Reading Auschwitz Mary Lagerwey, 1998-10-27 My mind refuses to play its part in the scholarly exercise I walk around in a daze remembering occasionally to take a picture I ve heard that many people cry here but I am too numb to feel The wind whips through my wool coat I am very cold and I imagine what the wind would have felt like for someone here fifty years ago without coat boots or gloves Hours later as I write I tell myself a story about the day hoping it is true and hoping it will make sense of what I did and did not feel _From the Foreword Most of us learn of Auschwitz and the Holocaust through the writings of Anne Frank and Elie Wiesel Remarkable as their stories are they leave many voices of Auschwitz unheard Mary Lagerwey seeks to complicate our memory of Auschwitz by reading less canonical survivors Jean Amery Charlotte Delbo Fania Fenelon Szymon Laks Primo Levi and Sara Nomberg Przytyk She reads for how gender social class and ethnicity color their tellings She asks whether we can_ whether we should_ make sense of Auschwitz And throughout Lagerwey reveals her own role in her research tells of her own fears and anxieties presenting what she a non Jew born after the fall of Nazism can only know second hand For any student of the Holocaust for anyone trying to make sense of the final solution Reading Auschwitz represents a powerful struggle with what it means to read and tell stories after Auschwitz

Williams,2009-03-26 In the late 1980s Holocaust literature emerged as a provocative but poorly defined scholarly field The essays in this volume reflect the increasingly international and pluridisciplinary nature of this scholarship and the widening of the definition of Holocaust literature to include comic books fiction film and poetry as well as the more traditional diaries memoirs and journals Ten contributors from four countries engage issues of authenticity evangelicalism morality representation personal experience and wish fulfillment in Holocaust literature which have been the subject of controversies in the US Europe and the Middle East Of interest to students and instructors of antisemitism national and comparative literatures theater film history literary criticism religion and Holocaust studies this book also contains an extensive bibliography with references in over twenty languages which seeks to inspire further research in an international context After Daybreak Ben Shephard,2007-12-18 I find it hard even now to get into focus all these horrors my mind is really quite incapable of taking in everything I saw because it was all so completely foreign to everything I had previously believed or thought possible British Major Ben Barnett's words echoed the sentiments shared by medical students Allied soldiers members of the clergy ambulance drivers and relief workers who found themselves utterly unprepared to comprehend much less tend to the indescribable trauma of those who survived at the Bergen Belsen concentration camp The liberation of Bergen Belsen by the British in April 1945 was a defining point in history the moment the world finally became inescapably aware of the Holocaust But what happened after Belsen was liberated is still a matter of dispute Was it an epic of medical heroism or the culmination of thirteen years of indifference to the fate of Europe s Jews This startling investigation by acclaimed documentary filmmaker and historian Ben Shephard draws on an extraordinary range of materials contemporary diaries military documents and survivors testimonies to reconstruct six weeks at Belsen beginning on April 15 1945 and reveals what actually caused the post liberation deaths of nearly 14 000 concentration camp inmates who might otherwise have lived Why did it take almost two weeks to organize a proper medical response Why were the medical teams sent to Belsen so poorly equipped Why when specialists did arrive did they get so much of the medicine plain wrong For the first time Shephard explores the humanitarian and medical issues surrounding the liberation of the camp and provides a detailed illuminating account that is far more complex than had been previously revealed This gripping book confronts the terrifying aftermath of war with questions that still haunt us today Final Solution David Cesarani,2016-11-08 This groundbreaking history of the Holocaust presents a brilliant synthesis and interpretation of the greatest crime of the modern era harrowing and extraordinary The Times UK David Cesarani s Final Solution is a magisterial work of history that chronicles the fate of Europe s Jews during and directly after World War II Based on decades of scholarship documentation newly available from the opening of Soviet archives declassification of Western intelligence service records as well as diaries and reports written in the camps Cesarani provides a sweeping reappraisal that challenges accepted explanations for the anti Jewish politics of Nazi Germany and the inevitability of the final solution The persecution of the Jews as Cesarani demonstrates was not always the Nazis central preoccupation nor was it inevitable Instead it unfolded erratically in German occupied countries often due to local initiatives Military failures created a crisis of resources that led to the starvation of the ghettos and intensified anti Jewish measures Cesarani also disputes the iconic role of railways and deportation trains and exposes the extent of sexual violence and abuse of Jewish women In bracingly vivid prose Final Solution captures the experience of a heroic people caught in the hell that was Hitler s Germany The Holocaust John Cochrane, Frank McDonough,2008-10-28 The Holocaust is a subject of enormous historical importance The murder of approximately 6 million Jews stands apart as a perhaps the most horrendous episode in world history In this fresh introduction McDonough examines the racial war within a war outlining controversies and examining how it has been popularised and institutionalised

Slave Labor in Nazi Concentration Camps Marc Buggeln, 2014 Slave Labor in Nazi Concentration Camps examines the slave labor carried out by concentration camp prisoners from 1942 and the effect this had on the German wartime economy This work goes far beyond the sociohistorical reconstructions that dominate Holocaust studies it combines cultural history with structural history drawing relationships between social structures and individual actions It also considers the statements of both perpetrators and victims and takes the biographical approach as the only possible way to confront the destruction of the individual in the camps after the fact The first chapter presents a comparative analysis of slave labor across the different concentration camps including Auschwitz Buchenwald and Dachau The subsequent chapters analyse the similarities and differences between various subcamps where prisoners were utilised for the wartime economy based on the example of the 86 subcamps of Neuengamme concentration camp which were scattered across northern Germany The most significant difference between conditions at the various subcamps was that in some hardly any prisoners died while in others almost half of them did This work carries out a systematic comparison of the subcamp system a kind of study which does not exist for any other camp system This is of great significance because by the end of the war most concentration camps had placed over 80 percent of their prisoners in subcamps This work therefore offers a comparative framework that is highly useful for further examinations of National Socialist concentration camps and may also be of benefit to comparative studies of other camp systems such as Stalin's gulags

Wounds of History Jill Salberg, Sue Grand, 2016-12-08 Wounds of History takes a new view in psychoanalysis using a trans generational and social political cultural model looking at trauma and its transmission The view is radical in looking beyond maternal dyads and Oedipal triangles and in its portrayal of a multi generational world that is no longer hierarchical This look allows for greater clinical creativity for conceptualizing and treating human suffering situating healing in expanding circles of witnessing The contributors to this volume look at inherited personal trauma involving legacies of war genocide slavery political persecution forced migration unwelcomed immigration and the way attachment and connection is disrupted traumatized and ultimately longing for repair and reconnection The book addresses several themes such as the ethical social turn in psychoanalysis the repetition of resilience and wounds and the repair of these wounds the complexity of attachment in the aftermath of trauma and the move towards social justice In their contributions the authors remain close to the human stories Wounds of History will be of interest to psychoanalysts
