Household Archaeology in Ancient Israel and Beyond Assaf Yasur-Landau, Jennie R. Ebeling, Laura B. Mazow, 2013-02-06 Despite the large number of well preserved domestic contexts in Bronze and Iron Age sites household archaeology has not been a common approach to studying the material culture of Ancient Israel Until recently the dictates of Biblical Archaeology led to a narrow set of questions that ignored issues such as gender status and production within the household The present volume which grew out of a session at the 2008 Annual Meeting of the American Schools of Oriental Research attempts to redress this issue The seventeen papers herein reflect innovative viewpoints on the theory and praxis of household archaeology in this region The next step in household research is presented here with the use of tailor made data collection strategies designed to answer specific questions posed by household archaeology The neglect of households and the archaeology of the activities of its members are ambitiously attended to in this volume Its exceptional breadth of various modes of inquiry coupled with the application thereof justifies the household as a topic of discussion I would highly recommend this book for institutions libraries scholars and students interested in any aspect of daily life in the southern Levant and I very much look forward to the future research projects it will inspire Cynthia Shafer Elliot William Jessup University as a whole the work is impressive and most contributions are commendable for their sophistication in engaging interdisciplinary research in order to understand the nature and function of households in ancient Israel and surrounding areas Carol Meyers Duke University

Troy and Homer Joachim Latacz,2004-10-28 The ancient Greek poet Homer tells of the wealthy city of Troy and its defeat in the Trojan War Since the classical period there has been much debate about whether this is a poetic fiction or a memory of historical reality Earlier excavations at the hill of Hisarlik in Turkey brought no answer but in 1988 new excavations under the direction of Manfred Korfmann led to a radical shift in understanding In this book Joachim Latacz one of Korfmann s closest collaborators shows how this new research has shed light on what is now known about Troy and the Trojan War

A Public and Political Christ Bart B. Bruehler,2011-08-05 Was Jesus a public figure A political figure Yes according to Luke s gospel Jesus was a Christ who was both public and political Recent developments in the theory and practice of the study of space have provided tools to classify ancient social spatial spheres with greater nuance and depth A broad survey of literary and archaeological resources in the ancient world as well as an in depth look at Plutarch s Political Precepts and Philostratus s Life of Apollonius reveals that the familiar dichotomy of public and private does not suffice to describe the Hellenistic Roman milieu that shaped the author and audience of the third gospel This study employs social spatial analysis to explore how Luke uses the power of place to portray Jesus frequently engaging the unofficial public sphere and local politics specifically in 18 35 19 43 the public healing of the blind beggar the unexpected impact of Zacchaeus s hospitality the political implications of the parable of the king and his subjects and the publicity and politics of Jesus entry into Jerusalem The result is an illuminating look at the overall spatial character of Luke s gospel the development of Christianity in the latter half of the first century and the role of place in contemporary Christianity

