body     Blaming the Poor Susan D. Greenbaum, 2015-07-01 In 1965 the late Senator Daniel Patrick Moynihan then a high ranking official in the Department of Labor sparked a firestorm when he released his report The Negro Family which came to be regarded by both supporters and detractors as an indictment of African American culture Blaming the Poor examines the regrettably durable impact of the Moynihan Report for race relations and social policy in America challenging the humiliating image the report cast on poor black families and its misleading explanation of the causes of poverty A leading authority on poverty and racism in the United States Susan D Greenbaum dismantles Moynihan s main thesis that the so called matriarchal structure of the African American family feminized black men making them inadequate workers and absent fathers and resulting in what he called a tangle of pathology that led to a host of ills from teen pregnancy to adult crime Drawing on extensive scholarship Greenbaum highlights the flaws in Moynihan s analysis She reveals how his questionable ideas have been used to redirect blame for substandard schools low wages and the scarcity of jobs away from the societal forces that cause these problems while simultaneously reinforcing stereotypes about African Americans Greenbaum also critiques current policy issues that are directly affected by the tangle of pathology mindset the demonization and destruction of public housing the criminalization of black youth and the continued humiliation of the poor by entrepreneurs who become rich consulting to teachers non profits and social service personnel A half century later Moynihan s thesis remains for many a convenient justification for punitive measures and stingy indifference to the poor Blaming the Poor debunks this infamous thesis proposing instead more productive and humane policies to address the enormous problems facing us today

Dismantling Contemporary Deficit Thinking Richard R. Valencia, 2010-09-13 Deficit thinking is a pseudoscience founded on racial and class bias It blames the victim for school failure instead of examining how schools are structured to prevent poor students and students of color from learning Dismantling Contemporary Deficit Thinking provides comprehensive critiques and anti deficit thinking alternatives to this oppressive theory by framing the linkages between prevailing theoretical perspectives and contemporary practices within the complex historical development of deficit thinking Dismantling Contemporary Deficit Thinking examines the ongoing social construction of deficit thinking in three aspects of current discourse the genetic pathology model the culture of poverty model and the at risk model in which poor students students of color and their families are pathologized and marginalized Richard R Valencia challenges these three contemporary components of the deficit thinking theory by providing incisive critiques and discussing competing explanations for the pervasive school failure of many students in the nation s public schools Valencia also discusses a number of proactive anti deficit thinking suggestions from the fields of teacher education educational leadership and educational ethnography that are intended to provide a more equitable and democratic schooling for all students     Motivating Defiant and Disruptive Students to Learn Rich Korb, 2012-01-17 How to stay calm cool and in control of your classroom Today s teachers face more challenges than ever before in managing student behavior in the classroom New teachers often find racialized reality in U S K 12 public education the relentless achievement gap between low socioeconomic students of color and their economically advantaged White counterparts Award winning author and scholar Richard Valencia provides an authoritative and systemic treatment of the achievement gap focusing on Black and Latino Latina students He examines the societal and educational factors that help to create and maintain the achievement gap by drawing from critical race theory an asset based perspective and a systemic inequality approach By showing how racialized opportunity structures in society and schools ultimately result in racialized patterns of academic achievement in schools Valencia shows how the various indicators of the achievement gap are actually symptoms of the societal and school quality gaps Following each of these concerns Valencia provides a number of reform suggestions that can lead to systemic transformations of K 12 education Students of Color and the Achievement Gap makes a persuasive and well documented case that school success for students of color and the empowerment of their parents can only be fully understood and realized when contextualized within broader political economic and cultural frameworks School Improvement for All Sharon V, Kramer, Sarah Schuhl, 2017-06-16

