Endangered Animals A Reference Guide To Conflicting Issues:

Endangered Animals Brian Miller, Richard P. Reading, 2000-09-30 Explore the multiple issues that surround species declines and conservation efforts through the only reference source to examine the conflicting conservation issues of 49 endangered species While the causes of endangerment are relatively easy to understand the ultimate or underlying factors are often far more complex and difficult to address An introduction to these issues and how to resolve them is provided in this unique collection of case studies of animal species that have been pushed to the brink of extinction Each case study provides the following information Common name Scientific name Order Family Status Threats Habitat Distribution Natural history Conflicting Issues Future and Prognosis Conservationists are increasingly recognizing that the ultimate causes of extinction are primarily socio economic and political yet biological approaches to recovery continue to dominate More inclusive interdisciplinary conservation programs are explored here to offer better prospects for managing problems and conflicts In addition to the case studies trends and common themes are explored to provide a comprehensive interdisciplinary approach to conservation Students and teachers can explore a wide variety of endangered species programs and the conflicting issues common to recovery efforts which will enable them to evaluate conservation practice and to draw their own conclusions for improvement

Coexisting with Large Carnivores Tim Clark, Murray Rutherford, Denise Casey, 2013-04-10 As in the rest of the United States grizzly bears wolves and mountain lions in and around Yellowstone National Park were eliminated or reduced decades ago to very low numbers In recent years however populations have begun to recover leading to encounters between animals and people and more significantly to conflicts among people about what to do with these often controversial neighbors Coexisting with Large Carnivores presents a close up look at the socio political context of large carnivores and their management in western Wyoming south of Yellowstone National Park including the southern part of what is commonly recognized as the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem The book brings together researchers and others who have studied and worked in the region to help untangle some of the highly charged issues associated with large carnivores their interactions with humans and the politics that arise from those interactions This volume argues that coexistence will be achieved only by a thorough understanding of the human populations involved their values attitudes beliefs and the institutions through which carnivores and humans are managed Coexisting with Large Carnivores offers important insights into this complex dynamic issue and provides a unique overview of issues and strategies for managers researchers government officials ranchers and everyone else concerned about the management and conservation of large carnivores and the people who live nearby

Mountain Area Research and

Management Martin F. Price, 2013 This book brings together scientists and practitioners from five continents to present their experience in undertaking activities that contribute to our understanding and informed management of mountain areas. In particular they address the challenges of working in interdisciplinary teams and of effectively involving stakeholders. The result is a powerful book that integrates research from different disciplines in the natural and social sciences and in some cases indigenous knowledge to address the question of how knowledge is gained about mountain areas and how can it be integrated and used in effective management. A comprehensive introduction covers the challenges in mountain area research and management and the need for integrated approaches. This is followed by chapters that look at key areas of mountain research and management over the past 25 years covering inter and trans disciplinary research, subsistence cultures and sustainable development, innovations in watershed management and biodiversity conservation. Subsequent chapters cover key areas of research and management on five continents with a focus on comparison of common challenges and solutions across regions. The concluding chapter brings these experiences together. Published with Parks Canada.

Annual Report Yellowstone Center for Resources, 2002 Africa & the Middle East Kevin Hillstrom, Laurie Collier Hillstrom, 2003-11-17 A concise yet thorough overview of the environmental issues, problems and controversies facing the continent of Africa and the Middle East. Examining both the rich biological heritage of the world's second largest continent and the very serious human threats to it, Africa and the Middle East explores the impact global pollution and a burgeoning population are having on landscape and wildlife alike. How is global warming responsible for the rapidly expanding Sahara Desert? Can local populations be recruited to preserve threatened species? Over 80 percent of Madagascar's species are endemic, the highest percentage of any major ecological region in the world, such as the highly endangered aye-aye which resembles a cross between a monkey, a bat and a woodpecker, and the giraffe-necked weevil, a red rainforest insect with a neck like a fire truck rescue ladder. Readers will learn all about these fascinating species and much more. Reference & User Services Quarterly, 2000

The novel begins with Richard Papen, a bright but troubled young man, arriving at Hampden College. Richard is immediately drawn to the group of students who call themselves the Classics Club. The club is led by Henry Winter, a brilliant and charismatic young man. Henry is obsessed with Greek mythology and philosophy, and he quickly draws Richard into his world. The other members of the Classics Club are equally as fascinating. Bunny Corcoran is a wealthy and spoiled young man who is always looking for a good time. Charles Tavis is a quiet and reserved young man who is deeply in love with Henry. Camilla Macaulay is a beautiful and intelligent young woman who is drawn to the power and danger of the Classics Club. The students are all deeply in love with Morrow, and they are willing to do anything to please him. Morrow is a complex and mysterious figure, and he seems to be manipulating the students for his own purposes. As the students become more involved with Morrow, they begin to commit increasingly dangerous acts. The Secret History is a brilliant and gripping novel that will keep you guessing until the very end. The novel is a warning tale about the dangers of obsession and the power of evil.
