oil It provides an in depth analysis of the geopolitical conditions that have long determined the patterns of tourism demand and supply throughout the region and how these play out in the everyday lives of residents and destinations as they attempt to grow tourism or ignore it entirely While cultural heritage remains the primary tourism asset for the region as a whole many new types of tourisms are emerging especially in the Arabian Gulf region where hyper development is closely associated with the increasingly prominent role of luxury real estate and shopping retail medical tourism cruises and transit tourism The growing phenomenon of an expatriate workforce and how its segregation from the citizenry creates a dual socio economic system in several countries is unmatched by other regions of the world Many indigenous people of MENA keep themselves apart from other dominant groups in the region although these social boundaries are becoming increasingly blurred as tourism being one socio economic force for change has inspired many nomadic peoples to settle into towns and villages and rely more on tourists for their livelihoods All of these issues and more shape the foundations of this book This Handbook is the first of its kind to examine tourism from a broad regional and inclusive perspective surveying a broad range of social cultural heritage ecological and political matters in a single volume With a wide range of contributors many of whom are natives of the Middle East and North Africa this Handbook is a vital resource for students and scholars interested in Tourism Middle East Studies and Geography

Chromophobia David Batchelor, 2000-09 Batchelor coins the term chromophobia A fear of corruption or contamination through color in a meditation on color in western culture Batchelor analyzes the history of and the motivations behind chromophobia from its beginnings through examples of nineteenth century literature twentieth century architecture and film to Pop art minimalism and the art and architecture of the present day He argues that there is a tradition of resistance to colour in the West exemplified by many attempts to purge color from art literature and architecture Batchelor seeks to analyze the motivations behind chromophobia considering the work of writers and philosophers who have used color as a significant motif and offering new interpretations of familiar texts and works of art Dreamtelling Pierre Sorlin, 2003 In Dreamtelling Pierre Sorlin does not deal with our nocturnal visions per se but rather with what we say regarding them He explores the influence of dreams on our imaginations and the various sometimes inconsistent always imperfect theories people have contrived to elucidate them

Building Bangalore John Stallmeyer, 2010-10-04 Examining spatial transformations in Bangalore one of India's fastest growing cities this book highlights the influence of information and communications technology ICT development on the city Focusing on the production of urban space and the processes that inform such production the author proposes that Silicon Valley California has become a globalized model for the production of ICT urban development The book presents a history of Bangalore's urban development and the emergence of the ICT industry there Using this historical analysis and the geography of ICT development the author identifies several case study areas where ICT development is transforming the built environment Building on this analysis the author goes on to suggest that the development in Bangalore over the last 20 years represents a type of informational cascade and that the case studies illustrate that local information alters the course of ICT development and has the potential to overturn this cascade This in turn could lead to a more sustainable urban future one that profits from the city's regional advantages The transformations taking place in Bangalore are occurring in many cities that are competing in the new informational economy This book makes an important contribution to studies on South Asia as well as Architecture and Urban Studies

Contesting the Foreshore Jeremy Boissevain, Tom Selwyn, 2004 This collection of essays examines social political and economic relations in primarily European coastal locations through the lens of tourism The contributors explore the intersecting interests of fishing tourism and development and the conflict among local communities and market forces all of which are infused with the symbolism of the sea as a place of mystery and danger From the tensions between Cornish villagers and city visitors to the explosion of resort development in Gran Canaria the authors consider the relationship between local residents businesses and tourist newcomers as they vie for status influence and ultimately for space

Globalization and Orthodox Christianity Victor Roudometof,2013-10-15 With approximately 200 to 300 million adherents worldwide Orthodox Christianity is among the largest branches of Christianity yet it remains relatively understudied This book examines the rich and complex entanglements between Orthodox Christianity and globalization offering a substantive contribution to the relationship between religion and globalization as well as the relationship between Orthodox Christianity and the sociology of religion and more broadly the interdisciplinary field of Religious Studies While deeply engaged with history this book does not simply narrate the history of Orthodox Christianity as a world religion nor does it address theological issues or cover all the individual trajectories of each subgroup or subdivision of the faith Orthodox Christianity is the object of the analysis but author Victor Roudometof speaks to a broader audience interested in culture religion and globalization Roudometof argues in favor of using globalization instead of modernization as the main theoretical vehicle for analyzing religion displacing secularization in order to argue for multiple hybridizations of religion as a suitable strategy for analyzing religious phenomena It offers Orthodox Christianity as a test case that illustrates the presence of historically specific but theoretically distinct glocalizations applicable to all faiths