The Kahramanmaraş Valley Survey Elizabeth Carter,2024-08-01 The volume presents a study of local landscape histories in the Kahramanmaraş valley a previously understudied but pivotal crossroads along the Syro Anatolian frontier The Holocene vegetation history is presented in relation to climatic changes and human impact through the pollen analytical results of a deep core obtained from a former Salık Gavur lakebed Extensive surface surveys carried out in the region between 1993 and 2000 form the basis of the settlement pattern studies beginning with the first permanent settlement of the valley in the Neolithic and ending with the Islamic era The results of an intensive full coverage and transect surveys around Domuztepe are found in Chapter 10 The analysis of a long historical record diverse physical environment and a significant number of archaeological sites are used to outline the myriad ways the ancient residents of this region between Syria and Anatolia made it their home for over seven thousand years Hellenistic and Roman Strata Larry A. The Saint-Etienne Compound Hypogea, Jerusalem Riccardo Lufrani, 2019-01-21 In 1885 a large hypogaeum was discovered at the Saint tienne Compound the domain acquired only two and a half years before by the Dominicans on the western slope of El Heidhemiyeh hill about 250 m north of the Jerusalem Ottoman wall After the unearthing of a second large hypogaeum only fifty metres north of Hypogaeum 1 in their monumental work on the history of Jerusalem the two eminent Dominican scholars Louis Hugues Vincent and Felix Marie Abel proposed to date the two burial complexes to the Hellenistic or Roman period This dating remained unchallenged until the survey of 1974 75 carried out by the distinguished Israeli archaeologists Gabriel Barkay and Amos Kloner who proposed to date the two burial caves towards the end of the Judahite kingdom on the basis of an unsystematic comparison of few architectural features with those of other tombs In the frame of the improved knowledge of the broad and adjacent archaeological contexts since the last study of the Saint tienne Compound Hypogea between 2011 and 2014 Riccardo Lufrani carried out a detailed survey of the two burial caves providing new and more detailed photographic topographic archaeological and geological documentation The systematic comparison of the significant architectural features of the Saint tienne Compound Hypogea with a consistent sample of 22 tombs in the region suggest dating the hewing of the two hypogea to the Early Hellenistic period shedding a new light on the history of Jerusalem

Bulletin of the American Schools of Oriental Research American Schools of Oriental Research, 1926 Includes reports of the organization's officers 1922 A Research Guide to the Ancient World John M. Weeks, Jason de Medeiros, 2014-11-25

The archaeological study of the ancient world has become increasingly popular in recent years. A Research Guide to the Ancient World Print and Electronic Sources is a partially annotated bibliography. The study of the ancient world is usually although not exclusively considered a branch of the humanities including archaeology, art history, languages, literature, philosophy, and related cultural disciplines which consider the ancient cultures of the Mediterranean world and adjacent Egypt and southwestern Asia. Chronologically, the ancient world would extend from the beginning of the Bronze Age of ancient Greece ca 1000 BCE to the fall of the Western Roman Empire ca 500 CE. This book will close the traditional subject gap between the humanities (Classical World, Egyptology) and the social sciences (anthropological archaeology, Near East) in the study of the ancient world. This book is uniquely the only bibliographic resource available for such holistic coverage. The volume consists of 17 chapters and seven appendixes arranged according to the traditional types of library research materials: bibliographies, dictionaries, atlases, etc. The appendixes are mostly subject specific, including graduate programs in ancient studies, reports from significant archaeological sites, numismatics, and paleography and writing systems. These extensive author and subject indexes help facilitate ease of use.

The Kyrenia Ship Final Excavation Report, Volume I
Susan Womer Katzev, Helena Wylde Swiny, 2022-12-01

The Kyrenia Ship, a Greek merchantman built around 315 BC which sank off the north coast of Cyprus, was excavated between 1968 and 1972 under the direction of Michael L. Katzev of the University of Pennsylvania and Oberlin College. The importance of this ship lies in the exceptionally well-preserved hull that provided new insights into ancient shipbuilding as well as the cargo it carried. The hold was stacked with transport amphoras of various types made on Rhodes, with a few examples from Samos, Kos, Knidos, and Cyprus, supplemented by a consignment of millstones, iron billets, and almonds. The cabin pottery from Rhodes also suggests this was the vessel's home port, a conclusion supported by most of the scientific ceramic analyses. Its trade route included Rhodes, Cyprus, and the Levant, with perhaps Egypt as a final destination. This volume provides a detailed history of the excavation, followed by definitive studies of the amphora cargo and the pottery associated with shipboard life. Some of the amphora stamps suggest that the ship sank between 294 and 291 BC, dates corroborated by the cabin wares. The repetition of four drinking cups (kantharoi), oil containers (gutti), wine measures (olpai), as well as bowls and saucers, suggests that the ship was sailed by a crew of four. Seven bronze coins were recovered, five minted in the name of Alexander the Great and one well-known type of Ptolemy I produced only on Cyprus.
