Four Interpolated Stories In The Roman C:

The Iliad: A Commentary Richard Janko, 1985 This is the first volume of a projected six volume Commentary on Homer's Iliad under the General Editorship of professor G S Kirk Professor Kirk himself is the editor of the present volume which covers the first four Books of Iliad It consists of four introductory chapters dealing in particular with rhythm and formulaic techniques followed by the detailed commentary which aims at helping serious readers by attempting to identify and deal with most of the difficulties which might stand in the way of a sensitive and informed response to the poem The Catalogues in Book 2 receive especially full treatment The book does not include a Greek text important matters pertaining to the text are discussed in the commentary It is hoped that the volume as a whole will lead scholars to a better understanding of the epic style as well as of many well known thematic problems on a larger scale This Commentary will be an essential reference work for all students of Greek literature Archaeologists and historians will also find that it contains matters of relevance to them

Anti-novel and Pleasure of the Text Laura Véronique Truffaut, 1995 The Works of John Ruskin: The letters of John Ruskin John Ruskin, 1909 Volume 1 35 works Volume 36 37 letters Volume 38 provides an extensive bibliography of Ruskin's writings and a catalogue of his drawings with corrections to earlier volumes in George Allen's Library Edition of the Works of John Ruskin Volume 39 general index ANF07. Fathers of the Third and Fourth Centuries: Lactantius, Venantius, Asterius, Victorinus, Dionysius, Apostolic Teaching and Constitutions, Homily, and Liturgies , Experimental Histories Hannah Weaver, 2024-08-15 In Experimental Histories Hannah Weaver examines the medieval practice of interpolation inserting material from one text into another which is often categorized as being a problematic inauthentic phenomenon akin to forgery and pseudepigraphy Instead Weaver promotes interpolation as the signature form of medieval British historiography and a vehicle of historical theory arguing that some of the most novel concepts of time in medieval historiography can be found in these altered narratives of the past For Weaver historiographical interpolation constitutes the traces of active experimentation with how best to write history particularly the history of Britain Historians in twelfth and thirteenth century Britain recognized the difficulty of enfolding complex events into a linear chronology and embraced innovative textual methods of creating history Focusing on the Brut tradition but also analyzing the long history of interpolated historiography including the Bayeux Embroidery Experimental Histories offers a new interpretation of generic remixing in medieval writing about the past Drawing on both manuscript studies and the new formalism it shows that the practice of inserting materials from romance and hagiography allowed creative revisers to explore how lived events relate to passing time By embracing interpolation Weaver provides lively insights into the ways that time becomes history and human actors experience time

Thronos: Rival Accounts of Roman Primacy in Eusebius and Athanasius Fr. Vincent Twomey,2023-06-27 The nature of Roman primacy and the extent of the teaching and jurisdictional authority of the pope have long been areas of misunderstanding and disagreement between the Catholic Church and the Orthodox Churches of the East Just as the Petrine office of the Roman pontiff admits of historical unfolding so too do differing theological accounts of this office and the period of the fourth century Arian controversy marks a significant stage in the development of both D Vincent Twomey s Apostolikos Thronos exposes two divergent Eastern accounts of Roman primacy in the writings of the rival fourth century bishops Eusebius of Caesarea and Athanasius of Alexandria In the first part Twomey examines successive versions of Eusebius Church History and he shows how Eusebius comes to replace his earlier apostolic ecclesiology with a novel imperial ecclesiology tied to Constantine s embrace of Christianity a shift that both reflects and contributes to a lasting change in the consciousness of the East toward the See of Rome The second part explores the perspective on Roman primacy found in Athanasius historical and apologetic works penned in response to his deposition from the See of Alexandria which reveal how Athanasius preserves the traditional apostolic ecclesiology of the early Eusebius and also displays a deepening theological appreciation for the preeminence of the church and bishop of Rome anticipating later articulations of the theology of the papacy Cornelii Taciti Annalium Libri I-IV: Books xi-xvi Cornelius Tacitus,1907 A History of Roman Literature W.
