Movie Minorities Hye Seung Chung,David Scott Diffrient,2021-08-13 Rights advocacy has become a prominent facet of South Korea s increasingly transnational motion picture output especially following the 1998 presidential inauguration of Kim Dae jung a former political prisoner and victim of human rights abuses who received the Nobel Peace Prize in 2000 Today it is not unusual to see a big budget production about the pursuit of social justice or the protection of civil liberties contending for the top spot at the box office With that cultural shift has come a diversification of film subjects which range from undocumented workers rights to the sexual harassment experienced by women to high school bullying to the struggles among people with disabilities to gain inclusion within a society that has transformed significantly since winning democratic freedoms three decades ago Combining in depth textual analyses of films such as Bleak Night Okja Planet of Snail Repatriation and Silenced with broader historical contextualization Movie Minorities offers the first English language study of South Korean cinema s role in helping to galvanize activist social movements across several identity based categories
