Helen Macfarlane A Feminist Revolutionary Journalist And Philosopher In Mid 19th Century England:

Helen Macfarlane David Black,2004 Helen Macfarlane a young British woman was living in Vienna when she was radicalized by the 1848 Revolution On returning to England in 1850 she became a journalist for the radical wing of the Chartist movement The Chartists received support from such luminaries as Karl Marx and Fredrich Engles the latter had written on the movement s political significance It was Marx who described Macfarlane as the most original writer in the Chartist press Macfarlane was the first English translator of The Communist Manifesto Her original translation is included in this edition She is also the first of the British to comment critically and extensively on the revolutionary implications of Hegel s philosophy After having been hidden for a century her stature as a revolutionary writer and feminist emerges in David Black s seminal work With diligent research into her life and work Black in Helen Macfarlane A Feminist Revolutionary Journalist and Philosopher in Mid 19th Century England recreates her intellectual and political world at a key turning point in European history This work also includes Macfarlane s original translation of The Communist Manifesto

Helen Macfarlane David Black,2004-01-01 Helen Macfarlane revolutionary social critic feminist and Hegelian philosopher was the first English translator of Karl Marx and Fredrich Engel s the Communist Manifesto Her original translation is included in this edition Marx publicly admired her as a rare and original thinker and journalist This book recreates her intellectual and political world at a key turning point in European history The nineteenth-century present Koenraad Claes,Elizabeth Ludlow,2025-07-29 The Nineteenth Century Present explores the multiple ways in which history was understood structured and reassessed in literary theological and political contexts across the nineteenth century While the scope of the book is wide ranging from the representations of geological time and ancient history to the writing of the recent past and covering the work of writers from Walter Scott to G K Chesterton each chapter reveals how present concerns intrude on and shape every view of history Ultimately the collection emphasises that issues raised regarding historicity in recent methodological debates were already concerns in the nineteenth century

Citizen Marx Bruno Leipold,2024-11-19 The first book to offer a comprehensive exploration of Marx s relationship to republicanism arguing that it is essential to understanding his thought In Citizen Marx Bruno Leipold argues that contrary to certain interpretive commonplaces Karl Marx s thinking was deeply informed by republicanism Marx s relation to republicanism changed over the course of his life but its complex influence on his thought cannot be reduced to wholesale adoption or rejection Challenging common depictions of Marx that downplay or ignore his commitment to politics democracy and freedom Leipold shows that Marx viewed democratic political institutions as crucial to overcoming the social unfreedom and domination of capitalism One of Marx s principal political values Leipold contends was a republican conception of freedom according to which one is unfree when subjected to arbitrary power Placing Marx s republican communism in its historical context but not consigning him to that context Leipold traces Marx s shifting relationship to republicanism across three broad periods First Marx began his political life as a republican committed to a democratic republic in which citizens held active popular sovereignty Second he transitioned to communism criticizing republicanism but incorporating the republican opposition to arbitrary power into his social critiques He argued that although a democratic republic was not sufficient for emancipation it was necessary for it Third spurred by the events of the Paris Commune of 1871 he came to view popular control in representation and public administration as essential to the realization of communism Leipold shows how Marx positioned his republican communism to displace both antipolitical socialism and anticommunist republicanism One of Marx s great contributions Leipold suggests was to place politics and especially democratic politics at the heart of socialism

The Philosophical Roots of Anti-Capitalism David Black,2013-12-11 Alfred Sohn Rethel located the origin of philosophical abstraction in the false consciousness brought about by the new money economy of Greek Antiquity In the Enlightenment the conceptual barrier Kant put between phenomenal reality and the thing in itself expressed in Sohn Rethel s view the reified consciousness stemming from commodity exchange and the division of mental and manual labor Because Sohn Rethel saw the entire history of philosophy as branded by a timeless universal logic he dismissed Hegel s concept of totality as idealist and Hegel s critique of Kantian dualism as irrelevant to Marx s critique of political economy David Black in the title essay of The Philosophical Roots of Anti Capitalism suggests contra Sohn Rethel that Marx s exposition of the fetishism of commodities is historically specific to capitalist production and therefore cannot explain the origins of philosophy which Black shows to have involved various historical developments in Greek society and culture as well as monetization Just as Hegel s critique of Kantian formalism informs Marx s critique of capital Hegel s writings on how the proper organization of labor might abolish the barrier Aristotle put between production and the Realm of Freedom prefigure Marx s efforts to formulate of an alternative to capitalism Part Two Critique of the Situationist Dialectic Art Class Consciousness and Reification begins with Surrealism whose disappearance as a revolutionary artistic and social force Guy Debord and the Situationists sought to make up for by superseding the poetry of Art with the poetry of Life As well highlighting Debord's achievements in both theory and practice Black points to his philosophical shortcomings and relates these to Debord's later pessimistic assessment of the possibility of revolutionary class consciousness within globalizing capitalism The four essays in Part Three cover the Aristotelian anarchism the ambivalent legacy of Lukács theory of reification Raya Dunayevskaya's Hegelian Marxist concept of absolute negativity as revolution in permanence and Gillian Rose's philosophical challenge to both postmodernism and traditional Marxism