America Andrew P. Jackson, Julius Jefferson Jr., Akilah S. Nosakhare, 2012-04-12 This collection of poignant essays covers a multiplicity of concerns for the 21st century Black librarian and embodies compassion and respect for the provision of information an act that defines librarianship The essays written by Black librarians in public academic state Poor Technology Levi Checketts, 2024-01-23 In recent years artificial intelligence AI has moved in popular discourse from the purview of science fiction imaginings to the key financial sector of the twenty first century As world powers trillion dollar companies and public intellectuals emphasize the importance of AI the general concerns people raise relate to economic movement control bias and safety This book adds a further concern namely the way our approach to AI reinforces assumptions about dignity and personhood tied to the sort of thinking that is characteristic of bourgeois capitalists The experience of poverty reveals that people who are poor do not think the same way as the upper classes their experience of the world must be understood through the reality of survival within resource scarce settings and the attendant domination and discrimination that come with being poor These experiences do not fit well with the ideal choice selection model that underlies AI modeling and numerous failures of AI to help the poor demonstrate that those who benefit primarily from AI are those who already live well As a result the fervor surrounding AI often serves to dehumanize the poor by eliminating employment opportunities automating social work reinforcing biases and prioritizing profit over stability Worst of all however AI functions to satisfy a psychological need for us to have others against whom we can distinguish ourselves without having to feel guilty about the reality of the struggle of the poor Taking seriously the theological perspective of the preferential option for the poor this work contends that to avoid relegating poor people to nonhuman status we must be willing to put aside the fantasy that AI is intelligent and focus rather on the all too human embodied reality of the poor

Intersectionality in Health Education Cara D. Grant, Troy E. Boddy, 2024-01-16 The concept of intersectionality considers the interconnected nature or overlap of multiple categorizations such as race gender sexual orientation religion socioeconomic class and physical ability For Black students already experiencing inequalities being Black and female queer or another marginalized identity can lead to encounters that further devalue their identities or leave them feeling unseen Intersectionality in Health Education seeks to prompt meaningful reflection on the current status of health education and to ultimately result in more equitable practices for all students It will help health educators identify their implicit biases examine how intersectionality is affecting Black students and build classrooms where all students are seen and valued Through a collection of 10 case studies Intersectionality in Health Education offers insights into the issues that students who identify as Black and commonly face The text geared to health education teacher education HETE students as well as in service teachers does the following

- Illuminates culturally aware teaching strategies that affirm the worth of Black and students
- Amplifies crucial issues that negatively affect students with intersectional identities
- Addresses intentional or unconscious biases that harm Black youths thus broadening the book's value beyond the sharing of teaching strategies

With a goal of generating a deeper understanding of how intersectionality creates complexities for Black students the case studies in the book expose the disparities racism and other issues affecting students well being self worth and positive experiences in the health classroom Each case includes discussion prompts that lead the way to effective strategies and immediate implementation opportunities Topics explored include the following

- Self awareness and social awareness in a predominantly white school environment
- Classroom climate and culturally responsive teaching
- The dilemma of Black health care access
- socioecological factors and social determinants of health
- Health education spaces created with Black and Brown girls in mind
- Perceptions identity and opportunities for

Black males Additionally the text provides tips and guidance for writing your own case study Through this experience you will gain the opportunity to look at a scenario with the goal of observing and analyzing behaviors reviewing theory and practices and analyzing problem solving and promoting discussion on a given topic Intersectionality in Health Education will help preservice and in service teachers adopt teaching practices that create a supportive empathetic and nurturing environment In doing so they can help validate Black and students self worth and swing the pendulum toward a more equitable experience in health education for all students Human Kinetics is proud to publish this book in association with SHAPE America the national organization that defines excellence for school based health and physical education professionals across the United States

Whitewashed Critical Perspectives Catherine Compton-Lilly, Tisha Lewis Ellison, Kristen Perry, Peter Smagorinsky, 2021-06-30 This volume examines revolutionary constructs in literacy education and demonstrates how they have been gentrified whitewashed and appropriated losing their revolutionary edge so as to become palatable for the mainstream Written by top scholars in literacy education chapters cover key concepts that were originally conceived as radical theories to upset the status quo including Third Space Funds of Knowledge Culturally Relevant Pedagogies and more Each chapter addresses how the core theory was culturally appropriated and de fanged to support rather than take down racial and societal hierarchies Critiquing the harmful impact of watering down these theories the contributors offer ways to restore the edge to these once groundbreaking ideas reject racist and assimilationist trends and support the original vision behind these liberatory theories In so doing this volume adopts a truly radical critical stance that is essential for researchers scholars and students in literacy education
