Fragment Of Autobiography Fun Of Writing The Inside:

A Fragment of Autobiography John Gunther, 1961 Book Diplomacy in the Cultural Cold War, 2025-06-26 Broadly speaking book diplomacy covers the use of books to achieve certain objectives related to the foreign policy interests of a given country usually involving state private partnerships of varying degrees In this volume scholars from different disciplines examine in detail how books functioned as tools of soft power and cultural diplomacy during the cultural Cold War This study also introduces a 10 point typology to examine the many forms and practices of Cold War book diplomacy and the diversity of objectives and outcomes that they involved Looking beyond the Cold War this volume stresses the continuing importance of books as a distinct form of material culture used to convey information around the world Contributors are Tahoor Ali Hanna Blum Deborah Cohn C cile Cottenet Alexander Erokhin Esmaeil Haddadian Moghaddam Musa Igrek Julia Lin Thompson R sa Magn sd ttir Christos Mais Hafiz Abid Masood Mila Milani Birgitte Beck Pristed Giles Scott Smith Ilaria Sicari and Steven W Witt Journalism's Roving Eye John Maxwell Hamilton, 2011-08-15 In all of journalism nowhere are the stakes higher than in foreign news gathering For media owners it is the most difficult type of reporting to finance for editors the hardest to oversee Correspondents roaming large swaths of the planet must acquire expertise that home based reporters take for granted facility with the local language for instance or an understanding of local cultures Adding further to the challenges they must put news of the world in context for an audience with little experience and often limited interest in foreign affairs a task made all the more daunting because of the consequence to national security In Journalism's Roving Eye John Maxwell Hamilton a historian and former foreign correspondent provides a sweeping and definitive history of American foreign news reporting from its inception to the present day and chronicles the economic and technological advances that have influenced overseas coverage as well as the cavalcade of colorful personalities who shaped readers perceptions of the world across two centuries From the colonial era when newspaper printers hustled down to wharfs to collect mail and periodicals from incoming ships to the ongoing multimedia press coverage of the Iraq War Hamilton explores journalism's constant and not always successful efforts at dishing the foreign news as James Gordon Bennett put it in the mid nineteenth century to describe his approach in the New York Herald He details the highly partisan coverage of the French Revolution the early emergence of special correspondents and the challenges of organizing their efforts the profound impact of the non yellow press in the run up to the Spanish American War the increasingly sophisticated machinery of propaganda and censorship that surfaced during World War I and the golden age of foreign correspondence during the interwar period when outlets for foreign news swelled and a large number of experienced independent journalists circled the globe From the Nazis intimidation of reporters to the ways in which American popular opinion shaped coverage of Communist revolution and the Vietnam War Hamilton covers every aspect of delivering foreign news to American doorsteps Along the way Hamilton singles out a fascinating cast of characters among them Victor Lawson the overlooked proprietor of the Chicago Daily News who pioneered the concept of a foreign news service geared to American interests Henry Morton Stanley one of the first reporters to generate news on his own with his 1871 expedition to East Africa to find Livingstone and Jack Belden a forgotten brooding figure who exemplified the best in combat reporting Hamilton details the experiences of correspondents editors owners publishers and network executives as well as the political leaders who made the news and the technicians who invented ways to transmit it Their stories bring the narrative to life in arresting detail and make this an indispensable book for anyone wanting to understand the evolution of foreign news gathering Amid the steep drop in the number of correspondents stationed abroad and the recent decline of the newspaper industry many fear that foreign reporting will soon no longer exist But as Hamilton shows in this magisterial work traditional correspondence survives alongside a new type of reporting Journalism s Roving Eye offers a keen understanding of the vicissitudes in foreign news an understanding imperative to better seeing what lies ahead

