Use this template to plan, removing the notes in parentheses and this box. Give this form to your cooperating teacher for review and a signature before you teach your lesson.

Goal(s):

L.5.1 Conventions of Standard English.

when writing or speaking

1. Demonstrate command of the conventions of standard English grammar and usage

Pre-planning

The students have just looked at complex sentences and how they are different from compound sentences. The students are ready to look at sentence fragments and run-on sentences.

Objective(s) & Academic language focus

Students will identify sentences, fragments, run-ons and comma splices.

Students will correct run-on sentences.

Students will add a subject or a predicate to each fragment and rewrite them as a complete sentence.

Assessment:

Informal: I will call on students to answer my questions for part A in the worksheet. Then students will work on part B in their partners. The students will share their new sentences with the class and the students will give me a thumbs up if they agree and a thumbs down if they disagree. Also students will correct sentence fragments to create their own complete sentences. Students will also complete an exit slip.

Formal: Students will be assessment next week on. They will be assessed with a paper and pencil test.

Materials Needed:

Worksheet, exit slip, life's work

Procedures:

(Include time allotments)

• Introduction (5min): I will put a fragment up on the board and ask the students if it is a complete sentence. We will talk about why it is not a complete sentence and I will tell them that when they have a sentence like this it is called a fragment. Then I will show them the song on sentence fragments called No Fragments! Subject and Predicate Songs. After the song I will tell them that we are going to be working on fragments, run-ons and comma splices and how to fix them.

• Steps for instruction:

Demonstration (10min.): I will have examples of a fragment, run-on sentence, and a comma splice on the