Paige,2001 Autobiography came into being when we began to see the self differently Situating Josephus' Life within Ancient Autobiography Davina Grojnowski,2023-06-15 Davina Grojnowski examines Life the autobiographical text written by ancient Jewish historian Flavius Josephus from a literary studies perspective and in relation to genre theory In order to generate a framework of literary practices Josephus Life and other texts within Josephus literary spheres all associated with autobiography are the focus of a detailed literary analysis which compares the texts in terms of established features such as structure topoi and subject This methodological examination enables a better understanding of the literary boundaries of autobiography in antiquity and illustrates Josephus thought process during the composition of Life Grojnowski also offers a comparative study of autobiographical practices in Greek and Roman literature demonstrating the value of passive education supplementing what had been taught actively and its impact on authors and audiences As a result she provides insight into the development of literary practices in reaction to various forms of education and subsequently reflects on the religious self views of authors and audiences Simultaneously Grojnowski reacts to current discourses on ancient literary genres and demonstrates that ancient autobiography existed as a teachable literary genre in classical literature Dickens and the Imagined Child Peter Merchant,Catherine Waters,2016-04-22 The figure of the child and the imaginative and emotional capacities associated with children have always been sites of lively contestation for readers and critics of Dickens In Dickens and the Imagined Child leading scholars explore the function of the child and childhood within Dickens s imagination and reflect on the cultural resonance of his engagement with this topic Part I of the collection examines the Dickensian child as both characteristic type and particular example proposing a typology of the Dickensian child that is followed by discussions of specific children in Oliver Twist Dombey and Son and Bleak House Part II focuses on the relationship between childhood and memory by examining the various ways in which the child s eye view was reabsorbed into Dickens s mature sensibility The essays in Part III focus upon reading and writing as particularly significant aspects of childhood experience from Dickens s childhood reading of tales of adventure they move to discussion of the child readers in his novels and finally to a consideration of his own early writings alongside those that his children contributed to the Gad s Hill Gazette The collection therefore builds a picture of the remembered experiences of childhood being realised anew both by Dickens and through his inspiring example in the imaginative creations that they came to inform While the protagonist of David Copperfield that favourite child among Dickens s novels comes to think of his childhood self as something which he left behind upon the road of life for Dickens himself leaving continually through his own back pages there can be no putting away of childish things The New York Times Book Review ,1979 Presents extended reviews of noteworthy books short reviews essays and articles on topics and trends in publishing literature culture and the arts Includes lists of best sellers hardcover and paperback Wisconsin Library Bulletin ,1961 Tactile Poetics Sarah Jackson,2015-06-07 A new critical perspective on the relationship between text and tact in 20th and 21st century literature and theory Therapeutic Dimensions of Autobiography in Creative Writing Celia Hunt,2000 It was the author s own experience of fictional autobiography that led Celia Hunt serendipitously to appreciate that such writing could be therapeutic She noticed for example and this was subsequently echoed in many of her students experiences a beneficial psychological change and increased inner freedom greater psychic flexibility perhaps the key to creativity and psychological health a stronger sense of personal identity This book tells us about the hows and whys of such therapeutic change AutoBiographyJournal.com A critical examination of the therapeutic possibilities of autobiographical fiction that draws on perspectives from both psychoanalytic and literary studies The Journal Of Critical Psychology Counselling and Psychotherapy Therapeutic Dimensions of Autobiography in Creative Writing brings together theory and practice from psychoanalysis literary and cultural studies and the growing field of creative writing studies It highlights the importance of autobiographical writing not only as an opening into fiction writing but also as a powerful therapeutic tool Celia Hunt discusses how autobiographical fiction can be used in therapeutic work by art therapists psychotherapists and creative writing tutors as well as in personal development by writers of any kind She draws up guidelines for a successful course on autobiography and creative writing and presents case studies and practical ideas for writing about the self She shows how writing autobiographical fiction can help people to explore significant events and relationships in their lives Finding a writing voice in this way clarifies and strengthens the writer s sense of identity leading to a fuller realisation of his or her potential in life
